The Atlas iron works, of Ironton, Ohio, with a capital of $1,000,000, and the flour firm of Harvey & Son, Cleveland, have suspended, the liabilities of the latter being estimated at $170,000.

From Washington.

A dispatch signed by Secretary Sherman, Stanley Matthews, J. A. Garfield, Eugene Hale and Harry White, was sent to General Anderson at New Orleans, expressing sympathy for him, and the belief that he was "altogether guiltless of any offense against the law."

A petition to Congress by William Cline, of Dayton, Ind., asks that he be paid $5,000 upon the transfer to the commissioner of agriculture of a formula invented by him for making a medicine to cure the hog cholera.

The Senate finance committee has agreed to report favorably the resolution which was passed by the House, taxing it inappreciated, to make any reduction in the tax on distilled spirits at present. The committee has also decided to recommend the passage of a bill calling for a commission to consider the question of regulating the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors.

President Hayes has written a letter to Attorney-General Devens in regard to the conviction of G. Nelson Anderson at New Orleans. According to this letter the President is of the opinion that the prosecution against General Anderson is purely political; that it is not condoned by the best men of Louisiana, and therefore in contrast to their calm judgment; that the proceedings were in the interest of persons who strive to antagonize the two parties in that State rather than to harmonize them, and that the act will be condemned everywhere when the circumstances attending the prosecution are known.

The meeting of the national Democratic committee, which was to have been held in Washington, on February 22, has been postponed to May 22.

A recent debate in the House over the West Point appropriation bill led to a scene of extraordinary excitement. Mr. Hewitt criticized the attitude of Southern men toward West Point, and Mr. Alden, of South Carolina, replied to Mr. Hewitt's charges, and a long exchange of personalities and arguments succeeded, in which the presence of troops in the South, the alleged bargain, and the presidency were discussed.

Foreign News.

Prince Gortschakoff has informed the European powers that Russia's communications occupying Constantinople because England and other nations have determined to send war vessels there for the purpose of protecting their subjects. A London dispatch states that the court of appeals has reversed the decision of the court below in the case of Charles Bradlaugh—the English reformer, well known in America—and Annie Besant, who were convicted of publishing a pamphlet alleged to be immoral. The case will probably be taken to the House of Lords.

CONGRSSIONAL SUMMARY.

Senate.

A resolution was agreed to instructing the committee on appropriations to report whether any of the public buildings in Washington should be removed so as to give present employment to the workmen whose families are suffering from destitution.

The supplemental joint resolution, providing for the appointment of eighteen additional commissioners to the Paris exhibition, was taken up and referred to the committee on appropriations. It was passed with an amendment appropriating $75,000 to pay the salaries of the additional commissioners.

The Senate resumed consideration of the silver bill, and Mr. Hill, of Georgia, spoke in opposition thereto. Mr. Sherman spoke in favor of a woman's suffrage, and the constitution was referred to the committee on the constitution.

Mr. Coaling, of New York, presented a memorial of the chamber of commerce remonstrating against the re-issuance of the silver dollar to be commuted for gold.

Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, and Mr. Sanbury, of Delaware, spoke in favor of the Bland silver bill. Adjourned.

Mr. Christiancy, of Michigan, in presenting several petitions of citizens of Michigan in favor of the adoption of a sixteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States so as to prevent the disfranchising of persons on account of sex, said he hoped the committee on privileges and elections would take up this subject and report upon it. The petitions were referred to a report. When he should become satisfied that a majority of the women were in favor of female suffrage, he would vote for it, but until then he would not. He thought the Congress of the United States was not the place where these petitions should be presented. They properly belonged to the State Legislatures and should be presented there. He referred to Mr. Thurman, of Ohio, presented resolutions of the General Assembly of Ohio expressing regret that all the bonds of the government are payable, principal and interest, in silver coin, favoring the passage of the silver bill, and declaring that President Hayes and Secretary Sherman, in opposing the re-issuance of silver, did not represent the views of the people of Ohio. Read and laid on the table.

Mr. Burnside, of Rhode Island, from the committee on military affairs, reported, with amendments, the Senate bill to remove all restrictions now existing in regard to enlistment of colored citizens in any arm of the United States army. Messrs. Maxey, of Texas, and Cockrell, of Missouri, from the committee, announced that they did not concur with the majority in reporting favorably on this bill.

