HOYT ON FINANCE.
 Professing to be an honest man, the candidate of an honest organization, I favor honest money.
 The volume of the currency should be regulated by legitimate demand, and not by the requirements of bankrupts and wild speculators.
 The currency should be redeemable as early as the exigencies of the Government will permit, in the currency recognized by all civilized nations.
 The contracts of the Government should be held as sacred as the contracts of individuals, and the bonds, the evidence of its indebtedness, should be paid according to the understanding between the Government and the lender.—Speech at Butler, Sept. 2, 1878
 Communicated.

TIONESTA, PA., Sept. 10, 1878.
 Mr. EDITOR:—The idea that some demagogues advance, and some people believe, that resumption of specie payment by the Government means that nothing but gold and silver will pay a debt, or be a legal tender, is ludicrous to the extreme. No honest man of intelligence will thus seek to "draw the water" over the eyes of the people, and those who have not reflected on the matter can thus be deceived.
 The Rebellion, there was entailed on the Government the extraordinary expenses of war; she had not the ordinary expenses, and hence she was compelled to run in debt; i. e., to issue greenbacks, which are nothing more than promises to pay, or due bills, for they say on the face: "United States will pay the bearer." And, as all other nations of the world have been compelled to do under similar circumstances, and in exercise of the "war power" vested in her by the Constitution, she was compelled to prevent the presentation for payment by suspending specie payment.
 It is in a shape that she can pay her notes on demand, she so announces to the world. The resumption of specie payment means, that on presentation on Jan. 1, 1879, of a greenback dollar at the National Treasury, it will be paid with a gold or silver dollar. It does not take away the legal tender property of a greenback dollar, it does not curtail the powers of the National bank dollar, but, on the other hand, it increases their usefulness, for it brings them both on a par with a gold dollar, and one is exchangeable for the other, at the will of the holder. It does not mean that greenbacks are to be retired from circulation, for, by a joint resolution of Congress passed last winter, any greenback redeemed cannot be retired, cancelled or destroyed, but must be paid out again by the Government for anything she owes, and continue to be a part of the currency of the country.

 Congress need not pass a law making the present greenback no longer a legal tender, except by redeeming and destroying it, or retiring it from circulation; for, so long as it continues to be part of the currency, it must pass current for just what it says, and endorsed upon it is the statement that it is a legal tender. It would interfere with "vested rights," so called, and impair the contract between the Government and the bill holder, could the Government change or abridge the promises on the bill.

When the Resumption Act was passed on January 14, 1875, a greenback dollar was only worth 87½ cents, but in view of resumption, it has steadily increased in value ever since, and is now worth 99½ cents. This is a convincing proof to fair minded people that on January 1, 1879, and perhaps before, that half cent difference will disappear, and it shows that the public have full faith in the ability of the Government to redeem her pledge.
 Then, the Resumption Act, instead of injuring the greenback, increases its value and purchasing power. And, as well after as before Jan. 1, 1879, if A owes B $100 he can pay B in greenbacks, and B is legally bound to take them in full satisfaction of the debt. And if the Sheriff has an execution against A, he is bound to take the amount it calls for in greenbacks, in satisfaction of his writ.

And, practically, when the National bank bill is interchangeable, at par with a greenback or a gold dollar, as it almost is now, and will be absolutely after the first of January next, the man or the Sheriff who refuses it in satisfaction of an execution, is either a fool or a knave.

When a greenback dollar was only worth about 35 cents in 1864, as compared with a gold dollar, as a matter of fact, in almost every case a hundred of them paid off a note or obligation calling for $100.

"I Must Lie Down and Die."
 The following is an extract from a letter dated July 21, 1877, to the discoverer of Bethesda Water. The writer is the Rev. T. B. Fuller, D. D., D. C. L., Rector of St. Gregory's Church, Toronto, Archdeacon of Niagara, etc., etc. The writer, at the age of 60 years was a victim of Saccharine Diabetes. His physician said (to use Dr. Fuller's words) "he could do no more for me than he had done; that my disease was incurable, and that I must lie down and die." [We should state here, en parenthesis, that our townsman, Joseph Fleming, Esq., is the sole and only authorized agent for this wonderful water for this State, as well as for Ohio and West Virginia.] To return to Dr. Fuller: "In four days," he writes, "after taking the Water, I obtained relief, and since that time I have taken no medicine, consulted no medical man, and presume, if I could give myself reasonable rest, I would be quite well."
 Such testimony, from such a source, should indeed have convincing weight.

Sole agent for Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

Consumption Cured.
 An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.
