

FOR THE FAIR SEX.

Women Lawyers.

In 1871 Phoebe Cousins and Sarah Kilgore were admitted, the first from the law department of Washington University, in St. Louis, and the last from the law school of Michigan University. At last comes Sarah Kilgore, who had added Westman to her name, was practicing in Indianapolis, Ind.

In 1873 Georgie Snow was admitted to the Utah bar, and Mrs. Clara A. Nash to the bar in Maine. In this year, or the following, Mrs. Helen Lockwood began practice in Washington, D. C. Miss Snow for a long time did a large notarial business in Salt Lake City and is supposed to be similarly engaged at present. Mrs. Nash is practicing in Portland, Me., in an office with her husband, Mrs. Lockwood's recent successes are fresh in the minds of all. She does business largely in the Court of Claims, Washington.

In 1873 five ladies were admitted—Annette and Florence Cronisey of Tiffin, O.; Alta M. Hulett, of Chicago; Charlotte E. Ray, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Raper of Ann Arbor, Mich. Annette and Florence Cronisey were in partnership in practice for three or four years, when Miss Annette married. Both are still in practice in Tiffin, the first in an office with her husband, Mr. Sutes, and the latter by herself. Miss Hulett's success and history are well known to Chicago people. Starting at the early age of nineteen in practice, she had at the time of her death at twenty-two—an age just beginning their work—achieved a high degree of success. She died in California in 1877, of inherited consumption. Miss Ray has practiced in Washington, D. C. She is a graduate of Harvard University Law School. Miss Raper was admitted upon completing the law course in Michigan University. She does not practice, but gives her entire attention to advocating temperance and woman suffrage.

In 1874 Lavinia Goodell was admitted and has since practiced in Janesville, Wis. She has recently associated with her in practice Miss Angie King, under the firm name of Goodell & King.

In 1875 M. Fredrick Perry and Ellen A. Martin were admitted from Michigan University Law School to the Michigan bar. Miss Perry was admitted to the Illinois bar in the same year, and Miss Martin in January, 1876. They have both been in practice in Chicago since admission, are in partnership under the firm name of Perry & Martin.

In the summer of 1875 Bessie Eaglesfield, who had just finished the junior year of the literary course in Michigan University, was admitted by courtesy in Terre Haute, and she was not prepared for practice and the proposition for her admission was a surprise to her. She finished her literary course and then spent two years upon the study of law, and began practice in Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1878.

In 1876 Mrs. Mary E. Foster, a graduate from Michigan University Law School, began to practice, and still practices in Ann Arbor, Mich.

In 1877 Martha Angis Dorset was admitted in Minnesota. She was probably admitted in Iowa, where she attended law school the year previous.

In 1878 Agnes Scott, of Tiffin, O., and Miss Merrill, of Chicago, were admitted in their respective States. Miss Merrill graduated from the law school in Chicago.

In 1878 two caedes were admitted from the law school in Iowa, and are now patiently learning the details of practice in a law office. Their names are not at hand.

In 1879 there have been so far three women admitted—Miss Angie King and Miss Kane, of Janesville, and Mrs. Clara S. Polz, of California. Miss King is Miss Goodell's partner. Miss Kane has located in Milwaukee and Mrs. Polz in San Francisco.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster practices in Clinton, Ia. The writer has no data to fix the time of her admission, but understands that she has been several years admitted. Besides those referred to, there are at least two more who have at some time been admitted in Iowa, whose names are not known to the writer. These are in addition to the two mentioned as admitted in 1878.

Thus it will be seen that at least twenty-six women have been admitted to the bar in the United States, not less than seventeen of whom are in active practice. Others have studied law and completed courses in law schools, but being unconnected with practice and unadmitted, their names are not given.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

STRANGE IF TRUE.

A Doctor has a Remarkable Mental Vision—The Murderer and his Victim.

The San Francisco Chronicle publishes an interview with a noted physician of that city who is the possessor of a peculiar order of mental power, in which he relates the following experience:

