L. DITHMID, Adm'r.

CONGRESS.

As there can be no more announcements before the primaries, according to our system, Gen. White has the field to himself, for Congress, so far as this county is concerned. It is not at all likely that he will have any opposition for the nomination in the district. Indiana and Armstrong have instructed their delegates for him, and he will undoubtedly have the Jefferson delegation. This leaves but one county, Clarion, and it is hardly probable that he will have an opponent there. He is certain to be nominated on the first ballot, — a very flattering endorsement from his district, and there is no question as to his re-election.

We shall send Gen. White's tickets to each polling place in the county this week, and believe the Republicans of the county will see that he polls the full vote. He has shown himself capable of representing his district with ability and good judgment, and it is but right that the party should show their appreciation of his efforts.

—At a meeting of the County Committee held on the 19th ult., W. E. Lathy, Esq. offered a resolution looking toward a change of that part of the Crawford County system which requires the throwing out of the vote of a township or election district when it appears that three or more Democrats have voted at the primaries in said township or election district. The change proposed is, that only the Democratic votes be thrown out, and the balance of the vote be counted as usual. This question is to be voted on at the coming primaries, and we think it proper and right that we should express our views on the subject.

The aim of the Crawford County System is to have the nominations made exclusively by the party, hence this provision. No man runs for an office in either party but has friends in the opposing party who wish to see him nominated, and are willing to "stretch a point" to help him. Such persons present themselves at the primaries, and offer their votes; if they are taken, to the number of three or more in a township, the vote of the township is, by the system, required to be thrown out. How does the resolution offered propose to remedy this disfranchisement of a large number of voters? Simply, when counting up, by throwing out the votes of those Democrats only. There is only one practical way by which this can be accomplished, and that is by numbering the tickets and the names on the tally-list to correspond therewith. The effect of this is to destroy the secrecy of the ballot, which is the strongest point of the system. The officers at primary elections are not sworn; are under no obligation whatever not to reveal the way any person votes. The consequence is that this works to the disadvantage of a large number of voters, who now vote as their conscience dictates, who, were the change made, would be subjected to annoyance and distress by parties who hold some advantage over them, provided they did not vote to suit the fancy of those who thus had them at a disadvantage. How a person votes can now be only a matter of conjecture; if the change were made it could be brought down to a certainty, and the consequence would undoubtedly be that the nominations would be made by the few holding this power, instead of the mass of the party, voting fearlessly, because of the protection they are now afforded by the secrecy of the ballot. Our opinion is that the rule is correct as it now stands. Persons who are put on primary election boards are supposed to know the politics of the persons who vote at their polls, and if they do not, it is part of their business to get evidence from those who do know. There is, in our estimation, no way to secure a pure election except to throw out the entire vote of those election districts where the primaries are not conducted according to the rules. Let Republican nominations be made by Republicans, and Democratic nominations by Democrats, for whatsoever is inconsistent therewith savored of fraud.

We have expressed our opinion on this subject a week sooner than we had intended, to allow those holding opposite views time to put them before the public previous to the primaries. As much space as is occupied by this article will be allowed next week for the promulgation of opposite views.

FERVENT WORDS.

A GOOD WOMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Under date of February 23d, 1878, Miss Sara T. Smith writes from Linwood, Delaware county, Pa., to Col. Dunbar, of Waukesha, Wis. The letter is before us. It bears the unmistakable evidences of culture and refinement, besides being pervaded with the writer's religious feelings and full belief that a Divine hand led her to try Bethesda water for her affliction, "Bright's disease." We make some extracts. After detailing her intense sufferings, Miss Smith tells of the arrival of the first gallon of Bethesda water:

"It came, and I followed the directions, stopping all other medicine. In less than four hours the pain was gone. I slept well that night, and the next day left my room for the first time for four weeks."

The supply of water (1 gallon) then gave out, and it was five days before the sufferer received a 10 gallon keg. Meanwhile, "the pain had returned and all the old misery. On Wednesday night (February 13), I suffered so that I was given 1/4 of a grain of morphia (the most I ever took at one time) without effect. On Thursday I commenced drinking the water at 8 A. M., and before noon was perfectly free from pain, and had no return of it."

The writer, in conclusion, says: "There is something peculiarly happy in the thought of being thus benefited directly by the hand of God."
