LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

and the second sec -Rev. W. O. Allen will preach in the M. E. Church pext Sunday, morning and evening. Services to commence promptly at 11 oclock A. M. and 7 P. M.

-On account of the absence of Rev. Elliot, prayer-meeting will be lield in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, instead of Wednesday evening, as heretofore.

-Wm. Richards has swung his house around on the new cellar and foundation, preparatory to making more improvements.

-Mr. J. T. Dale, of this place, has Sheriff-JUSTIS SHAWREY. Commissioners-ELI BERLIN, ISAAC LONG, JOHN RECK. County Superintendent-H. S. BROCK-D. W. Reck. He will be missed gone to Oil City, to take the situation among the young men here.

- Dr. Egbert, of Fryburg, occasionally puts in an appearance here. He looks well and hearty, and, we believe, Co. is securing a good practice out there, as he deserves to.

-Geo. Boyard's new granary, on the south side of his store presents a very respectable appearance, and makes things look business-like down in that end of town.

-We have had some cold rains within the past week, with a very little snow. All this betokens the near approach of winter, and happy is the man who has his coal bin full.

-The vendue of Col. Thomas' personal property went off smoothly, and we are informed that the goods brought fair prices. A late letter reported the Colonel's condition as more favorable than it was last week.

-We notice that repairs have been made on our sidewalks to an extent which now renders them comparatively safe for pedestrians. This is a good move, and we only need the new walk from Walnut St. to the bridge to make pretty good walking all over town.

-Rev. Elliot has been called away this week as a member of a committee appointed at last Presbytery, to investigate matters in a church in Mercer county. Some of the members have been kicking over the tracos. Mr. Elliot will be apt to straighten them all up.

but no particular harm was done that we know of. We found a bunch of shingles in our office hall-way, next

Forest County Oil News.

Forest county oil news still present a rather slim aspect. In fact, the price of oil just at present is not such as to stimulate searches after new territory. However, the low price of oil cannot, as yet, be blamed upon Forest County oil fields : whether it will, in the future have such an influence, developments alone will demonstrate.

The well on the Woods Heirs' tract is dry, we are sorry to state, but the Superintendent, Mr. Baldwin, who has just returned from New York, informs us that the show in said well was such that the representatives of the "Heirs" feel justified in putting down another well, which will be done as soon as the rig can be moved and preliminaries arranged. The new well is to be located 100 to 120 rods west of the Inst venture, and it is to be put down by the same contractors, McGee, King & all fully expected to awaken in the

The same parties have also taken the contract of putting down Mr. Cornwell's well on Dutch Hill, and Jonah. But judge of my surprise on will commence operations this weekprobably to morrow.

We saw Mr. Berry on the street yesterday, and he informed us that the Balltown well, upon which he is drilling, was down 800 feet and still going deeper.

The Bear Creek well still hangs fire for some reason. This location is said to be looked upon with confidence by some experienced parties.

The wells on the Kepler farm have settled down somewhat, but we cannot get definite information as to what they are producing.

We have no fresh news from Old Forest, probably because there are none. We have correspondents out in that section who have promised to keep us fully posted in regard to de velopments there, and as we have not heard from there we presume' nothing new has transpired.

EUROPEAN LETTER-FROM THE "BOYS."

ON THE STEAMER "WESER," OFF SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 17, 1877. EDITOR REPUBLICAN :- When I left home, I promised to write as our steamer neared Southampton, and, now, as we are at that stage of our journey, I shall ease my conscience by fulfilling my promise.

The steamer "Weser," bound for Bremen, Germany, left New York on the 6th inst., at 3 P. M., having Charles Bonner and myself on board, and on the same evening we lost sight of land, even before the passengers had retired for the night.

We both sought our berths that night feeling contented and happy, having made the acquaintance of all our fellow-passengers, and no sigus of sea-sickness having appeared. But we morning, I especially harboring the thought, and proceed to imitate the whale that proved such a friend to awakening in the morning, for I never felt better in my life, and you will marvel when I inform you that neither Charley nor myself, from the day we left New York to the present time have ever been sea-sick, and we have now great hopes of going over the English Channel and North Sea, which I am told is exceedingly rough, in the same state of health.

During our first four days out, the weather was very stormy, and the steamer rocked and tumbled in every direction, and you can well imagine how very inconvenient and disagreeawhen at the table eating. It was a very common occurrence to have dishes of victuals and cups of coffee precipitated into the passengers' laps. I did not sleep very much, for I was afraid of falling out of my berth whenever the ship should meet an uncommonly large wave. We were all disgusted with those four days, and carried very sour countenances, for we were not permitted to go on deck, which privilege is the mostspleasant of all in a trip across the "Pond."

The steamer, of Course, while that 1877. state of affairs lasted, made very poor headway, delaying our ultimate arrival at Southampton, but, after that, she averaged 131 miles per hour.

We first saw lend this morning, and Emma Hulings, Sallie Hulings, May I cannot describe how rejoiced we all

It is the desire of the teachers that the parents do all in their power to secure prompt and regular attendance on the part of pupils. Tardiness and irregularity destroy the interest of the pupil in school work, retard his progress, and disarrange the well-working of the entire school machinery.

-The gun trade continues brisk here. In fact, we suppose there are not now over a dozen houses in Forest County where a gun of some description cannot be found. Since the ad- land. vent of breech-loading arms, the old muzzle-loaders are going off at very to Leipsig, in Saxony, and stay there low figures. We hear of a first-class double-barrel rifle having been sold recently for $15. There are some hunters, however, and good ones, too, who prefer the muzzle-leaders. We suppose that not less than 30 to 40 new guns have come into the county within the last six months.
