Republican Meeting at East Hickory.

The house was called to order, and Jas. Green Esq. was elected President of the evening, and Mr. Lewis Kiestler Secretary.

The President then stated the object of the meeting, after which W. E. Lathy Esq., of Tionesta, was called upon to address those who had assembled to hear the issues of the day.

He first explained what and who the Republicans are; what their principles are, and what the party is in general. Also, in a masterly manner, brought up what the Republican party has done,—a retrospect which is remembered by many of our citizens—and brought up many recollections which, however dim, can never be forgotten.

He next explained the value of the different kinds of money which are now in circulation. He stated the amount of the National debt of France about twenty years ago, and from that convinced all present that France is yet in debt and not enjoying the prosperity which is so strongly asserted by many. He next quoted statistics to show the condition of our finances at the present time, and also in the past. He claims that money is gold and silver coin, or paper currency convertible into coin at the will of the holder. Come again.

GAMMA.

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30, '78. The testimony of occasional witness before Hewitt's committee seems like an oasis in the monotonous stretch of desert surrounding it.

John Roach, who has demonstrated his practical business capacity in the development of an industry—iron ship building—during the very hardest of hard times that gives employment to thousands of laborers, mechanics and artisans, gives it as his belief that one of the most potential of the contributing causes to the existing condition of business paralysis and consequent distress, is to be found in the extravagant habits that naturally followed the inflation and flush times of the war period. When the inevitably crises came it found almost everybody demoralized and their prodigal habits only been abandoned to just that extent that poverty compelled. The observer of ordinary discernment can verify the truth of Roach's statement by comparing the style of living now obtaining among his acquaintances, with that practiced 20 years ago among similar classes. If the means are obtainable, the family of the average Washington mechanic of to-day spends twice as much in a month to keep up the "style" that has gradually grown up since 1860, as would have sufficed to make the same number just as comfortable, at or before that date. A like or greater ratio of increase is demonstrable in every grade of society above or below the mechanic. The typical female Treasury clerk spends as much now in the ordinary items of living in one year, as answered for the support of father, mother, and a half dozen brothers and sisters, perhaps, for the same length of time two decades ago. The amount of money worse than wasted by each of a certain class of 1,200 departmental clerks, in beer, whiskey, cigars, theatres and excursions, not to mention the "nobby" style of dress indulged in, would have gone very far in 1862 in paying the entire living expenses of the family that earned the everlasting gratitude of the government by contributing him to its Civil Service. What is true of Washington is probably true to some extent of every community in the country. Mr. Roach's testimony seems to make our failures to seize the commercial advantages tendered us by South America all the more inexplicable.

Blatherskite Kearny, a seditious brutal alien, whose reputation chiefly depends on his ruffianly philippic against foreigners, honors us by his presence, and we shall have such a flow of "chin music" to-night on the east steps of the capitol as has rarely been heard from a rostrum that has furnished accommodations for many a vagabond orator. The sensation over him has had a short run. Nearly all instrumental in his Eastern tour, seemed to have been shamed into a disavowal of any sympathy with him; and it is safe to assume he will find few followers outside the Cohen gang.

The present animus of Butler towards the Republican party leads every one to discredit his venomously spiteful remarks cum grano salis. Hence his reported statement that he made public was wholly powerless to harm any one; and it occasioned not a ripple of the excitement that might have followed such a statement from a less prejudiced or more reputable source.

It was patent from the vigorous manner in which Sherman had just been grinding Thurman between the upper and nether mill stones of the latter's glaring inconsistencies, that he was none disturbed. Now comes Benjamin with the assertion that its all a lie—that he don't believe the letter ever had an existence, thus as it is written, another hope of the Bourbon parishes.

(From the Pittsburgh Leader, March 21, 1876.) "I Must Lie Down and Die."

The following is an extract from a letter dated July 21, 1877, to the discoverer of Bethesda Water. The writer is the Rev. T. B. Fuller, D. D., D. C. L., Rector of St. Gregory's Church, Toronto, Archdeacon of Niagara, etc., etc. The writer, at the age of 60 years was a victim of Saccharine Diabetes. His physician said (to use Dr. Fuller's words) "he could do no more for me than he had done; that my disease was incurable, and that I must lie down and die." [We should state here, in parenthesis, that our townsman, Joseph Fleming, Esq., is the sole and only authorized agent for this wonderful water for this State, as well as for Ohio and West Virginia.] To return to Dr. Fuller: "In four days," he writes "after taking the Water, I obtained relief, and since that time I have taken no medicine, consulted no medical man, and presume, if I could give myself reasonable rest, I would be quite well."

Such testimony, from such a source, should indeed have convincing weight. Sole agent for Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. JOSEPH FLEMING, 84 Market street, Pittsburgh, Pa. Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Shear, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. 14-cow-ly
