-Spring chickens will soon be ripe. We see some now which are almost old enough to die, and doubtless many of them will pass in their checks within two months from date.

-Our county has a few greenbackers, and they talk of putting up a county ticket. We guess they are not strong enough yet, and had better wait another year.

-Smith Foreman will commence work on the sidewalks this morning. No further notice will be given property owners, but the sidewalks will be built and repaired as fast as the workmen can do it.

-No base ball club in town! no croquet! no picnics! no music! no courage to tackle anything that promises an outlay of muscle, time or attention. The nearest approach to sport the boys have is to bet the cigars or the approaching primaries.

-The Brookville Graphic has the following item in last week's issue:

"A fishing party to Forest County, composed of gentlemen, with a few ladies along to cook, is now talked of in this place.

It is well enough to bring along something to cook, as the party may not catch trout enough to appease their appetites, but, say! doesn't that look a little like cannibalism?

A SAD ACCIDENT.

The sad news came in this morning that Mr. James Flynn, of Nebraska, was killed, yesterday, in a jam of logs -We've had a good deal of rain in Licking Creek, near Lucinda Furnace, Clarion County. He was driving some logs, and was in some way caught and crushed. Mr. Wm. Roupe brought the news to town, but was without particulars. Mr. Flynn was a man who enjoyed the confidence and respect of all who knew him, and his death is a sad shock to the community. He leaves a wife and family of small children. We shall try to give more particulars next week.

-M. W. Tate, Esq., gave a little attention to rigging up a home-made telephone, a few weeks ago, but for some time has given the subject a rest. The machine would transmit sound but absolutely refused to articulate so that you could tell what the chap at the other end of the line was saying.

-The Potter investigating committee is at work, and seems to be getting more out of the witnesses than Mr. Potter wants. The committee was appointed to pry out Republican frauds, but up to the present time they have unearthed about as much Democratic as Republican crookedness. Let them wiggle; if they proceed they may find more than they are looking for.

-So much time has elapsed since the case of small pox, noticed in our last issue, appeared among us, that our people begin to breathe easier, and it is now believed that we are comparatively out of danger. It was rumored last week that a young man named Gorman, who was in Pittsburgh in with the same disease, but the physician (from Tidioute) who attended him said it was not the case. Young Gorman lives some five or six miles up the river, and was at home when he was taken sick.

-The Treasurer's Sales commenced on Monday morning, and continued until yesterday afternoon, when they adjourned until the 10th of July, at which time those tracts remaining uusold will be disposed of. The attendance at the sales was good, and the bidding spirited. A comparatively small portion of the lands were sold to citizens of the county, most of them being taken by parties from neighboring towns and from a distance. The Treasurer starts on his annual trip around the county on Saturday next.

- We have only twenty candidates announced for the Republican nominations in this county, and yet people seem to think that candidates are very plenty this year. In Clarion County there must be upwards of fifty candidates on the Democratic side, and Mercer county has two hundred and two candidates in the field. When we take into consideration the fact that there are thirteen offices in this county and district to be filled, our announcement column does not loom up as big as it might.

-Aquilla Mong and Cassius Cupples were arrested on Saturday eventown a few weeks since. We have not heard what the evidence against them was, but at a hearing before Esq.
