

It is now affirmed that the object of the Democracy in keeping the Colorado member from taking his seat, in addition to that of objecting to the counting of the electoral vote of Colorado is to prevent his sharing in the organization of the next House. It is possible that the next House may be Republican by one or two majority, and the Democracy are forecasting that event, and preparing against it. This simply illustrates the desperation of that department of the Government.

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 16, '76 Mr. Edmund's speech is conceded to have been a very able presentation of his views, but the very decisive majority against his proposed amendment conclusively proved that his method of settling the matter of the disputed Presidency, does not generally commend itself to his Senatorial associates; and public sentiment, as reflected by visitors here, would appear equally averse to the plan advocated by the Vermont Senator. The two points most persistently urged against it, and which were so forcibly stated by Mr. Morton, were the retention of the electoral college feature of our present method, and the danger of prostituting the judicial branch of the Government to partisan ends.

The unexpected support from the Democratic side of the Senate accorded to President Ferry's ruling against the existence of the twenty-second joint rule, is troubling the Democrats of the lower House not a little. Under the lead of Mr. Randall, they had determined to make the fight for its recognition a last ditch contest for what now looks like the "lost cause." The vote in the Senate revealed only four Senators,—Maxey, Morrison, Withers and Whyte, and neither of them regarded as very effective champions—willing to commit themselves to the advocacy of this very forlorn hope. Democratic Senators have thus far proved rather unreliable in their support of their political friends in the House. Their refusal to contest the admission of the Colorado Senators was a cause of serious offense, while the unscrupulous reformers of the House refused to admit Representative Belford from that State, and have kept him waiting up to date for his seat to which he is as clearly entitled as Mr. Randall is to his. Then their defense of the eccentric whims and methods of the "bull-dozer" in Louisiana where the whole "reform" programme was sought to be carried through by murdering or frightening from the polls all its opponents, seemed very much like the apologetic words of men convinced that they were arguing from wrong premises. But what the Senate lacks in zeal in Mr. Tilden's behalf is fully atoned for in the House, when the most partizan measures are endorsed without a word of protest among his followers.

The passage of the silver bill has, it is said, made Judge Kelley supremely happy. It provides for the coinage of half-dollar dollars, makes them a legal tender and receivable for all debts not especially agreed to be paid in gold. What its fate may be at the hands of the Senate no one seems justified to predict. The annual pension bill which passed the House last week, has not yet been considered by the Senate committee; but it is understood that it will go through substantially as it came from the House. It is the desire of many members of Congress to take a generous holiday recess; and no doubt many of them need it, for after their debilitating summer's session, they immediately entered upon active campaign work which was only fairly ended when they returned here where their duties have been exceptionally arduous.

Public interest has followed the vainglorious House and Senate Committees in their mission Southward. It is asserted from many sources that the Democrats have found South Carolina and Florida very unfruitful fields of labor, and that their efforts will be chiefly confined to suppressing the actual facts relative to the conduct of the Democratic campaign in those two States.

The Republicans have and do challenge the closest scrutiny, confident that it would vindicate them and their cause in the estimation of every intelligent man who regards the rights of manhood as superior to the claims of party. The rudeness and brow beating propensities of some of the committee sent to New Orleans, does not appear to intimidate men who have been subjected to that of bullying, often while looking straight down a pistol barrel with means would prove more effective. One point in Wade Hampton's speech, after going through the form of inauguration, is so notoriously false that the fine effect hoped from it in misleading the North, is defeated. He solemnly announced to the assembled rifle clubs that the United States army had been brought into the State and used in aid of a political party. Now the Democratic party has been repeatedly challenged by the President and by Republicans in Congress and elsewhere, to show in one instance where the presence of troops has operated to deter a single legal voter from freely expressing his preference at the ballot box. Years have been accorded them in which to make good this state charge, mouthed by Wade Hampton yesterday, and they have so signally failed that it has come to be regarded as a most stupid perversion of facts which any man of average regard for truth ought to feel ashamed to reiterate. What can be thought of his sincerity when his utterances relative to the acceptance by the Democrats of his State of all the Constitutional amendments, when it is remembered that the brutal Butler, now under indictment for murder, was the favorite of all the candidates for United States Senator, voted for by the members of the Wallace Legislature, simply because of his (Butler's) leading share in the infamy enacted at Hamburg on the fourth day of last July? Contrast his utterance concerning the ballot box, "that great court of final resort," with the scores of political murders officially proved against his party friends during the past five years in that State, to prevent the ghastly victims availing themselves of "that great court of final resort" for the redress of their wrongs.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

of their own homes. There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

The search after knowledge, instituted by the House of Congress, has been amply rewarded. They wished to know just what all the ten soldiers that were stationed at Petersburg, Virginia, were sent there for? It turns out that the President did not order them at all,—he being absent when the application came, and it was sent through the customary routine channel. Gen. Sherman really ordered the troops there, although the President does not hesitate to assume the entire responsibility. He offers evidence of the "bull-dozing" operations of the Democrats, which led to the stationing of troops at that point, and then significantly informs the House that the result is a fair election. No Democrats were prevented from voting, although the result may not have been what it otherwise would. So the light dawned at the right time on the Democratic mind.—Gazette.

