

THE RESULT!

PENNSYLVANIA.
The Democrats carried Pennsylvania by about 9,000 for Noyes and Schell, and by about 4,500 for Trunkoy.

Bailey, Democrat, was elected President Judge in Allegheny county over Fetterman, Republican, by 179 majority.

Church, Bourbon, was elected President Judge in Crawford county, over Henderson, Republican, by 45 majority. There will likely be a contest over this election.

NEW YORK.
The Democratic State ticket is elected by upward of 20,000 majority. The majority in the city is nearly 30,000. Honest John Morrissey, the philanthropist, goes to the State Senate. The Legislature is Republican in both branches.

NEW JERSEY.
"Little Mac," whose residence is under his hat, was elected Governor by a majority of about 13,000, and the Democrats have both branches of the Legislature.

CONNECTICUT.
No State ticket up. The Republicans carried both branches of the Legislature, strong. P. T. Barnum was elected to the Assembly.

MARYLAND.
"The Dutch have taken Holland," and the Democrats have carried Maryland—have it all their own way.

WISCONSIN.
The Republican State ticket was elected by a majority of probably ten thousand, and the Republicans have good majorities in both branches of the Legislature.

VIRGINIA.
The State was carried by the Democrats by overwhelming majorities. The old leaven is still there.

MISSISSIPPI.
The handful of Republicans who attended the polls might as well have stayed away. The Democratic majority will exceed that of last year by several thousand.

MASSACHUSETTS.
Governor Rice, Republican, re-elected by nearly 18,000 majority. Both branches of the Legislature are largely Republican.

NEBRASKA.
Lake, Republican candidate for Supreme Judge, is elected over Howe, Democrat, by a majority of 8,000 to 10,000.

MINNESOTA.
Pillsbury, Republican candidate for Governor, will have probably 15,000 majority. Both branches of the Legislature largely Republican.

KANSAS.
Bleeding Kansas is on deck with her usual Republican majorities.

LETTER FROM EUROPE.

"OUR BOYS" ARRIVE AT LEIPZIG.

HOTEL PALMBAUM, LEIPZIG, SAXONY, Oct. 22, 1877.
ED. REPUBLICAN:—The steamer "Weser" arrived at Bremen on Friday, the 19th inst. The trip through the Channel and over the North Sea was very pleasant, much more so than the first part of our trip. A great many steamers were delayed by the storms that were raging during the past two weeks, but our steamer came into port only one day past regular time, which was something remarkable, taking into consideration the weather we had to encounter.

We were compelled to stay in Bremen until Saturday morning, when we took passage by rail to Leipzig, at which city we arrived on Saturday evening at 8 P. M., after a twelve hours' ride. I did not find the journey a tiresome one, for the country was new to me, and I was pleasantly engaged during the whole time in observations. In my next letter I will give you as good a description as I am able of the land, mode of farming, &c.

Charley and I in company with two young men who converse in German, went to a Bremen theatre, and listened to an opera with a horribly long name. I enjoyed it, although I could not understand a word of what was said. One thing was noticeable, the ladies as well as the gentlemen wore no hats at the theatre. They leave their hats, and the gentlemen their hats and overcoats at the entrance. Consequently, when we four entered the parquette, not having conformed to the German custom, eyes of astonishment were turned upon us, and we could see opera glasses leveled at us from all parts of the theatre. We all took it coolly, and rather enjoyed the situation, for we were conscious that an innovation had been made by us on the usages of German society.

After the opera, we visited a place called Roth's Keller, which is noted for its old wines, some of them being three and four hundred years old. In this place you see ladies and gentlemen belonging to the finest society of the city assembled to drink, smoke and eat. I was surprised to see gentlemen smoking around the same tables ladies were lunching at, but I have since noticed that it is the practice at all cafes and even in dining rooms of hotels.

Coming up from Bremen, I sat down on a gentleman's high hat and crushed it in a shocking manner. I could not speak an apology that he could understand, so I had to sit and endure all the gentleman's withering glances. At the end of an hour I managed to convey to him the idea that I was sorry; then he seemed satisfied, and once more I was happy myself. I then and there registered a vow in the proper place that I would learn to make an apology in the German language, and now I am ready for any similar emergency.

This morning Charley and I called upon the American Consul, Hon. John H. Stuart, and found him a very affable gentleman. While at his office we met several Americans, and with them had a very pleasant chat. Mr. Stuart directed us to a place of boarding. We have secured a very pleasant place and will go there this afternoon.

I have not been around Leipzig yet, and of course cannot give any description of the place. Before going into particulars on that subject, I will post myself.

Charley sends his kind regards.
Yours Truly,
BEN W. MAY.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The following proclamation has been issued by Gov. Hartranft:

During the year the care of God has given an abundant harvest to the land and health to the people, and sustained them in hope through the trials and sorrows with which, in His infinite wisdom, He has tempered his mercies.

Now, therefore, I, John F. Hartranft, Governor of Pennsylvania, do appoint Thursday, the 29th day of November, 1877, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, asking the good people of the commonwealth to assemble at their usual places of worship on the said day and give thanks to almighty God for the great benefits which they have received at his hands.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and second.
JOHN F. HARTRANFT.

By the Governor,
M. S. QUAY, Sec. of the Commonwealth.

—The Pittsburgh Dispatch says: "Colonel Watson, of the Warren district, is assigned to the highly important committee of Expenditures of the Postoffice Department, as well as on that of Agriculture. Gen. Harry White, of the Clarion district, is put on the Committee on Military Affairs. On the whole, it seems to us that Mr. Randall has accorded his political opponents, especially new members like Messrs. Watson and White, quite useful and prominent positions."