Mr. McDonald, of Indiana, spoke in favor of the silver bill, and Mr. Randolph, of New Jersey, against it. Adjourned.

Mr. Kernan, of New York presented the memorial of the New York board of trade and transportation, signed by the officers thereof, and a large number of the business men of New York, requesting that the message of the silver bill be vetoed.

Mr. Ingalls, of Kansas, introduced a bill to promote the deposit of savings in a popular loan, and to provide for funding the national debt into home bonds convertible into currency. Referred to the committee on finance.

Mr. Merrimon, of North Carolina, spoke in favor of the Bland silver bill, and Mr. Sargent, of California, in opposition to that measure. Adjourned.

The Conundrum Fend.

He came in hurriedly with the usual "How're ye?" salutation, brushed aside a pile of exchanges, took a seat on one corner of the editorial table, and with an encouraging smile observed:

"Say, I've got an A 1 conundrum you can't guess in two weeks. I had a big notion to send it to the Scientific Monthly or the Philadelphia Bank Note Reporter, or some of our leading journals devoted to original humor and light literature, but a little reflection told me it was my duty to patronize home industry, so I'll give it to you for nothing—not charge you a solitary red for it."

And squirting a stream of tobacco juice with unerring accuracy into a tenn-dollar cuspidor in the northwest corner of the room, he wiped his mouth on his coat sleeve and propounded the following awful conundrum:

"Why—which—that is, what is the difference between the widow Perkinson and her daughter Sallie? Now then?"

"About seventeen years, perhaps," we replied at random, without suspending work on a labored and convincing editorial on "How the Turks Might have Whipped Russia."

"Oh, pahaw, no!" he growled; "you couldn't guess it in two months; and it is easy enough, too, when you know the answer. One—"

"One has a husband and the other wants one," we again ventured.

"No—Great Caesar, no!" he howled in a tone of disgust. "Don't believe you would stumble on the right answer in two ye—"

"One," we interrupted again, "is a widow and the other is a wee dear."

"There you go again!" the tone of disgust considerably deepened. "You can't guess it in seven ye—"

"One mourns for a late husband, and the other mourns because her husband is late—coming," we essayed once more.

"Julius Antony, no!" he fairly shrieked, seizing our shears and fiercely impaling several exchanges to the table.

"It's a boss conundrum, and you might guess for seventeen years, and you—"

"What was the front name of the widow's dear departed?" we asked, becoming interested in the fend's conundrum, in spite of a previously formed determination to kick him out of the back door in five minutes out of a possible six.

"William," he replied, between his clenched teeth.

"Aha! Now we have a clew to the answer. One has lost her Will, and the other hasn't lost her will—by a large majority."

"N-n-o-o!" he howled, in bold-faced pica caps, which nearly overturned our inkstand, and made the windows rattle. "Great Obelisk, man, what a one-hoss conundrum guesser you are! I'll tell—"

"One is born to wed, and the other is worn to—"

Before we could finish our answer—which if we remember rightly, fits an original conundrum propounded by every minstrel troupe in the land during the past twenty years—the fend slid off the table as if he had collided with a bent pin, and cried aloud:

"Why, you darned idiot! you wouldn't guess it in two hundred and thirty years. The difference between the Widow Perkinson and her daughter Sallie is—"

"How old is Sallie?"

"—is this; the daughter has a more antique face, but her mother has a more antique face. See?"

We reluctantly confess that the fend escaped with his life.—Norristown Herald.

How to Visit the Paris Exposition.

A writer in the Chicago Tribune gives the following advice to those intending to visit the Paris exposition: Leave all your best clothes at home, they will be useless to you. Take plenty of warm, rough clothing to wear on the steamship. Your watch, starched linen and fine hat had better remain packed. Upon landing go to some inland English town—say Manchester, Exeter or Nottingham—and arrange to stay a week or so, during which time get a "traveling suit" made, and buy underwear, etc., complete. Demand in all cases their lowest price for cash. You are now un-Americanized, and ready for London and the continent. Don't buy in Paris until you have been there several weeks, then make your purchases according to your tastes and the length of your purse. You will find the hotel rates, and prices of everything you buy in Paris, and indeed everywhere you go upon the continent, to be twenty-five to fifty per cent. lower, if you can successfully pass yourself off as anything but an American.