Trial List, December Term, 1876.

Table listing court cases for December Term, 1876, including names of parties and dates.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest, exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," Etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and other features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-long picture of the great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a through acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude of their own homes. There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

The search after knowledge, instituted by the House of Congress, has been amply rewarded. They wished to know just what all the ten soldiers that were stationed at Petersburg, Virginia, were sent there for? It turns out that the President did not order them at all,—he being absent when the application came, and it was sent through the customary routine channel. Gen. Sherman really ordered the troops there, although the President does not hesitate to assume the entire responsibility. He offers evidence of the "bull-dozing" operations of the Democrats, which led to the stationing of troops at that point, and then significantly informs the House that the result is a fair election. No Democrats were prevented from voting, although the result may not have been what it otherwise would. So the light dawned at the right time on the Democratic mind.—Gazette.

Trial List, December Term, 1876.

Table listing court cases for December Term, 1876, including names of parties and dates.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest, exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," Etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and other features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-long picture of the great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a through acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude of their own homes. There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

The search after knowledge, instituted by the House of Congress, has been amply rewarded. They wished to know just what all the ten soldiers that were stationed at Petersburg, Virginia, were sent there for? It turns out that the President did not order them at all,—he being absent when the application came, and it was sent through the customary routine channel. Gen. Sherman really ordered the troops there, although the President does not hesitate to assume the entire responsibility. He offers evidence of the "bull-dozing" operations of the Democrats, which led to the stationing of troops at that point, and then significantly informs the House that the result is a fair election. No Democrats were prevented from voting, although the result may not have been what it otherwise would. So the light dawned at the right time on the Democratic mind.—Gazette.

Trial List, December Term, 1876.

Table listing court cases for December Term, 1876, including names of parties and dates.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest, exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," Etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and other features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-long picture of the great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a through acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude of their own homes. There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

The search after knowledge, instituted by the House of Congress, has been amply rewarded. They wished to know just what all the ten soldiers that were stationed at Petersburg, Virginia, were sent there for? It turns out that the President did not order them at all,—he being absent when the application came, and it was sent through the customary routine channel. Gen. Sherman really ordered the troops there, although the President does not hesitate to assume the entire responsibility. He offers evidence of the "bull-dozing" operations of the Democrats, which led to the stationing of troops at that point, and then significantly informs the House that the result is a fair election. No Democrats were prevented from voting, although the result may not have been what it otherwise would. So the light dawned at the right time on the Democratic mind.—Gazette.

Trial List, December Term, 1876.

Table listing court cases for December Term, 1876, including names of parties and dates.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest, exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," Etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and other features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-long picture of the great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a through acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude of their own homes. There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

The search after knowledge, instituted by the House of Congress, has been amply rewarded. They wished to know just what all the ten soldiers that were stationed at Petersburg, Virginia, were sent there for? It turns out that the President did not order them at all,—he being absent when the application came, and it was sent through the customary routine channel. Gen. Sherman really ordered the troops there, although the President does not hesitate to assume the entire responsibility. He offers evidence of the "bull-dozing" operations of the Democrats, which led to the stationing of troops at that point, and then significantly informs the House that the result is a fair election. No Democrats were prevented from voting, although the result may not have been what it otherwise would. So the light dawned at the right time on the Democratic mind.—Gazette.

Trial List, December Term, 1876.

Table listing court cases for December Term, 1876, including names of parties and dates.

It is by every one admitted that the Democrats in the Senate were yesterday driven into a good many damaging admissions as to frauds and intimidation in the South which they charged to Kellogg's inefficiency.

A GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest, exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," Etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and other features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-long picture of the great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a through acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.

THIS PAPER IS ON FILE WITH THE CLERK OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

J. & P. COATS

have been awarded a Medal and Diploma at the Centennial Exposition and commended by the Judges for

"SUPERIOR STRENGTH"

—AND—

EXCELLENT QUALITY

—OF—

"SPOOL COTTON."

