WEDNESDAY MORNING, PEB. 12, 1879.

GOOD-BYE.

Eleven years ago yesterday I landed in Tionesta, and with the exception of about eighteen months spent in the West, have since made this place my home. During my stay I have endeavored earnestly to preserve harmony in the party, and to advocate Republican principles. Many have appreciated my efforts; some have not. I have made several friends, and some enemies. From the first I shall part with feelings of sorrow and profound regret; from the latter I can withdraw without any visible effort. I hope that each class will be rewarded here and hereafter according to its merits.

And now I turn my face from the scenes and friends which have occupied nearly one-third of my days, to make a new start somewhere in the world outside, trusting that nothing that I shall do bereafter shall cause my friends to regret our friendly relations here, or change their good opinion of me-

I have disposed of the Republican office to Mr. J. E. Wenk, who will conduct the paper hereafter in the interest of the Republican party, and have arranged with him to fill out the time of all subscriptions paid in advance. Mr. Wenk has been associated with me, both as printer and assistant for ten years, and is well qualified to issue a first-class paper. I cordially recommend him to the good offices of the people of Forest county.

In my editorial capacity, therefore, I bid you, one and all, a last Good-W. R. DUNN.

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6, '79. The joint victory over Senator Conkling in the confirmation last Monday of Gen'l Merritt, was achieved by a vote of 33 to 24. Among the ayes were 13 Republicans and 20 Democrats. Of the pays 18 were Republicans, 5 Democrats and 1 "Independent." Mr. Burt's majority as Naval Officer was 13. Senator Mc-Millin's course in voting to reject the nominations as a member of the Committee of Commerce and then voting to confirm, is severely commented on edition of this excellent work, just is among men of all parties. It seems sued by the American Book Exchange, improbable that any facts could have 55 Beekman street, New York, emcome to his knowledge between the braces the history of our literature two votes justifying such an abrupt from the earliest period to the times change of convictions on a matter, as of Queen Elizabeth, with lives of all claimed, of national importance; and noted authors, and choice specimens to say that he is charged with stulti- from the writings of each. All who fication is only giving currency to the are interested in the higher class of mildest form of the reproaches heaped literature will welcome this new edion him. In view of the uniform ten- tion, with its clear type and handy dency of human nature to look vigi- form, and all who have been longing lantly after the interests of number for the era of cheap books, will be one, the criticisms on the course of more than satisfied with its wonderthe victors in taking every advantage fully low price. The entire work, in of their position to avoid a Waterloo eight volumes, numbering over 3,200 defeat, seems puerile. Who can recall pages, is offered, delivered free of exan instance in this cut-throat game of pense, to those who subscribe during politics in which the reverse policy has January, in paper binding, for $2.50; been observed? If only those without cloth, $3.50; or half merrocco, gilt sin in this respect cast stones the bom- top, $5.00. Specimen pages, showing bardment cannot be serious. On the size, style, type and paper of the enother hand, and insinuating nothing tire work, and giving full particulars, against Merritt or Burt, congratula- including inducements to clubs, will tions over their confirmation as a great | be sent free on request. To those who victory for "Civil Service Reform" would like to examine it, volume one, seems equally childish and irrelevant which is complete in itself, containing 16 Julius Berkimna vs. D. W. in the face of facts showing that the 416 pages, will be sent, postpaid, for dispute had narrowed down to a pure- nominal prices: In paper 20 cents; ly personal contest, whatever the mo- cloth, 35 cents; half morocco, gilt tives that first suggested the removal top, 50 cents. Purchasers have the of Arthur and Cornell. It is not ex- option of getting the other seven volaggerating to say that the reading of umes by paying at any time the reletters received by Arthur from the mainder of the regular subscription President and Cabinet Officers sug- price. The publishers sell only to gesting or dictating the appointment subscribers direct, instead of giving from the assessment of 1870. of this, that and the other, seemed to dealers and agents the usual 50 or hardly to justify the felicitations heard | 70 per cent. discount to sell for them, only recently of the "disestablishment which accounts for the remarkably of the political machine." That nam- low prices. ing Howard, the Presidential biographer, for a place which was clearly forbidden under the roles promulgated for the government of appointments and promotions in the Civil Service, and another in behalf of Justice Bradley's son were specially comforting to Democrats always looking for new clubs to best out the brains of the Administration, and to cynical Republicans who pretend not to see the astonishing progress made by "reform" contest as this nad come to be, were arts only practicable with the adroit politician, strikes the average observer as rather narrow grounds upon which to base a promotion from the head of the Treasury to four years in the White House. And lastly, if the outcome of this squabble teaches a much needed lesson to the effect that subordinate Federal positions were not designed as mere appendages of the Senatorial office it will not be regarded as an unmixed evil in many quarters where confirmation was opposed.

The purpose of the pitiable dodges resorted to by the Potter Democrats to consume time, were too apparent to deceive any but the most credulous. Days of a session nearing its close were devoted to points having only the slightest bearing on the real matter to be investigated. The concerted howl of the Democratic press over the criminal complicity of prominent Republicans based on insinuations having vo foundation in fact, strengthen the suspicion that they were put out from headquarters here to divert attention from the waste of time of which Potter and associates have been guilty. The course pursued is rationally explainable only on the theory that it was desired to consume all the balance of the session before the real culprits could be reached. Mr. Smith Weed's admission that the telegrams as interpreted by the Tribune are substantially correct, has startled the leaders here like an electric shock.

Although it is sought to anticipate and defeat favorable action by the use of opprobious names, the report of the Senate Post Office Committee recommending that $150,000 be paid each of two lines of steamers for carrying the mail to and from Brazil-one from New York, the other from New Orleans-has greatly encouraged a large class of intelligent men who believe that the shortest cut to the building of our foreign trade and the re-establishment of our old-time supremacy and commercial and maritime power.

Just as Bourbonism had partially recovered from Bragg's blow Mills prances in from the Southern end of the line and smites it on the other cheek, accusing it of being responsible for Custer's death and summing up all its stupid raids on the Army. But the proposition to reduce is dead for this session.
