LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

—Rev. A. O. Stone will preach in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening.

M. E. Sunday School at 10 o'clock a. m., and Presbyterian Sunday School at 3 o'clock p. m.

—Next Friday, 21st, will be the shortest day in the year.

—Thanksgiving one week from tomorrow. Turkeys take warning.

—Mr. Jas. Carson has removed to the house lately occupied by Mrs. Walters, across the creek.

—The party which was to take place at the Lawrence House to-night (Wednesday) has been indefinitely postponed.

—Supt. G. M. Kepler, of the Mill-erstown Oil Co., has been in town for a few days past looking after the interests of his company.

—Bogardus defeated Kerstetter in the glass ball match at Bradford yesterday; the former breaking 990 out of 1,000, and the latter 870.

—Make your remembrance to the poor practical and substantial. Put your charitable thoughts into execution. Send us a thanksgiving turkey.

—Mr. T. C. Jackson now occupies the Holeman house, formerly owned by Judge J. G. Dale, and Mr. L. Agnew is now landlord-in-chief of the Central House.

—The case of Forest County vs. Harmony township, argued by M. W. Tate for the county in the Supreme Court at its last session, was decided in favor of Forest County.

—Young Saltgiver is still living, and there are some hopes of his recovery. If he should get well he will be minus several ounces of brain. His case is a puzzling one, indeed.

—Owing to the severe illness of Rev. Elliott's daughter, Miss Mary, he was unable to fulfill his appointment here last Sabbath, and there was consequently no preaching in the Presbyterian Church.

—John Halliday, of Panther Rock, was in town Saturday, and squared up his subscription with his usual promptness. John has had a good many ups and downs in life but is disposed to take the world about as she comes.

—A telegram having been received that Harl. Adams, who was taken down with the Bradford fever some three weeks ago, was worse, his parents started for that place yesterday morning. He is said to be in a critical state.

—The Bradford Era says that Forest county will be the coming oil field. —Meadville Republican. Not exactly. It was the Herald that called the attention of the oil trade to the petroleum beds that probably underlie that county. —Titusville Herald.

—Oil is on a most terrible boom at present, it having closed at $1.18 1/2 on Tuesday. The price ran up as high as $1.20 at one time during the day. It is predicted that it will reach $1.50 before the first of January, and that it will not go below $1.00 again this winter.

—The new stave mill of Derickson & Co., at Hunter's station is about completed, and will steam up in a few days. A great many bolts are already piled about the mill. The railroad company will put in an extra switch at that place for the accommodation of the mill.

—The suggestion of our Stewart's Run correspondent that Forest county organize an agricultural society is a most excellent one, and should receive the careful consideration of our farmers. There is nothing so conducive to the farming interests of any county as a good agricultural society, and now is the time to agitate the subject.

—There will be a shooting match in Tionesta next Saturday, 22d, which all are cordially invited to take in. About 40 turkeys and as many more chickens will be put up, which will enable all to get a supply. The match will begin early, and no one should miss it who wants a thanksgiving fowl.

—Colonel J. W. H. Reisinger, of the Meadville Republican, and J. E. Wenk of the Forest Republican were in the city yesterday. We did not meet them, but the proprietor of a wholesale liquor store assured us they were here. —Derick. If that's the way the wholesalers "give a fellow away" down there, the retailers will get our patronage hereafter.

—Having occasion to visit Oil City last Friday, we boarded one of Mr. Jackson's rafts in the morning, and worked (?) our way to that place, arriving there about one o'clock. At the start the weather was fair, and gave indications of a pleasant day's run, but about nine o'clock a heavy rain set in which drove us away from the oar on which we were pulling with Charlie Bonner, and we took to the shanty. Being only a passenger we concluded we had earned our dinner and ride, and so didn't come out again, until it had ceased raining, which was not until the raft had nearly reached the City, where it tied up for the night.

While in the city we made several new acquaintances, among which were Mr. J. M. Grosh, whom everybody recognizes as the popular ticket agent, a position he has filled for many years with credit to himself and the best of satisfaction to the company and the traveling public.

That host of hosts W. H. Roth, of the National Hotel, better known "Bill" Roth, was another of our new acquaintances. No one ever stopped at his hotel and went away dissatisfied with the hospitalities or attentions shown them. He is a great lover of the rod and gun, as one can see at a glance, while passing his place and gazing at the numerous specimens of game so tastefully exhibited. When in Oil City stop at the National, and our word for it you will be well cared for.

Having a little business at Supt. Wilson's office we called there and found his clerk, Mr. E. H. Witter at our service, ready to accommodate and answer all questions in a most gentlemanly manner. While there we also met Mr. C. B. Evans, whose acquaintances we made some time ago at the pigeon roost on Little Tionesta. Mr. Evans is a brother-in-law of Supt. Wilson, and his confidential clerk. He is passionately fond of gunning, and promises to come up and take a hunt on the first good tracking snow.

