

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 27, '77.

A few days since a gentleman who is an applicant for a foreign appointment, made a social call on President Hayes, and, in the course of conversation, alluded to the threats of Blaine, Ben Wade and other extreme Republicans to antagonize the Southern policy. The President said he saw no reason for uneasiness on that score, and that he did not see how these gentlemen were going to give practical force and effect to their opposition. They could not do it by thwarting any personal plans or prospects of his own, because he had none for them to thwart, and they could not do it by defeating his nominations in the Senate, because he never would send any name to the Senate in whose confirmation he had any interest beyond that inspired by his general views as to the good of the public service. He did not see that they could do anything beyond denouncing his policy in speeches. Even if they could find a majority in the Senate opposed to his Southern policy, they could not undo what had been done. They could not restore the troops to the State Houses nor could they rehabilitate the governments which vanished as soon as Federal troops were withdrawn from their support. To a suggestion that the opposition might take hope by the seating of Kellogg as Senator from Louisiana, the President's reply was that that would be the Senate's affair, and not his. The Senate was the judge of the qualification of its own members. He had done his whole duty in withdrawing Federal interference and so leaving the Government of the State to adjust itself according to the ruling sentiment of the people. Turning the conversation upon the foreign appointments, the President said that Mr. Everts was making up a budget of recommendations, which would be made the basis of all appointments and charges in the consular and diplomatic service. Without passing any personal opinion upon these, his sentiments, we give them as they came from the President himself, and as being his own exposition of his own policy.

The report is again current that certain Democratic leaders will endeavor to get a bill through Congress at its next session, similar to Mr. Field's quo warranto bill, making it mandatory on the Circuit and Supreme Courts to take jurisdiction in the matter of the President's title. If any attempt of this kind is made it can only result in failure. The Richmond (Va.) Dispatch speaks the general sentiment when it says that to raise the issue in question "would be to damage the Democratic party incalculably, because it would offend the peace-loving people of the whole country." The Presidency is fixed for four years. Let all mischief-makers take notice.

A friend of Hon. W. R. Morrison, of Illinois, who is in his confidence, says that his canvass for the Speakership is genuine, and that in no event will he give any of what strength he may be able to transfer, in case he visits himself, to Randall. The same friend says, indeed he will exert himself to beat Randall. Saylor, one of the candidates for the gavel, is at Lancaster, Ohio, setting up the pins with Tom Ewing. Cox is drumming up votes in the South. Randall is in this city, quite cheery and confident. Blackburn is at his home in Kentucky, but his candidacy is not over-serious.

It is among the rumors on the street that the President will appoint Governor Packard of Louisiana to be collector of the port of New Orleans.

MAXWELL.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, The Hon. L. D. Wetmore, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions in and for the county of Forest, has issued his process for holding a Court of Common Pleas Quarter Sessions, &c., at Tionesta, for the County of Forest, to commence on the third Monday of May next, being the 21st day of May 1877. Notice is therefore given to the Coroner, Justices of the Peace and Constables of said county, that they be then and there in their proper persons at ten o'clock, A. M., of said day, with their records, inquisitions examinations and other remembrances, to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done, and to those who are bound in recognizance to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Forest County, that they be then and there present to prosecute against them as shall be just. Given under my hand and seal A. D. 1877.

JACKSON'S BEST SWEET NAVY CHEWING TOBACCO!

We take pleasure in recommending this good to our friends as being the finest chewing tobacco on the market. For sale in all shapes by DILLWORTH BROS., Pittsburgh. Freight paid both ways if not entirely satisfactory.

FOUND. DURING our experience of the past six months in the GILBERT, FINE VISION, FLOUR & FIED Bushes in Tionesta, we have found the old maxim

"MONEY saved is money earned," a true one, and that we have saved the people of the borough and surrounding country a considerable amount.

Having had a long experience in the wholesale business, we have peculiar facilities for buying from first hands, which enables us to offer extra inducements to Cash Buyers, and having adopted the true system of doing business for CASH only, we can sell goods for a much less profit, in fact, competing with prices in any of the cities in the State.

In thanking the citizens for liberal patronage in the past, we announce our removal from the Fisher store, to the pleasant location known as the ACOMB BUILDING, (immediately south of the Company Store) where, in consideration of the continued depression in the times, have again lowered our prices, believing that goods should not be sold at war prices, where the opportunities to make money are so much less.

In future our store will be kept open until 9 P. M., for the mutual benefit of the general public and ourselves.

Red Hot! Spicy! Newsy! Oil City Daily Derrick, For 1877.

Better Than Ever! More and Fresher News, and More Reading Matter than any other Daily Paper in North-Western Pennsylvania!

The OIL CITY DAILY DERRICK will begin the new year with a larger circulation than ever attained by any daily newspaper in Pennsylvania outside of the large cities. It has gained this by giving all the freshest news, and sparing no expense in obtaining items. It has correspondents in every portion of the Oil Region, besides Washington and Harrisburg, who will send daily special reports of all important events. Its readers will be kept posted on all the political news of the day, as reported from an independent standpoint, while a large reporter force will keep them informed on local matters. It will also, as it does now, take the lead in discussing questions of importance to oilmen, and work faithfully for the interest of the Oil Region. It will maintain its position as authority in oil statistics, and its market quotations will always be found reliable.

If you want spicy reading, fresh news, information concerning the Oil Region, and a red-hot paper, subscribe for the OIL CITY DAILY DERRICK. Terms, $10 per year; six months $5; a month in advance. W. H. LONGWELL & CO., Publishers, Oil City, Pa.