"It was in the fall of 1851, in the days of primitive morality and laxer justice in San Francisco. I had been but a few months in the city, and had become moderately established in my practice. Early one morning I was called to attend a man who had attained some prominence as a speculator and operator in real estate. He had been discovered lying upon the floor of his lodgings in a dying condition from half a dozen knife wounds, the horrible instrument of his death still remaining where it had last been thrust into his body to the left, penetrating through the right lung. There were evidences of a desperate struggle having occurred before the unfortunate man yielded to his fate. He was entirely unconscious in the spasmodic gasps of death, and he breathed his last in a very few moments after I reached the spot. As his last breath went out I became conscious of a new and mysterious presence, and my mind seemed to pass under the control of a superior mental power. I yielded a passive obedience to the influence, and immediately the scene of a death struggle passed before my mental eye. It seemed for an instant as if I was myself engaged in a mortal combat with the murderer. With one hand my assailant held a suffocating grip upon my throat, while with the other, he plunged the deadly knife again and again into my body. I saw his clenched teeth, and his fierce, cruel eyes gleaming into mine with the malignity of a demon. Such were the force and horror of the impression that I staggered and fell, as if in a faint. The bystanders, who were inured to sanguinary scenes, supposed that I had been overcome by the spectacle of the murdered man, and their comments were anything but complimentary to my nerve and experience as a physician. But the cool and careful manner in which I subsequently performed the autopsy dissipated what might have been a fatal suspicion cast upon my professional capacity. I found the marks of clenched fingers upon the throat of the murdered man. I knew that I had beheld and experienced the incidents of his death-struggle precisely as they were impressed upon my own mind. The stout, burly man of my vision, full whiskered, with a red kerchief tied loosely about his neck, and that fierce, fiendish glow of countenance, I could never forget. But I did not recognize the man, and in those days suspicion was not safe, based even upon better foundation than the pretensions of a soothsayer. I did not care to hazard either my life or my professional reputation in a manner that could accomplish no good purpose.

"Years after the occurrence, in the early part of the '60s, I was returning from a trip to the East, when I met a gentleman on the steamer on my way up from Panama. He came aboard at one of the Mexican ports, accompanied by one or two others. Acquaintances were speedily made, and the usual sociability on shipboard was cultivated. One evening we were seated at a game of whist, and the gentleman I specially refer to had taken a hand as my partner. I was leading out a suit, and incidentally looked across the table to catch an inspiration from the countenance of my partner. Instantly a spell came upon me. The features of the gentleman assumed a malignant expression; his full gray beard was restored to a sable hue; he had on a slouch hat, a black handkerchief, a red shirt—it was the horrible incarnation of my vision, standing beside the murdered man. The shock overcame me, and I reeled limp and helpless from my chair. A glass of water revived me, and a disposition to sudden attacks of vertigo was the explanation I gave to the sympathizing group. The following morning the gentleman approached me while leaning upon the rail and accosted me with cordial salutation. 'Have we not met before?' he inquired. 'Just as you were taken ill last evening I seemed to catch a sudden glimpse of familiarity in your countenance.' 'I do not know,' I replied; 'were you in San Francisco in '51?' 'Yes—not as I recollect,' he again stammered. 'I was looking in his face again; his features seemed again to gather that horrible distortion of malignity; it held me as the fascination of a serpent, and with a desperate effort I turned away in hurried flight. No explanation was asked or made on either side. I have met the gentleman often since—a wealthy and respected person—but there seems to be a repulsive force between us, and of mutual accord we keep aloof. Do we know each other's minds? I cannot tell.'

Stimulate the sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus removing, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel is the organs of excretion. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefited by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effects of the Bitters, which furthermore corrects disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

The Cultivation of Roses.

"Roses are the checks, and a rose her lips."

The best way for ladies to cultivate this rare species of roses is by studying and practicing the rules of hygiene, as taught in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, only $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Grand Invalide Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If suffering from those painful weaknesses incident to the female organism, use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a never-failing remedy for these complaints.

Carefully avoid the use of rasping cathartics. They weaken the bowels and leave them worse off than before. Use, instead, that salutary, non-irritating aperient and anti-bilious medicine, Dr. Mott's Vegetable Liver Pills, which will not only achieve the desired object, relaxation of the bowels, without causing pain or weakening them, but promote digestion and assimilation and depurate the blood. The pills are sold by all druggists.

For coughs, cold and throat disorders use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years. Twenty-five cents a box.

Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs are certainly the best of this class of instruments in the world, and at the prices at which they are sold, which are only a little higher than those of very poor organs, they are also cheapest.

The Cultivation of Roses.

"Roses are the checks, and a rose her lips."

The best way for ladies to cultivate this rare species of roses is by studying and practicing the rules of hygiene, as taught in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, only $1.50. Address the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Grand Invalide Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If suffering from those painful weaknesses incident to the female organism, use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a never-failing remedy for these complaints.

Carefully avoid the use of rasping cathartics. They weaken the bowels and leave them worse off than before. Use, instead, that salutary, non-irritating aperient and anti-bilious medicine, Dr. Mott's Vegetable Liver Pills, which will not only achieve the desired object, relaxation of the bowels, without causing pain or weakening them, but promote digestion and assimilation and depurate the blood. The pills are sold by all druggists.

For coughs, cold and throat disorders use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years. Twenty-five cents a box.

Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs are certainly the best of this class of instruments in the world, and at the prices at which they are sold, which are only a little higher than those of very poor organs, they are also cheapest.

Stimulate the sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus removing, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel is the organs of excretion. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefited by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effects of the Bitters, which furthermore corrects disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.