At Mayer's establishment we met Mr. Ulrich, who takes delight in showing visitors around, not forgetting the "bottling works," underneath the store. For fear some of our readers might not understand what the bottling works are, we will state that that is where beer is taken from the keg and put into patent bottles, of which process we might give a description but for lack of space and time. Suffice it to say, it is done very rapidly. Mr. Ulrich informed us that their objects managed to keep up to their orders except when the Derick force lit down on them, which frequently put them several days behindhand.

It is needless to say that Oil City was "booming," for with oil at a dollar and rapidly advancing how could it be otherwise. Every one you met seemed to wear a pleasant smile and have an air of satisfaction about them that betokened their hearty appreciation of the return of good times. Oil City has always been and will continue to be the hub of oildom.

—We learned last week of the death of Mr. Wm. Patterson of Howe township, which occurred on the 13th of October, 1879. Mr. Patterson settled in Forest county, (then Jefferson) about 45 years ago, and was, therefore, one of the earliest pioneers. He built a house of cherry timber, with a cherry puncheon floor, in which he lived until his death, his nearest neighbor being about four miles distant at the time of his death. He was a soldier of 1812, and was always very highly respected by his acquaintances and neighbors. He was the father-in-law of our old friend and patron Thomas Porter. Mr. Patterson was 86 years old when he died, and during his life passed through many scenes and incidents which would make an interesting chapter were they written up. Peace to his ashes.

—The heavy rains of last week were a boom to our lumbermen. All the lumber at the mouth of the creek—nearly four million feet—was run to market. As the price has advanced about three dollars on a thousand the lumbermen have cause to feel elated. It will be the means of setting several thousand dollars afloat in this county during the coming winter, and the effects of the great business boom will be felt here as well as in other localities. The hard times are at an end in this country, and we have reason to believe that no man who wants it need be out of work any length of time.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.—In Tionesta Pa., Post Office, Wednesday, Nov. 19, 1879: Mrs. Mary A. Morgan, Charley Hives, S. S. Truman 3, E. H. Williams, Samuel J. James 4. All not called for within four weeks will be sent to the Dead Letter Office. J. M. McKAY, P. M.

—A new time table went into effect on the P. T. & B. R., on Monday, but we did not get the schedule in time to make the correction this week. The change, which is slight, is only temporary and the table will probably be changed again in a week or two. Trains pass this station as follows: Up river, 7:02 a. m., 2:46 and 4:07 p. m.; down river, 11:20 a. m., 2:07 and 8:29 p. m. Full correction next week.

—The Brookville Republican says: "The prospects of a large business in the woods this winter continues, and already a number of jobs have commenced. We understand that an advance will be allowed workmen in their wages generally, which seems to be fair, the indications being that lumber will be worth an advance of three to five dollars per thousand next season." The same suggestions may be applied to this county. If lumber is going to be worth from $3 to $5 more in the spring it is but fair that there should be an advance in wages.

—We quote the following from a private letter to a citizen of this place, from a prominent leader in the Republican party: "We do not think it strange that the Greenbackers carried this county, because our county is so isolated from the general current of our nation's political doings, that it was in ignorance that the grand old Republican party had carried everything, and that the Greenback party filled it's own grave, which it dug a year ago. We think ere long our Forest county Greenback friends will 'see the error of their ways,' and with humility of spirit and great penitence, return to their father's house, (the Republican party), but will not be received as the 'Prodigal of Old,' i. e., the fatted calf will not be killed."

—Morris Einstein had bad luck with his lumber which he started for Pittsburgh last Friday morning. Judge Dale had run the raft as far as Big Sandy and landed it safely. Charley McCray came along with a raft just at dusk, and in attempting to land knocked Einstein's raft loose which went on down the river with but three men and one oar to guide it. It soon became so dark that the men could do nothing with the raft, and striking Foxburg piers about midnight it broke into a half dozen pieces, leaving the men scattered about on the different pieces. Seeing they could do no more with it, and that their lives were in imminent danger, the men jumped off leaving the lumber go to sticks. The raft contained about 175,000 feet of lumber, of which one-half may be saved. One of the men was obliged to swim ashore, and narrowly escaped drowning.

—The "Life and Travels of General U. S. Grant," by Hon. J. T. Headley, is one of the finest books now being offered to the American people. It furnishes a complete history of one of the greatest men now living; also an account of his recent "Journey Around the World." It is a book of nearly 900 pages, giving a large number of beautiful illustrations of battle scenes, and views of the most interesting points of his tour. This book should be in every family that can possibly afford it, as it is hardly probable that another opportunity to procure such a complete history of one of America's most illustrious generals and statesmen will ever present itself again. Mr. John Heath, of Star P. O., has the agency for this county. He has just finished delivering the first order, and will soon commence canvassing for another. If he should call on you do not fail to order the book.

