The New York the first report aforesaid, as having been receipted for by the said Tilden, 'on account of professional services.' ' The New York Staats Zoitung, which bas supported Mr. Tilden, is very anxrious over the above conflicting affidawite. It says "if he cannot give a satisfactory explanation he is not a fit man for the Presidency." One or two Democratic papers declare it is a private matter, and is nobody's busimess. It is not a private matter, as it involves two public crimes-perjury and swindling the Government. The New York Times, which brought out the charges, affirms its ability to prove that the two affidavits were actually made. Hence this case must be met, and cannot be sneered down as a campaiga lie. Mr. Tilden must answer. -----

-Oil reached $4 on Saturday last, and yesterday's Derrick has the following in regard to that and the two preceding week days :

Last Friday morning the market opened at $2.90. Since that time, in only three days, there has been an advance of $1.121, something that never occurred before in the history of the oil trade. Some of the better posted speculators have been contemplating which, it is hoped, may largely ina marked advance, -few of them, however, if any, so great an appreciationand in consequence were carrying quite large quantities at the commoncement of it. Many of them have made handsome fortunes. We are quite reliably informed that one of the speculatora' here is about $75,000 ahead, and zeveral others nearly or quite as much. Many of them count their profits realized on Friday, Saturday and to day's work by tens of thou-sands, and few of them by anything less than thousands. Large numbers of outsiders who rarely, if ever, have anything to do with the market have been induced to "take a chance" and have realized good profits. Young men with limited capital and board bills to pay have purchased calls at prices they little expected the market would reach, and have realized profits other officials on their annual leave. ranging from fifty to a thousand dollars. Washington has been captured by an army of Centennial excursionists, chiefly from the West, but with a good sprinkling from the East and South. They are increasing each day, and bid fair to crowd the Exposition E. & H. T. ANTHONY & CO., for the remaining months of its existence. New attractions in the way of cattle shows, regattas and other interesting features have been devised, crease the attendence. Washington presents many points of interest to these visitors and they make an industrious use of all their special senses, and tax their powers of locomotion to their utmost, that no locality may be neglected and that they may resume their meanderings with an exhaustive knowledge of the National Capital, as one of the accomplishments acquired Micro-Scientific Lantern, by their Centennial journey.
