

Harrisburg Letter.

HARRISBURG, April 12, 1879.

ED. REPUBLICAN:-

The Judge's Salary Bill was defeated in the Senate for this session of the Legislature. The bill to prevent the spread of contagious or infectious pleuro-pneumonia among cattle of the State passed finally and was sent to the House for concurrence. In the House, among other acts, was one to encourage the planting of trees by the roadside. This is not an act fully appreciated in your county at present, but the time may come when the forests are transformed from stately sighing trees to lofty piles of architectural beauty; then trees by the roadside will be something to be wished for. Mr. Early's bill to permit the inmates of any institution supported by the State, to choose such religious advisers as he or she may determine, was thoroughly discussed and indefinitely postponed. On Wednesday the Riot Bill again got its head above water, but was submerged by a vote of indefinite postponement, 103 to 96. It is liable any day to make its appearance before the House, when I hope it will be finally settled.

The Border Raid Bill passed second reading. As Friday was a legal holiday, the House adjourned over until Tuesday morning, thus allowing members to return to their homes, and be all in their places by the next session.

Sauntering through the Capitol the other day we came to the room in which the State battle flags are kept. There they hang, each regiment grouped in companies, mute witnesses of horror, bloodshed and dismay. Some of the banners are still bright in their silken splendor; and droop tattered and torn, pierced by shot and shell; some show only the bruised staff with merely a faded tassel left to tell the dreadful story. Pennsylvania's boys did noble service, and these flags prove that they have been in the thickest of the affray.

Passing out of this room of sad memories we go over to the Treasury building, in which is the Governor's room, an elegantly furnished apartment, and the gallery of portraits representing the Governors of the Commonwealth. Some of the older ones are dressed in velvet coats, huge wigs, embroidered waistcoats, and gay vestments quite equal to the display of modern fashionable women. In this room is a lock of Washington's hair framed, and also of Thomas Jefferson's, with an autograph letter of the latter. There are many models of a monument to be erected to the memory of Gov. Geary, brought here for the Government to select from; $5,000 was the amount appropriated for the purpose.

With a final glance at Wm. Penn, clad in a steel armor, we leave the gubernatorial company and wend our way homeward through the moist spring air.

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10, '79. Unhappily for the country and every one favoring a strict compliance with its pledges by Government, there is nothing in the record of a very large majority of Democratic Congressmen to encourage the hope that they will not strike hands with the little band of financial fanatics and incendiaries who were swept into the 46th Congress on the crest of the Greenback wave that submerged the country for a brief space of time a few months since. Some of them came in as Democrats, some as Greenbackers and a very few as Republicans. Their number in the last Congress were so few as to be easily held in check; but with the reinforcements sent by the Democratic-Greenback coalition in certain districts at the last election their strength has been considerably augmented and they are evidently bent on nullifying all the good results that have accrued from the formal resumption of specie payments. The present programme looks very like remanding business interests to the tender mercies of the bulls and bears and other speculators who waxed fat during inflation times and the long period of doubt, uncertainty, depression and disaster between the crash of 1873 and January 1, 1879, when confidence was largely restored and business began to seek old channels and make new ones, by the assurance then given of a stable currency. The purpose of this mischievous element have been, so far, defeated by adjourning over Monday, bill day, thus allowing it no opportunity to introduce the bills prepared to reopen all the vexed and complicated questions of finance happily settled, but for the efforts of these tinkers, by resumption. Immediately after adjournment last evening, however, a Democratic caucus was held to demand that a session should be held Monday to allow the introduction of bills to authorize the issue of bullion certificates and the substitution of Greenbacks for the national bank circulation. The caucus was not very fully attended and little else was accomplished but the passage of a long string of political resolutions and one demanding that the financial disorganizers be permitted to get in their work. The letter of the resolution was so flagrantly at variance with all that Democracy has accomplished, as to excite only the contempt of intelligent men at this patent resort to hypocrisy and downright lying, to draw attention from the real work it has in hand. That is, to force the approval of the Executive to legislation that is intuitively wrong and designed to secure partisan advantage, at the expense of everything really and truly Republican in our form of government, with the alternative of having its supplies cut off. The non-attendance of many of the prominent leaders seems to indicate some hesitancy on their part—some doubt as to the policy of publicly espousing the extreme Greenback position. So long as there seems any hope of accomplishing anything by a dicker with the few Greenbackers here in the House, no one expects them to sacrifice it by taking a stand in opposition. But in attendance at the caucus they would have been forced to show their hands; hence their absence.

If any Republican here was in need of aid from an external source to insure his firmness when the crisis of the battle now in progress on Capitol Hill comes, it was furnished in almost uniform gains by his party wherever the Democrats forced the fighting on national issues in the elections just held. And those troubled with misgivings heretofore on this point have generally dismissed them since the Republicans in Ohio, Michigan and elsewhere have demonstrated their invincibility when courageously adhering to principle, while the sun of the traffickers and party gamblers has gone down into irremediable disaster.

Four times during the past twelve months Southern military organizations had repeated the insult by visiting this city and displaying their State colors in lieu of the Stars and Stripes. A recent repetition has aroused great indignation.

DE SOTO.

Headstones of Union Soldiers.

It is probably generally remembered that some years ago—in 1873—Congress passed a law providing for the erection of durable headstones over the graves of soldiers of the regular and volunteer forces of the United States whose remains are interred in the National Military Cemeteries. This law has been carried out, and the graves of the Nation's dead in these cemeteries are now permanently marked. At the instance of the War Department, Congress has recently authorized the erection of similar headstones over the graves of the Union soldiers who are buried in private and village cemeteries. This will be done as soon as necessary arrangements can be made. In the meantime the Quartermaster General, at Washington, will at once proceed to collect the necessary information as to where the headstones are required.

All persons having any knowledge of the burial places of soldiers in private cemeteries whose graves are not marked, are requested to communicate the fact to the Quartermaster General, and give regiment, company, and date of death of deceased, if known. Similar information is desired from parties in charge of such cemeteries. Of course it is not intended to furnish headstones for graves over which monuments have already been erected by relatives or friends of the deceased.

A handsome income for an energetic lady or gentleman: The Ohio Scale Works of Cincinnati have just patented and are now introducing to the public a Handsome finished Family Scale, an article that has always been needed in every household, and in a communication addressed to the publishers of this paper the proprietors ask us to refer them to some reliable party, to introduce it for them to the people of this County. It is very seldom that a new article steps so suddenly into universal favor. Housekeepers are loud in its praise, it is always ready, there are no weights to get lost or to be hunted up, is reliable, and will not get out of order. The description of them is a handsome base surmounted by a column in which works a spiral spring so scientifically adjusted as to weigh anything up to twelve pounds with perfect accuracy, on the top of the column is the platform on which the articles to be weighed are placed, and they have an adjustable indicator so that you can take the tare of any vessel you may use in weighing, giving you the exact net weight. Housekeepers at once see their value in weighing fruits, sugars and other ingredients used in preserving, cooking etc., or in testing the weights of purchases to others. The Scales are made of Brass, are highly polished and are finished in a skillful manner. They are very attractive and take the eye of every one who sees them.

It seems to us that nearly every family in this county will want one, and is certainly a rare opportunity for some smart and energetic party to pick up quite a nice little income during the next few months. The Company has agents in other counties who are easily making from $5.00 to $6.00 per day selling them, and we would recommend parties in need of employment to drop the Ohio Scale Works, No. 125 and 127 Central Ave., Cincinnati, O., a Postal Card and all information etc., will be cheerfully given them by mentioning this paper.
