HARRISBURG, March 15, 1879. ED. REPUBLICAN :--

Both Senate and House have been steadily plodding their way through bills of all sorts, but the House stuck on an act fixing the compensation of members of assembly and officers and employees thereof. This was on Wednesday. The question came up again on Thursday and an extra session was held on that afternoon to allow its further discussion. No conclusion was reached, although it was the occasion of some sharp speeches pro and con. As far as an outsider may be allowed to judge the present salary is no more than just ; "the laborer is worthy of his hire," and were the salaries reduced to $3.00 the fatted calf. But I grieve to say per day, or as Mr. Nakel proposed to nothing but the glory, (as is the case in England and Prussia,) there would not be many men who could afford to sacrifica business interests; and as Mr. Colburn of Somerset remarked, "Any man who could not earn, or was not worth $1,000 per year, was not fit to represent a free people on the floor of the House." Mr. Doyle, who is a minister in the U. B. Church, proposes to weigh the question and vote as his conscience dictates. It was evident from his remarks that his conscience does not dictate a reduction. He paid the Legislature a compliment ; When he started for Harrisburg the brethern said : "Now, Brother Doyle, there is a bad set down there; look out for them." He had watched and praved and at last found that the members were as honorable and fair as any one could desire. Mr. Long left the chair and made a short pertinent speech. Let me digress here to say that Henry M. Long gives great satisfaction as Speaker, keeping better order than his predecessors, and being ready at parliamentary tactics. Mr. Hewitt spoke in a humorous vein and was frequently applauded. He said "there were -thieves about the Hill, but the members should not be held responsible therefor."

As far as your correspondent can find out there is a set of land sharks about the Hill, as there always is, and always has been, about the centres of Commonwealths, ready to snatch a discarded carpet, curtain, toothpick or bootjack. There seems to be a spirit of investigation abroad in the land this year, and I have no doubt accounts will be straightened before the session closes.

The people of Harrisburg were given a treat in the shape of an Ole Bull concert Thursday evening. The old veteran of the violin has not allowed age to stiffen his good right arm, and the huge diamond in the cad of his bow flashed not more brilliantly than the sparkling notes of music which that same bow drew forth. The young wife whom he has lately married played accompaniments. She was remarkable for the severe plainness of her style in dress. Ole Bull will doubtless make this his fare well tour. although he is very active for his years. Speaking of supple aged men, General Cameron is a fine specimen. He celebrated his 80th birthday last Saturday, and is hale and hearty.

I suppose the State has rarely lost a citizen who is more truly regretted than her poet Bayard Taylor. The Senate sent a committee of three Senators : Jones, Gazzam and Schnatterly, to attend the funeral of the lamented bard and minister.

No more at present.

still the prevailing one among native Americans and many of our adopted citizens all over the North and West. Of the two other men oftenest mentioned as possible dark horses, Carlisle, also from the "dark and bloody Has now for sale the Fol ground" would probably be found only less objectionable than Blackburn, on all the material issues that have divided the country into North and South during the past quarter of a century. McMahon of Ohio, in addition to a stripe of Democracy that would likely lead him to be more ob sequious and complaisant towards the malignant and revolutionary leaders of his party than Randall has ever been, is in high feather with the most rampant of the soft money maniacs and repudiationists because of his votes plenty of Limestone. and known sympathy in those directions. Hence as a choice of several evils one of which seems unavoidable, Randall, as the best of them, seems infinitely preferable to any of the others named; and so far as appears on the Washington surface that is the view entertained by a large majority of Republicans. If President Hayes is in favor of repealing the law which empowers him to station troops at the polls in certain emergencies, and of that imposing the test oath, reported, he is at variance with a majority of the Republican Near Trunkeyville, Forest court of the Daniel Jones place, Will party if it was correctly represented in the last Congress. Some members, however, indicated their willingness to concede those two points if the Damocrats would yield their demands for the repeal of the U.S. election laws. This by way of compromise, however, and to avoid an extra session. But I believe I may say the party, including the President is practically a unit in opposition to turning over the ballot box absolutely to the domination of In Jenks Township, Forest co the White Liner and Repeater by repeal of the last named, and that it will be opposed to the bitter end.