—Peterson's Magazine for December has reached us, and is by odds the handsomest number of the year. The principal steel engraving "The Pet Pigeons," is unusually beautiful, and of course, the colored fashion plates are always of the highest order, and these are no exception. Then there is a pattern in Berlin work for ottoman, chair seat, etc., which is one of the finest we have ever seen. The principal story, together with the other reading matter, make this number one of the best that Peterson has yet issued. Now is the time to subscribe and get up clubs. Terms, $2.00 a year. Chas. J. Peterson, publisher, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Stewart's Run, Jottings.

It seems that this place has been slighted for some time past by your correspondents, but the fact is we still exist.

We hear of the great business boom that is waving over the country, but it does not wave over this section very proudly, and we feel none of its benefits as yet.

Suppose you have heard we have had an election in Harmony; if so, you noticed that the great National Greenback wave did not strike us hard in this neck of woods.

We were glad to see that you noticed the loss sustained by Mr. Demun and family. Mr. Demun is one of our most industrious citizens, and his loss falls heavily upon him. They had, by hard labor, furnished their house both tastily and comfortably, and had plenty laid by for the winter, but they are like Burn's mouse—turned out without house or home. But kind hearts were opened to them, and they will soon be all living together, ready to give a hearty welcome to all their friends who sympathized and aided them. We say that aid given them is worthily bestowed.

The Wesleyans have services in their church every four weeks, by Rev. Jas. Spear. Services in the school house once in two weeks by Rev. Martin; he is a new man for us.

Our school is presided over by Miss Kerr who gives good satisfaction.

C. E. Landers teaches the Allender school.

Rufe Copeland has fallen heir to the old homestead, and we see he is planting a young orchard, and making some substantial improvements. Artemus Handy is buying out the other heirs and fixing up the old farm, I guess, for a permanent home.

J. J. Range has out quite a large amount of wheat, which is looking well.

Juo Thompson is improving slowly. He is not as active as he was before his sickness.

Some of our old neighbors that moved to Kansas some years ago write that this year they have had a most splendid harvest and got good prices. They feel quite elated over their success.

"Killin'" time will soon be here. If you want pork steak and "sassage" come out this way, and you will be treated to buckwheat cakes and sassage till you can't rest.

Some of our boys thought they would kill a few deer while the snow lasted, just for family use, but not a deer did they get. They are scarce on this side of the river.

Would it not be a benefit to the farmers of Forest county to organize an Agricultural Society to meet and compare experiments, and sometime in the future hold a Fair and see what we can produce? Other counties have such institutions; why not Forest? What say you, farmers? It can be done; all we want is this thing agitated a little to insure its success.

VENTURE.

—Go to G. W. Bovards for Mrs. Freeman's New National Dyes. For brightness and durability of color they are unequalled. Color 2 to 6 lbs., price 15 cents. 33-1y.

—To enumerate the miraculous cures wrought by "Dr. Sellers Cough Syrup" would fill a volume. Its cures are marvelous. Price 25 cents. For sale by Bovard. 34 2t.

Pinegrove Squibs.

Pinegrove Twp., Venango Co., Polled one greenback vote.

—Pheasants are very plenty in this section. Squirrels are very scarce. Deer are about as plenty as usual; i. e., rating one deer to every 75 hunters.

Crops are all taken care of in this section,—corn husked, 'aters dug, and saur-kraut made, as usual for the German element of Pinegrove.

There is quite an excitement among the excitable over the finding of a stone which resembles a human arm and part of the hand. Some aver that it's a petrified arm of some "big injun," while others think it is petrified wood—the latter I think is correct. It is evidently part of a limb or the trunk of a fur Palm, of which numerous specimens are found in this locality.

Sir Bruin put in an appearance in the eastern part of the township, and some think they have lost some sheep since they heard of his appearance. W. R. X.

—The December number of Bal-lou's Magazine is just issued, and makes a very handsome appearance in its new form, new type, rules, headlines, and engravings. It is the best number that was ever issued, with heavy white paper, wider columns, and all that goes to make up a first-class monthly. The patrons of the magazine will be delighted, and those who have not seen it for some time should procure a copy, and then subscribe, or buy it regular at the news depots. In the December number is a piece of music which is worth more than the price of the magazine, and will be a great favorite with piano-forte players and vocalists. Published by Thomas & Talbot, 23 Hawley St., Boston, Mass., at $1.50 per annum.
