Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17, '78 Mr. Potter made a formal charge in the House of Representatives, that Secretary Sherman had conspired with certain persons in Louisiana to cause the vote of the two parishes to be thrown out, on the false pretense of intimidation and violence practiced in those parishes at the time of the election. This was a serious accusation .an accusation of an infamous crime brought against a high officer of the Government. It was indecent to make it on the strength of rumors and partisan reports, and if it is not fully substantiated the men who hastened to father it will be disgraced. Mr. Sherman has met the attack upon him, not only by defying his assailants to produce any evidence of conspiracy, but by effering to prove that there was no false pretense of intimidation upon which a conspiracy could possibly have been based. He offers to prove that the charges of violence, upon which the vote of Felicina parishes was thrown out, were strictly true. In his letter to the Committee he asks that Messrs. Hale, Garfield, Danford, Harry White and Kelley, of the visiting statesmen, be called and allowed to state their knowledge of the proceedings obtained by personal visits to the parishes where the troubles are known to exist. General White visited the parishes of Ouschita and Vernon, and convinced himself beyond a doubt that the fraud and violence used was a fact so well established, that women grew pale, and men lowered their voices when speaking of it. General White made a map of the parishes, and designated each locality where the worst the public, and put up in a larger botabuses and atrocities had been practiced. This map, with a description of the cruelties, was afterwards published in the New York Graphic of February 22d, '77.

ready before the public of these outages; with the living proof of the corrors of the last election, walking our streets in the person of Mrs. Chisrolm; with the testimony of men of Pa. undoubted truth and justice; men who, like General White, convinced himself by personal investigation of the truth of the charges, and came away with the blood burning with indignation in his veins, the Potter Committee with an impudence unpar-Heled, reply, "We decline to go into question of intimidation," yet they and give him no opportunity for denial. It is easy enough to understand why the Democratic leaders should be unwilling to enter into the investigation of the management of Democratic victories in Louisiana. They have revived the dispute, not we, and they ing to make the investigation they have invited.

We want men like White in the prosperity of the country than any since the first Continental Congress. Men with clear, decisive judgment, and the experience of the Forty-Fifth Congress will be invaluable to the success of the mext in its members.