A. T. GOSBORN, Director-General. J. R. HAWLEY, Pres. ALEX. H. BOTTLEB, Secretary pro tem.

25 Extra Fine mixed cards, with name, 10 cents, post paid. L. Jones & Co., Nassau, N. Y. 34 4

$55-$77 a week to Agents. Samsell & Co., 115 N. York St., Augusta, Me. 31-41

$1362 50 PROFITS FROM $106 25 INVESTMENTS OF $21 25

Stock Privileges

is a sure road to rapid fortune. Send for new "System of Assured Profits," free with full information concerning the Stock Market. T. POTTER, WRIGHT & CO., Gold and Stock Brokers, 35 Wall Street, New York. 34 4

The Little Rock and Fort Smith RAILWAY FOR SALE

Farming Lands, Grazing Lands, Fruit Vine Lands, Coal Lands, Wood Lands, some Prairie Lands, Bottom Lands, and Uplands, on terms to suit the purchaser. Six per cent. interest on deferred payments. Ten per cent. discount for cash. For full particulars, maps and pamphlets, apply to W. D. SLACK, Land Commissioner, Little Rock, Arkansas. 34 4

THE LARGEST FURNITURE ESTABLISHMENT IN THE OIL REGIONS!

MILES SMITH,

CABINET AND UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE!

FRANKLIN, PENN'A. Consisting of Parlor, Office and Common Furniture, Mattresses, Pillows, Window Shades, Fixtures, Looking Glasses, &c. Also, agent for Venango county for the Celebrated Manhattan Spring Bed and Combination Mattresses, manufactured and for sale at my Furniture Warerooms, 18th street, near Liberty. Call and see sample Bed. 9 ly

GEO. A. PRINCE & CO. ORGANS & MELODEONS.

The Oldest, Largest, and Most Perfect Manufactory in the United States, nearly

56,000

Now in use.

No other Musical Instrument ever obtained the same popularity.

Send for Price Lists. Address BUFFALO, N. Y.

The fact of ours being the oldest and largest manufactory in the United States, with nearly 56,000 instruments now in use, is a sufficient guarantee of our responsibility and the merits of our instruments.

GEO. A. PRINCE & CO. 6-6m

ADVERTISING

In Religious and Agricultural weeklies half-price. Send for catalogue on the List Plan. For information, address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 41 Park Row, N. Y. 22 4

ADVERTISERS send 25 cents to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, N. Y., for their Eighty-page Pamphlet, showing cost of advertising. 13 41

CENTENNIAL REDUCTION IN ADVERTISING!

Three thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars worth of newspaper advertising, at publishers' schedule rates given for $700, and a three months' note acceptable in payment from advertisers of responsibility. A printed list, giving Name, Character, Actual Daily and Weekly Circulation and Schedule Rates of advertising, sent free to any address. Apply to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., Newspaper Advertising Agents, 41 Park Row, N. Y.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

THERE will be exposed to public sale, on the premises, in Green Township, Forest County, Pennsylvania, on TUESDAY, DECEMBER 12th, 1876, at 1 o'clock, P. M., the undivided one-fourth part of all that certain piece of land situate in the Township of Green and County of Forest aforesaid, part of tract No. 5180, bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at a post on line dividing tract No. 5190 from No. 5189, and at the distance of 108 perches from the northwest corner of this and said latter tract, and extending thence south 43 degrees east 160 perches to a post, thence south 43 degrees west 106 perches to a post, thence north 43 degrees west 100 perches to a post on the dividing line first mentioned, thence along said dividing line north 43 degrees east 106 perches to the place of beginning. Containing one hundred acres and allowances, more or less.

Terms of Sale—Cash. DALLAS SAUNDERS, Administrator of bonis non. J. B. AGNEW & W. E. LATHY, Attys. Tionesta, Pa. Nov. 13, 1876.

Allegheny Valley Rail Road.

Pittsburgh, Titusville & Buffalo Railway, and Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh Railroad.

ON AND AFTER Sunday, Dec. 3, 1876, trains will run as follows:

Table with columns for Stations, Northward, and Southward, listing times for Pittsburgh, W. Pen June, Kittanning, R. Bk June, Parker, Eminton, Scrubgrass, Franklin, Oil City, etc.

Trains run by Philadelphia Time. DAVID McCARGO, Gen'l Supt. J. MORTON HALL, Gen'l Passenger & Ticket Agent.

GOOD FORTUNE.

Waits on all who purchase tickets in the Grand Extra Drawing, Monday, December 4, 1876.

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY CO.

