BROPSY-The Odd Fellows' building and four adjoin-ing stores were burned at Helena, Ark. Loss, $100,000.

At San Francisco Joseph E. Bowman, a fish dealer, shot Mrs. J. H. Hays and her daughter Annie Carr, inflicting slight wounds, and then blew his own brains out. MissCarr had refused him.

William Davis was executed at Lockhart. Texas, for the murder of Dolly Hudspeth on October 20, 1878. He acknowledged his guilt from the scaffold, and suffered death without evincing any emotion. A large crowd witnessed the hanging.

A house-to-house inspection has been commenced at Memphis under the auspices of the national board of health.

The Best Remedy Known to Man I Dr. Clark Johnson having associated himself with Mr. Edwin Eastman, an excaped captive, long asiave to Wakametkla, the medicine man of the Commonles, is now prepared to lend his aid in the incoduction of the wonderful remedy of that tribe. The experience of Mr. Eastman being similar to that of Mrs. Chas. Jones and son, of Washington (or Jowa, an account of whose sufferings were thritingly narrated in the New Fork Horaid of Dec. 15th, 1878, the facts of which are so widely known, and so nearly parallel, that but little men-tion of Mr. Eastman's experiences will be given here. They are, however, published in a next vol-mention of Mr. Eastman's experiences will be given har of 300 pages, entitled. "Seven and Nine Years Among the Commenches ard Apaches," of which mention will be made hereafter. Suffice it to say, that for several years, Mr. Eastman, while a cap-tive, was compelled to grither the roots, gums, barks, harbs and herries of which Wakametkia's medicine was made, and Is still prepared to pro-sinction of the medicine to the workit and assures when Wakametkla compelled him to make it. As the two hundred hands-mostly boys and girls-employed in the cracker and candy manufactory of J. F. Corle & Son at Kansas City, Mo., were returning to work from dinner one of the walls of the building suddenly tell in with a terrible crash, burying in the ruins nearly one hundred persons. Then the rest of the walls gave way in rapid succession. From within the huge, tumbling wreck issued the terror-stricken occupants, who mingled their screams and shricks with the crash of falling timber and masses of bricks. Hardly had the house tallen before the ruins took fire. The furnaces were in full blast at the time of the accident and the dry building material was like tinder. In the meantime the scene within and about the building was territying in the extreme. In the second story about thirty extreme. In the second story about thirty girls were cut off from the stairs by timbers blocking the doorway. They ran to the win-dows, and before any one could stop them several had jumped to the ground, receiving terrible wounds. At last the door to the stairway was battered down and the girls were released, but not before eight persons had been killed and several more badly injured. The accident is supposed to have resulted from the heavy stock on hand causing the walls to crumble. The building was three stories in height, but of brick, and was erected in 1862. It was considered pertectly safe, and had been in use by the Messrs. Corle two years.

Governor Bishop, of Ohio, has sued the Cincinnati Gazette for libel, claiming $60,000 damages for falsely charging him with a cor-rupt bargain and conspiracy to obtain control of the Cincinnati police board.

Captain Hall with a squad of rangers and several citizens, anticipating an attempt to plunder one Campbell's store, in Atascosa county, Texas, concealed themselves in order to capture the robbers. During the night five men rode up and entered the store. Two of them secured the clerk, while the others bethem secured the clerk, while the others be-gan plundering the store. Hall and his men appeared and demanded the surrender of the robbers. The latter, however, fired on the rangers, wounding one citizen. Hall's men returned the fire, killing one robber, mortally wounding another, and slightly wounding a third. The others escaped.

country been more conspicuous, more manitold or more universal. During the past year, also, unbroken peace with all foreign nations, the general prevalence of domestic tranquility, the supremacy and security of the great insti-tutions of civil and religious freedom, have ginddened the hearts of our people and con-firmed their attactment to their government, which the wisdom and courage of our ancestors so fitly framed, and the wisdom and cour-age of their descendants have so firmly maintained, to be the habitation of liberty and justice for successive generations. Now, therefore, I, Ruthertord B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November instant, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of wor-ship, there to give thanks and praise to Al-mighty God for His mercies, and to devoutly eseech their continuance. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this third day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of the independence of the United States the hundred and fourth.

A Fatal Collision at Sea.

The steamship Champion, of the Charleston line, bound to Charleston, S. C., from New York, was sunk at sea at three o'clock in the morning, after a collision with the English ship Lady Octavia, when thirty miles east of Cape Henlopen, off the mouth of the Delaware river. Of the filty-five persons on board the steamship Champion thirty were drowned. The Champion left her moorings at Pier 27, North river, at five o'clock in the afternoo and had proceeded directly upon her course about 120 miles when, on the following day, the Lady Octavia, bound to New York from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, came into collision with The sea was smooth, the stars were shining brightly in a sky that was almost wholly cloudless, and the moon, which was low in the heavens, was shining faintly. The British vessel was sighted only three minutes before the collision occurred, and three minutes after the collision the Champion lay upon the bottom of the sea. Of the sixteen passen-gers on board only four were saved. The five female passengers were drowned, the only woman saved out of the six on board being Catherine Cross, stewardess. The substance of the narratives of all the survivors shows that the collision occurred in fine weather, a smooth sea, and under the light of the moon and stars. Captain Lockwool, the commander of the Champion, had seen nothing ahead, yet had been away from the pilot house but five minutes when he was called back to find the towering form of a huge ship close upon his vessel. In his absence First Officer Leonard, a careful and veteran seaman, was on the lookout, with an assistant at the wheel. The captain instantly stopped, and then reversed the engines, and, alter giving hurried orders to every subordinate he saw, went himself to the cabin, notified the passengers, scattered life-preservors in their way, and with the vessel's edge almost even with the surface of the sea, continued to direct the lowering of the boats and efforts to save the passengers. The vessel left him on the surface of the water. He did not leave it. The first officer, Leonard, in command when the foreign ship bore down on his vessel, was arowned. It is not believed that the missing passengers left their room, or, at any rate, had time to reach the deck. Every person who was saved had but three minutes' notifiention.

The Nerves as a Source of Trial.

Instand of being a vehicle for agreeable sen-sations some people's nerves are a most distressing endowment. Such sufferers, it will usually be found, are dyspeptic, tack vitality and flesh. What they need is more vigor. There is a means of obtaining it, if they will but avail themselves of that means. It 14 Hostetter's Bitters, a tonic which experience has shown to be of the utmost service to the debilitated, nervous and dyspeptic. Digestion restored upon a permanent basis by the Bit-ters, ministers, as it should, to the wants of the system and its integral parts, of which the nerves are one of the most important, are properly nourished and invigorated. The various functions are thus more actively discharged, and obstacles to a return to health removed by increasing vitality. Instead of nervous prostration, new strength and vitality will be infused into the whole motive machinery.

To be of permanent benefit a medicine must reach the source of the disease. The reason wby Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is so successful in overcoming aerofulous, syphilitic and eruptive complaints, is that it entirely roots out those impurities which give rise to them. The cause of the evil being thus removed and the normal purity of the circula-tion restored, the skin resumes its original clearness and sores and pimples disappear. Sold by all druggists.