Which am I to Believe?

A correspondent in Texas writes: The enormous receipts of northern goods this fall brought with them some queer material for local railroad agents.

"Thomas," exclaimed a newly-appointed agent, "how much is four times seven?" Thomas, being hurried and somewhat mixed, replied, "twenty-seven!" The agent proceeded with his percentages, which obstinately refused to foot up more than ninety-nine per cent. After two hours' figuring, seeing Thomas at lunch, he again put the question. As the brain of the latter was not being taxed, the answer came correctly, "twenty-eight!" With face purple with rage, he roared "What do I employ you for? To tell me lies? This morning you told me twenty-seven, and now you say twenty-eight. Which am I to believe?"

They don't know it. Some people don't know that they are being swindled every time they buy an inferior, short-weight, baking powder. It would be far better to buy and use the old reliable Dooley's Baking Powder. Every package of the Dooley's Powder is warranted absolutely pure, and strictly full weight. Sold by grocers.

URGENT REASONS FOR A GRAND SUCCESS.

Countless are the highest examples of success which the present century can show in Hostetler's Stomach Bitters. The record of its triumphs over disease is to be traced in the written acknowledgments of thousands who have experienced its beneficial effects, and the evidence of its popularity is to be found in the vast and growing demand for the article in North and South America, Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, Australia and Europe.

The reasons for its unparalleled success are cogent. The accumulated evidence of nearly thirty years, shows that it is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its strict preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

From John P. King, of Bennington, N. H.: "Three years since I was very much reduced with a dreadful cough, which resulted in Bronchitis, affecting me so severely as to render it difficult to speak in an audible voice. To this was added severe night sweats, and I was weary of going into bed, and weary of getting up. I tried various remedies, to no purpose. I made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, a few bottles of which fully restored me to health. Since that time I have had several severe attacks of cough, but the Balsam has always removed them. I always keep it by me, and should not know how to do without it."

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

The editor of an agricultural paper says there is absolutely no cure for hog cholera but that Sheridan's Condition Powders, given occasionally, will certainly prevent it. Be sure to get Sheridan's. The other kinds in large packages are trash.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure a cough in one-half the time necessary to cure it with any other medicine; and it does it, not by drying it up, but by removing the cause, subduing the irritation, and healing the affected parts. So'd by druggists.

Oh! My Head Aches! then take a dose of Querc's Irish Tea. The great bilious remedy, price 25 cts. a package.

The Greatest Discovery of the Age is Dr. Tobias' celebrated Venetian Liniment: 20 years before the public, and warranted to cure Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera, and Spasms, taken internally, and Gout, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Old Sores, and Pains in the Limbs, Back, and Chest, externally. It has never failed. No family will be without it after once giving it a fair trial. Price, 40 cents. Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT, in Pint Bottles, at One Dollar, is warranted superior to any other, or SOLELY for the cure of Croup, Bronchitis, Old Sores, etc. Sold by all Druggists. Depot—10 Park Place, New York.

VEGETINE FOR DROPSY.

DR. H. R. STEVENS: It is a pleasure to give my testimony for your valuable medicine. I was sick for a long time with Dropsy, under the doctor's care. He said it was Water between the Heart and Liver. I received no benefit until I commenced taking the VEGETINE—in fact, I was growing weaker and weaker. I have tried many remedies; they did not help me. VEGETINE is the medicine for Dropsy. I have no doubt but that I feel better after taking a few bottles. I have taken many bottles, and I feel better. No one can feel more thankful than I do. I am, dear Sir, gratefully yours, W. WHEELER.

VEGETINE. When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or of climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause, the VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body.

VEGETINE FOR KIDNEY COMPLAINT AND NERVOUS DEBILITY.

DR. H. R. STEVENS: I have used your VEGETINE for Sick Headache, and been greatly benefited thereby. I have every reason to believe it to be a good medicine. Yours, very respectfully, Mrs. JAMES GORRUM, 41 Third Street.

HEADACHE. VEGETINE can be said to be a sure remedy for the many kinds of headache, as it acts directly upon the various causes of this complaint—Nervousness, Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Biliousness, etc. Try the VEGETINE. You will never regret it.