This Institution was regularly incorporated by the Legislature of the State for Educational purposes in 1868, with a capital of $1,000,000, to which it has added a reserve fund of $500,000. Its Grand Single Number Drawings will take place monthly. The season of 1876 closes with the following scheme:

Capital Prize, $50,000. Only 20,000 at $20 each. Fractions in proportion.

LIST OF PRIZES.

Table listing prizes: 1 Capital Prize $50,000, 1 Capital Prize 20,000, 1 Capital Prize 10,000, 10 Prizes at $1,000, 25 Prizes at $500, 100 Prizes at $200, 200 Prizes at $100, 500 Prizes at $50, 2000 Prizes at $20.

APPROXIMATION PRIZES.

Table listing approximation prizes: 9 Approximation Prizes of $300, 2,700; 9 Approximation Prizes of $200, 1,800; 9 Approximation Prizes of $100, 900.

2865 Prizes, amounting to $288,900 Write for Circular or send orders to WILLIAMSON & CO., 317 Broadway, N. Y., CHAS. T. HOWARD, New Orleans, La.

The First Regular Quarterly Dollar Drawing will take place on January 2, 1877. Tickets $1 each. Capital Prize $1,500,000. 32 41

NEW Furniture Rooms!

The undersigned begs leave to inform the citizens of Tionesta, and the public in general, that he has opened a FIRST CLASS FURNITURE STORE, in his new building at the junction of Elm St. and the Dutch Hill road, where he keeps on hand a large assortment of

FURNITURE,

Consisting in part of Walnut Parlor Sets, Chamber Sets, Cane Seat Chairs, Wood Seat Chairs, Rocking Chairs, Dining Tables, Extension Tables, Marble Top Tables, Kitchen Furniture, Bureaus, Bedsteads, Washstands, Lounges, Mattresses, Cupboards, Book Cases, Fancy Brackets, Looking Glasses, and Picture Frames, and

PICTURES FRAMED.

SASH & DOORS

always on hand. His rooms being large, and well situated, he is prepared to offer superior inducements to purchasers.

Call and examine his stock and prices, and be convinced.

UNDERTAKING.

A full assortment of Coffins and Caskets constantly in store. A. H. PARTRIDGE. 23 ly

$ 45 PER TERM, 137 PER YEAR, Pays ALL EXPENSES AT CHAMBERLAIN INSTITUTE, RANDOLPH, N. Y.

School established 1850. Property $163,000. Endowment $40,000. Our youth (both sexes) shall have the benefit of it. Winkler opens Dec. 5. Send for catalogue free to Rev. J. T. EDWARDS, D. D., Princeton. 72 41

Estate Notice.

Estate of Mary Dale deceased, late of Tionesta Township, Forest county. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having legal claims against the same will present them, without delay, in proper order for settlement to NANCY DAWSON, Administratrix, or MILES W. TATE, Atty., June 29, 1876 - 12 6 Tionesta, Pa.

SOLID WEALTH!

$200,000 IN GIFTS! Grandest Scheme ever Presented to the Public!

A FORTUNE FOR ONLY $12.

The Kentucky Cash Distribution Company, authorized by a special act of the Kentucky Legislature, for the benefit of the Public School of Frankfort, will have the first of their series of Grand Drawings at Major Hall, in the City of Frankfort, Ky., on THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1876, on which occasion they will distribute to the ticket-holders the immense sum of $600,000.

Thos. P. Porter, Ex-Governor Ky., Gen'l Manager. POSITELY NO POSTPONEMENT! as we will have a series of Grand Drawings and can not establish the precedent of postponing.

LIST OF GIFTS: One grand cash gift $100,000, One grand cash gift 50,000, One grand cash gift 25,000, One grand cash gift 20,000, One grand cash gift 10,000, One grand cash gift 5,000, 50 Cash gifts of $1,000 each, 100 Cash gifts of 500 each, 500 Cash gifts of 100 each, 1000 Cash gifts of 50 each, 2000 Cash gifts of 25 each, 6000 Cash gifts of 10 each, 10,000 Cash gifts of 5 each.

Total, 11,156 gifts, all cash..... 600,000

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole tickets, $12. Half, $6; Quarters, $3; 9 tickets, $100; 27 tickets, $300; 81 tickets, $900; 243 tickets, $2,700; 729 tickets, $8,100; 2,187 tickets, $24,300; 6,561 tickets, $72,600.

Hon. E. H. Taylor, Mayor of Frankfort, the entire board of City Councilmen, Hon. Alvin Duval, late Chief Justice of Kentucky, and other distinguished citizens, together with such interested persons as the ticket holders present may designate will superintend the drawing.