Harrisburg Letter.

HARRISBURG, May 31, 1879. The Free Pipe Bill which passed the House has been defeated by the Senate committee. Local Option was not reached. For the benefit of some of your readers, who may not know, would state that each Bill reported favorably from committee, takes its place on the calendar, and follows in regular order. Unless the rules are suspended, which takes two-thirds vote, one objection will prevent bringing any Bill under consideration out of order. Watched as carefully as this was, it was impossible to reach it, though often attempted. Its friends were quite hopeful that it would pass the House if reached.

The Appropriations are being carefully watched by both Houses. Nearly all have been cut down and many defeated entirely. The Insane Asylum at Warren gets $125,000 of the $200,000 asked for to complete the building. The aggregate of appropriations this year will be very much less than usual. The committee to investigate the Statuary expenses report a louse way in doing business, which looseness has descended through many years. It also shows much less expense in that direction this year than common. A Bill has been introduced that will remedy the evil.

In the Senate the Revenue Bill has been reported without any tax on oil. It continues the tax on anthracite coal at 3 cents per ton, as at present, and cuts down bituminous to 1 cent per ton; increases the tax on Banks and Limited Partnerships. It is thought by carefully watching the appropriations, and the saving of the expense of a Legislature next Winter this Revenue Bill will provide sufficient to keep the wheels in motion.

Should it be defeated the old revenue bill would be in force, which is more severe in its tax on coal, and will raise about the same amount. In neither case will oil be taxed.

It will interest many in Forest County to know a Bill to prevent Refiners raising their refuse into the streams has passed the House.

On Thursday evening the Riot Investigating Committee made their report—signed by all the members except the Chairman, Gatchell, who was away sick, but signified his willingness to join in it by telegram. An unusual silence pervaded the House while being read by the Clerk, Hahn. It finds W. F. Rumberger, member from Armstrong, E. J. Petroff and Geo. F. Smith, members from Philadelphia, guilty of corrupt solicitations. Chas. B. Salter, an ex-member from Philadelphia, Jesse R. Crawford and W. H. Kemble were also found guilty of the same offense. A move to expel the members implicated will doubtless be made next week, and some of your readers may know the result by the time this reaches them.

Gov. Hoyt, with about eighty members of the Legislature, went to Gettysburg yesterday to attend the decoration of the soldiers graves in the National Cemetery. Here sleep 3,500 of our Nation's brave defenders, on the very hill where the tide of battle turned. Forest county is represented among them. This was one of the pivotal battles. When, after three days' terrific fighting, Lee, with his shattered army was driven back, the fortunes of the Rebel Confederacy began to wane, from which there was no recovery. How many a poor fellow sleeps there a sacrifice to the rebel power that attempted to destroy the nation.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29, '79. There are signs that the Democratic revolution is going to pieces. The general discontent manifested everywhere at the persistent efforts of the Confederates to engraft their old state rights dogma on the Government is having its effect. The expensive and wholly useless extra session; the effort to abolish the civil authority of the national Government entirely; the threat of reducing the Army by the stoppage of recruiting and promotions; the despotism manifested to make lawful fraud and violence at elections; the enormous jobs proposed to restore to the South what it lost by the war; the scheme to prevent causes from being appealed to the Federal courts; the hint of repudiation and dishonesty in finances;—all these have disgusted the country, and the country is making itself felt even to the average Democratic member of Congress. The vote of the House Ways and Means Committee in favor of adjourning on June 10th, is but the expression of a desire to get through with a bad job, and this probably means the passage of the appropriation bills and a square back down of the hunkers.

The silver bill passed by the House I think has hastened this action of the Ways and Means Committee. It is a dangerous measure, and a great many who are in favor of free coinage of silver and a double standard of values begin to see that this bill would set speculators wild and hurt the credit of the Government to an alarming extent. Many Democrats in the Senate, knowing that the Republicans are ready to take hold of this as a good campaign slogan if it shall be passed by the Senate also, are anxious for a speedy termination of the session in order to nip this bill. The country however will take notice that it is not the damage it would do the country which they desire to avoid but the damage to the Democratic party. The steadiness with which Republicans stand out against all such Democratic iniquities is all that prevents a vast deal of mischief.

The third veto message of President Hayes against the revolutionary schemes of the Confederates is to be read to them in the House to-day. It relates to the general appropriation bill and its riders abolishing the test oath for jurors, the election supervisors and U. S. Marshals. It is as radical as the most stalwart Republicans could desire, and a dose such as the Democrats will not care to repeat many times.
