How's this for winter? A foot of snow this morning. Hoopla!

Now's your time, girls; good sleighing. Needs't look before you leap.

Genial Steve Vanderlin dropped in on us a few minutes yesterday, on his way home from Bradford.

Mr. E. E. James, one of Tidioute's most prominent and highly respected citizens died on Monday evening, Jan. 26.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Cobber school was closed for a few days last week. She resumed teaching yesterday morning.

As yet no candidates for office at the spring elections have shown their nubs, but they'll probably be plenty enough when the time comes.

We heard fifteen fellows say yesterday morning, "Oh I told you so; I knew we'd have lots of snow yet, and here it is." Good prophets, these.

We sincerely hope none of our hunters will meet with serious injuries by being run over with deer while out hunting foxes on this beautiful snow.

The ground-hog came out, on Monday according to programme, and after taking a good look at his shadow, crawled back into his winter quarters; hence this foot of beautiful snow.

The jury sustained the original will in the Hunter will case at Erie on Tuesday of last week, but knocked the supplement, or codicil, into smithereens. A new trial was asked for immediately.

Mrs. S. J. Wolcott will please accept the thanks of the REPUBLICAN office for a choice lot of the Silver Wedding cake. It was a very delicious article, and was put away with neatness and dispatch.

A couple of small rafts pulled out of the mouth of the creek on Friday bound for the lower market. The first two days were fair, but we fear the storm king has overtaken them ere this. If so they'll fare badly.

The wall on the Hill farm will be sunk to the next sand, or about 400 feet deeper. Mr. Kepler, the Superintendent, has given the contract for drilling it to Mr. S. J. Wolcott, and the work will be rapidly pushed forward.

Our readers will please bear with us this week—and in fact until after court week,—for the lack of reading matter that may be noticeable. After that we expect to unload considerable legal advertising, and will try and fill up with more interesting matter.

St. Valentine day will soon be around, when all who have little grudges to satisfy will have an opportunity to do so in the usual way, and the soft young lady with a sweetheart—this being leap year—can portray her feelings with one of the sentimental kind.

Attention is directed to the card of D. W. Clark, Jr., Insurance Agent, Tidioute, Pa., at the head of this column. As will be seen Mr. Clark has nothing but first-class companies on his list, and those who insure with him can rest assured that their business will be promptly and faithfully attended to.

What a vast difference a little skip of sleighing makes in the appearance of men and business. If it continues a few weeks it will help our citizens out wonderfully, and teams will be demand; bolt and stave hauling will be resumed, and our mills, which have been idle for lo, these many weeks, will again start up and give employment to numberless idle men. Let us pray for a continuance.

Jefferson county lumbermen who got square timber to the Pittsburgh market, on the late fresher, received 15 cents per foot for the same. If our lumbermen succeed in getting their lumber to the creek this winter, busy times may be looked for in the spring.

The revivals at the M. E. and F. M. churches are still in progress, and show no abatement in interest and attendance. Both societies express themselves determined to keep on as long as sinners show a desire to flee from the wrath to come.

Robinson Howe, who was tried in Franklin last week for the murder of his father near Pioneer in June last, was found "not guilty" by the jury. This verdict is in accordance with what nine out of ten thought it would be. Now the question is, who did kill the old man?

E. L. Davis Esq., as Senatorial Delegate, and Peter Berry of Fagundas, as Representative Delegate, took their departure for Harrisburg on Monday morning last, where the State Convention meets to-day. Mr. L. Agnew and lady left on the same train, expecting to visit Hon. J. B. Agnew's family for a few days.

The Free Methodist society of this place have decided on building a church here during the coming season. A lot has been purchased of Mr. S. H. Haslet, just below the store, and work will begin as soon as practicable. A paper is being circulated to aid the cause, and it is meeting with a hearty response by all our citizens.

Saturday last H. D. Patch, of Hickory, found a refined oil spring near the mouth of Tubbs Run. He had a carbox of refined oil in his wagon which busted, and the oil all went to waste. Don't think it will effect the market any, but then the Derrick might make a note of it, for the benefit of the producers.

The Teachers' monthly institute which was held here last Saturday was quite well attended. We were not furnished with a report of the proceedings, and are unable to give any account of the affair, but understand all the teachers were well pleased, and expressed a willingness to be on hand at the next meeting.

Geo. Hood was taken with cramps on Wednesday night last, and for several days his condition was considered very critical. The trouble was caused by receiving a severe strain while loading logs on a wagon. He was so bad that eight men were scarcely able to hold him. He is better now, and considered to be out of danger, unless he receives a backset.

The Auditors' Report is published this week, and shows up well for our county. The liabilities of the county are $15,000, while the assets show up $22,353.93. Before another year is passed there is no reason why our outstanding bonds should not be all paid off and money left in the Treasury, thus materially lessening the taxation in the future. On the whole the Report shows a judicious management of the county affairs, at which our citizens may feel justly gratified.

The enlarged Sunday Derrick made its appearance on Sunday last, filled crammed, running over with news. It is now an eight-page 48-column paper, with but three or four columns of advertising—the other columns being filled with fresh and spicy local and general news. A weekly review of the oil market; a complete summary of the week's doings in general and all the latest telegraphic sparks; besides a variety of other matter calculated to suit all tastes, and dished up in a lively and entertaining manner will make the Sunday Derrick take at first sight. Success.

