

He waltzed out of a Liberty street front door yesterday, followed by a washboard and two bars of Babbitt's soap; and as he straightened himself and walked firmly down the street, he remarked: "A man must draw the line somewhere or he can't be boss of the house; and I'll be hanged if I'll pump more than one barrel of water for to do a washing, and there ain't no woman can make me do it, unless she locks me in."—Rome Sentinel.

There was a New York lunatic in Philadelphia recently who wanted to "proclaim liberty throughout all the land," and he accordingly climbed up the lightning rod to the State House roof and rang the new bell for full five minutes. He was arrested, but a man with energy enough to climb a lightning rod on a hot day like Monday of last week should be left go.

Norwich Bulletin: The new belt for ladies is said to be made in clasps, four of which go around the waist. It will be difficult, however, to improve upon the old style of belt, which is made in the shape of a coat sleeve and has an arm inside of it. We have observed, however, that this kind usually requires more than four clasps.

Whitehall Times: We saw a mosquito work about ten minutes yesterday, trying to get his bill through the skin of a man who owes us two years' subscriptions. How we laughed at that demoralized little insect as, with a look of disgust, he folded up his little bill, placed it in his pocket, and went for another victim.

"Can you change this William for me?" said a young man who presented a $60 bill at the counter of the Gloucester National Bank, recently. "Yes," said the Cashier, "but why do you call it William?" "Oh, I'm not familiar enough with that kind of a thing to call it Bill," was the quick reply.

A prayer meeting was held in James Foster's cell, Warrenton, Missouri, on the night before he was hanged. "Are you ready to die?" asked a clergyman, at the conclusion of the exercises. "Guess I'll have to be ready in the morning, anyhow," he said, and winked at a bystander.

They were talking of a death, when one man asked: "What were his last words?" "He didn't say anything," was the reply. "That's just like him," said the first man, with an approving nod. "There was no gas about him. He was all business."

"You must cultivate decision of character, and learn to say 'No,'" said a father to his son. Soon afterward, when the father told the son to chop wood, the boy said "No" with an emphasis that showed a remembrance of the lesson.

The intelligent druggist in Cohoes, N. Y., having given a woman hellebore instead of rhubarb, from which she nearly died, she is now giving him the first syllable of the name of the poison in a suit for damages.

A citizen of Dakota took a Turkish bath in Omaha a few days ago, and died within an hour. The verdict of the jury was: "He hadn't ought to have got so much of the mud off of him at one time."

A loving British wife's postscript to a letter addressed to her husband in New York: "Dear William, I have perused the police reports and morgue returns every day, hoping to see your name."

An editor, quoting Dr. Hall's advice to "eat regularly, not over three times a day, and nothing between meals," adds, "Tramps will do well to cut this out and put it in their bank-books."

A blighted being, whose nose should serve as a beacon of warning to the youth of our land, says the ladies' dresses this year are laboring under a violent attack of delirium trimmings.

A sensible writer advises those who would enjoy good eating to keep good-natured, for, says he, "an angry man cannot tell whether he is eating boiled cabbage or stewed umbrellas."

A Camden man logged a butcher-knife around for two hours, offering to kill any one who said he wasn't Moses, of Biblical fame. Every one said he looked just like Moses.

There is something wonderfully grand and impressive about the roar of thunder, until you discover it has sored the last half-pint of milk in the house.

Boarder—"Has the red-haired girl gone away?" Landlady: "Yes, sir." Boarder: "I thought so. I found a black hair in the butter to-day."

A New York man has christened his daughter Glycerine. He says it will be easy to prefix Nitro, if her temper resembles her mother's.

The individual who called tight boots comfortable defended his position by saying they made a man forget all his other miseries.

"Did any of you ever see an elephant's skin?" inquired a teacher of an infant class. "Yes, sir." "Where?" "On an elephant."

It was a little boy in New Jersey who said: "Yes, soda water's good; it's like your foot's asleep."

Our Piano is unsurpassed by any in the market for its rich and powerful tones, and its adaptation to the human voice in sympathetic, mellow and singing qualities. It speaks for itself.

We are willing to place it beside any other make of Piano on its merits, either in beauty of case, or excellence of tone, and "at half the money" of equally good instruments.

All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and surface gently undulating, intersected with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface, after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of indurated calcareous marl, showing many distinct forms of ancient shells, of the tertiary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the farmer desires to cultivate.

APPLETON'S
AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.
NEW REVISED EDITION.
ENTIRELY REWRITTEN BY THE ABLEST WRITERS ON EVERY SUBJECT.
Printed from New Type, and Illustrated with several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was completed in 1863, since which time, the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled

THE AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.
Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the conveniences and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced. Large accessions to our

GEOGRAPHICAL KNOWLEDGE
Have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.
The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in

PERMANENT AND AUTHENTIC HISTORY.
In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of

POLITICAL AND HISTORICAL EVENTS.
The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.
None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been

PRINTED ON NEW TYPE,
Forming in fact a new Cyclopaedia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS
which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their

ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE.
The cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopaedia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be complete in Sixteen Large Octavo Volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.
