REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

In pursuance of a resolution of the members of the Republican County Committee, at a meeting held at Tionesta, May 19th 1879, it is ordered that the Republican voters of the county meet at their respective places for holding primary elections on SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1879, at 2 o'clock P. M., to nominate:

One person for Associate Judge.

One person for District Attorney.

One person for Coroner.

One person for County Surveyor.

The polls will remain open until 7 o'clock p. m. Each election precinct will elect one person as a member of the County Committee for the ensuing year.

The meeting of the Return Judges will be held at the Court House, in Tionesta Borough, on the following Tuesday, to-wit: The 1st, day of July, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Republicans will remember that the grand skirmish will take place before the great battle of 1880. Sentinels upon the Republican watch-tower of Forest County, awake! Why stand ye all the day idle? The skirmish must and will be won.

E. L. DAVIS,

Chairman Rep. Co. Com.

Tionesta, May 27, 1879.

THE Rules governing the Republican Primary elections will be found in another column of to-day's paper. It is customary at this time to publish them, that election officers may refer to them and post themselves, that they may make no mistakes. We hope the Republican voters as well as the officers of election will read the rules carefully and be governed accordingly. Our Primary Elections take place one week from next Saturday, 28th, inst., and we hope and expect to see every Republican in the county turn out on that day and cast his ballot for the man of his choice, and when the election is over, whether his man has been successful or not, we shall expect to see him turn in and help to elect the choice of the party in November. The office of Associate Judge is the only one over which there will be any struggle at the Primaries, and as the gentlemen who are candidates for said office are both excellent men, and are quietly and conscientiously fighting it out between themselves, there will be no hard feelings engendered, or sores to heal up after the election is over, and the defeated candidate, like any honest and true Republican, will pull of his coat and work for his successful opponent. There will be no sore-heads in the matter--there is too much man about either of them for that.

The Democrats and Greenbackers will put forth their greatest efforts in the coming campaign to defeat the Republicans, and while we have no fear of that, we would warn our friends to be ever on their guard, and never tire of advocating the grand and glorious principles and achievements of the Republican party, and keeping them intact. Let every Republican in Forest County, then, be at the polls on the 28th and vote.

Our northern contemporary, the National, blames us for being personal. We want to ask who commenced the attack? Who commenced the attack? The National does not take so much exception to the course of the REPUBLICAN as to its editor. It, for some reason or other, don't like him. Perhaps we are a little personal, but it can't be helped in this case; because, if you happen to mention any little bit of cussedness, or anything of the sort, the editor of the National is sure to take it up as "a personal fling at him." He says the reason he was not nominated by the Republicans was "because he was opposed to rings and monopolies." That's a mistake. It was because he couldn't make the honest voters believe it. He says our arguments against the greenbackers are that they are soreheads and demagogues. We argue no such thing. Some of those in the greenback party, we have no doubt, are there through principle--because they conscientiously believe in greenback doctrine. Others are in the greenback ranks through merely selfish motives--because they are soreheads, or are expecting some political favors. For the first mentioned one can entertain a feeling of respect; for the second class nothing but the utmost contempt. The editor of the National, we say without fear of contradiction, is of the second class, and though he may live in Forest county all his days, and conduct himself as he pleases, he can never make even his warmest friend believe otherwise. But if you expect to pick us up whenever we choose to slur or ridicule the greenbackers, or expose their fallacies, you will have your hands full, as we propose to say a great deal during the ensuing campaign, and we shall say it without fear or favor, let it hit whom it may.

Our Washington Letter.

Special to the REPUBLICAN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12, '79.

The Army appropriation bill again passed the House yesterday, this time without the repealing clauses, so called, but with the prohibition of troops at the polls but in the form of denying pay or expenses for transportation for such purposes. It was merely a thin cover for a very manifest back down on the part of the Confederates. It was, as Gen. Hawley said, an incumbrance only, and therefore of no effect. The Republicans tried to strike out the objectionable paragraph, of course without success, for the democratic caucus is still King, and then they voted for it almost unanimously. Of course the prohibition lasts as long as the appropriation bill holds good, or until June 30, 1880, and it is for manifest reasons without practical force, as it is without purpose except to cover a very bad case of political failure. The Democrats are welcome to all the comfort they can extract from it, and the Republicans will go on reaping the fruits of the democratic conspiracy to break down the Army, even though it failed ignominiously.

The House having passed the general appropriation bill the other day, leaving out the judiciary so that something might be left to tack the political appendages to. On Tuesday a "supplemental bill" was presented containing the appropriations for the Courts, together with clauses prohibiting payment of election of supervisors and deputy marshals. The reason that this was so presented was that the pay of the Confederate Congress depends upon the general appropriation bill, and the leaders are afraid that this supplemental part will be vetoed. The relief patriots are determined to get their own pay whatever happens, and this is about the extent of their statesmanship. Having provided for that, now they are nearly ready to go home. Hence they force through the supplemental bill with the objectionable hobbles all attached, and then rush through a resolution for adjournment on the 17th inst. The Senate will therefore have it in its power to pass that resolution on the heels of the supplemental bill, and then say to the President, "we give you support for the Army and judiciary in our own way and you can vote it if you choose; its all you will get." The democratic caucus has probably fixed this policy, and the self styled "independent democrats" will probably sustain it. Perhaps the President will not think it worth while to contend with them, since there are no Congressional elections this year to be affected by this legislation, and as no laws will be repealed thereby, and only suspended for one year.

The Hon. Ben. Hill made his long promised speech yesterday in reply to Senator Blaine's exposure of his disloyal record and the hallowness of all Southern professions of loyalty. He didn't, however, meet the charge of Senator Blaine that he voted for secession in the Georgia convention. Mr. Blaine will reply to him in a day or two, and will take occasion to expose the fallacy of the Confederate explanation relative to the literature of the South. Whenever it has been charged that school-books containing unpatriotic sentiment were used in the South, the rebel Senators have said that those books were the product of the war, and published during the war, but that none such were being issued now. Senator Blaine has in his possession advance sheets of books to be published shortly containing an evil sentiment as the worst of them, and he will make it warm for the Confederates who deny so much.

The Greenbackers are sad. They were signally defeated in the Senate in the effort to get consideration of the silver bill. The Senate would not even vote to take it up or set a time to consider it. All financial agitation is therefore dead for this session, and has not a very good prospect for next winter, although after election some democrats may manifest a little more courage in pushing their inflation-repudiation schemes.

The trick to steal Senator Kellogg's seat has entrapped its inventors. Spofford claimed the seat because he was elected by the White Line legislature of La., but as his claim was slender, he made charges of bribery against Kellogg. Every witness he brings here, however, has testified that corruption was on the other side. Not even the Senatorial rebels will dare to steal this seat probably, and thus the Republicans may have hope of recovering the Senate in 1881.