Burglars entered the store of Mr. David Bowman of Tylersburg, on the 19th, ult., and carried off goods and small change to the amount of about a hundred dollars. The thieves proved to be two brothers named Bush, who were arrested and taken to Clarion, where they now languish in the county bastille, awaiting trial. Shortly after the robbery these parties commenced making purchases at Green's store and other places, and paying therefor in small change, such as pennies, nickels, &c., by which they were detected. Search being instituted a great many of the missing articles were found. The parties are said to be hard cases, having been compelled to leave Indiana county some time ago on account of their "crookedness."

Last Saturday afternoon, in company with the staff of the National, we took a trip to West Hickory, where, according to previous arrangements, we had a friendly glass ball shoot with Dr. Shamburg. Getting off the train about a mile below the station, we were met at the gate and made welcome by the pleasant and hospitable Doctor, who lead the party into his elegantly furnished apartments where everything was as cheerful as a refined and cultured taste could make it. After a few moments of pleasant conversation the Doctor took out his guns—three elegant ones, by-the-way—and other shooting paraphernalia, and all repaired to the field and enjoyed a couple of hours in real solid pleasure, after which the party again sought the house, and in a short time were seated at the table partaking of a most bountiful and delicious supper. The crisp air had sharpened the appetites of all and the victuals disappeared very rapidly. Tea over it was about train time, and the Dr., not yet through extending his hospitalities, had his ponies hitched up, and after bidding all "good evening," with a cordial invitation to "come again," we were soon landed at the depot, Master Harry Shamburg handling the ribbons. To say that we had a good time is drawing it very mild—we were never treated better, and never were a set of mortals made more welcome and at home. The Doctor is pleasantly situated at the mouth of West Hickory creek, where he has every convenience one could wish. His wells, of which a large number are pumping, are situated on the Fogle and Manross farms a few miles up the creek from his residence. He will soon have arrangements completed whereby he will have direct telephone communication with Titusville and Tidioute, which will be another great addition to his conveniences. We didn't have an opportunity to converse much in regard to his operations but hope soon to be able to give our readers an idea of what he is doing for the welfare of our county. We hope Dr. Shamburg will accept our thanks for the hospitable and cordial manner in which we were treated on Saturday, and we also hope to be able to reciprocate his kindness at no distant day.

Mr. Jas. Huddleson died on Friday evening, Jan. 30, 1880, at his residence on Hunter's Run, and was buried by the side of his father, in the cemetery of Mt. Zion Church, in Tionesta Twp., on Sunday last. Although the news of his death was almost daily expected for some time, it was received with sorrow by his many friends throughout this neighborhood. His disease is supposed to have been a sort of blood cancer, and for about three months he has been a great sufferer. Mr. Huddleson always bore the respect of his neighbors and acquaintances, being an honest and upright man. He served his time in the late war and was a brave soldier, having received a wound while in the service. Having become truly converted before his death he bore his sufferings with christian fortitude, being resigned to the will of his God; he expressed himself ready to go whenever his Master called. He leaves a wife and four small children to mourn his demise, and these, with the rest of his relatives and friends, have the sympathy of all our people in their sore affliction. Mr. Huddleson's age was 41 years, 4 months and 5 days.

The new M. E. Church at Whig Hill will be dedicated on the 19th, inst., according to notice elsewhere published in this issue. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present on the occasion. People, as a general thing, expect to be bored a good deal for money at a church dedication, but such will not be the case in this instance, as the pastor announces that no collection will be taken up, which fact alone will no doubt draw a crowd. Our Whig Hill friends are to be congratulated upon their efforts.

Mr. A. W. Smiley during the past week has been piloting a company of prominent railroad men from the east, over the proposed extension of the F. St. P. & C. R., from Shippenville to Kane. This route was surveyed last summer by the way of Fryburg, Tylersburg and Marienville, and the road will probably be built this year. As it is but sixty miles across to Kane, a route to the McKean Co., oil fields, and would probably be a profitable investment for the stockholders.—Petrolia Cor. Pittsburgh Leader.

A man named John L. Shaw got off the 2:46 train up yesterday afternoon, and while crossing the bridge slipped and fell in such a manner as to break his right arm midway between the shoulder and elbow. He was taken to the Central House, and Dr. Blaine called, who reduced the fracture and says the patient will get along all right. We did not learn where he was from nor what his business is. Were he a lawyer and should die from the effects of the wound, the following epitaph might be appropriated:

Here lies John Shaw, Attorney-at-law; When he died The devil cried "Give us your paw, John Shaw Attorney-at-law!"

Business at the Recorders' Office. Deeds recorded for the week ending Feb. 2, 1880: Deed, D. W. Clark and wife to Jesse Carson, 100 acres in Tionesta Twp. Consideration $400.

Dutch Hill. STAR, PA., Feb. 2, 1880. Ground-hog day. Revival meetings have been in progress here the last two weeks. The efforts of the church have not been as successful as might be wished. Mr. F. Lomire has closed the lane leading from the road to his house. His neighbors are puzzled to know the cause of this rash act. John Wilber and G. W. Burben are at present cutting bolts for the Ross Run stove mill.

Several copies of some g. b. paper are sent to this office, but the senders would do better to save their money for next fall's campaign, as the voters haven't got so "green" as to be taken in by such two cent campaign bladder-dash papers. OLD BOY.
