Oil 90 5-8c.

Mrs. Nellie Bronson, of Corry, is paying friends in Tionesta a visit.

The stove saw in this place is once more buzzing, after a protracted silence.

Mr. J. F. Grove, of South Oil City, is visiting at his uncle's, Mr. Joseph Grove.

A few more days like the past five or six and the mud will have nearly dried up.

Mr. Robinson is just able to drag himself around again after a severe attack of pleurisy.

Monday, March 1, was the one hundredth anniversary of the abolition of slavery in Pennsylvania.

There is talk of organizing a young men's christian association in this place. Don't let it end in talk, or smoke.

Mr. Wm. Strauchon, Superintendent of the Tom's Run mills, made us a pleasant and substantial call this morning.

The Town Council held a meeting last Saturday night, but we didn't learn the proceedings. They will have one more meeting before their term expires.

Sandy Lake, Mercer county, received a severe scorching on Friday morning last. A loss of $14,500 was sustained. Pretty heavy for a town of its size.

Billions of pigeons are said to be roosting on Little Coon creek, and many "pigeoners" are trying their luck in that section, but it's no go; they won't "hall."

Court fetched up with a jerk last week, virtually adjourning on Wednesday evening, much to the disgust of jurymen who had come a long way expecting to put in a full week.

Prof. Peck commenced his second term of singing school in this place on Monday evening last. He will have upward of sixty scholars. This speaks well for his accomplishments as an instructor.

The young men of Tidoute, who were instrumental in getting up the entertainment for the benefit of suffering Ireland cleared $48.49, which was sent to the New York Herald relief fund. Nobly done! Brave boys!

Mr. S. S. Hoffbrook, of Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived in town Monday evening. Mr. H. is still largely interested in the lumber business in this county, and must come up occasionally and "see about it."

At the municipal elections in Maize on Monday all the disfranchised towns gave large Republican majorities and guff over last fall's elections. How are you bull-dozers, fusionists, Democrats and greenbackers? A straw will show which way the wind blows.

One of our chronic counsellors wants to know "why an Irish row is like a love of country? Because it's an exhibition of Pat-riotism." He still showed some signs of life at last accounts, but the gash on his forehead cannot be healed so as not to leave a mark.

Monday was the first of March, and according to tradition, if it comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb, and vice versa. In this section the day partook more of the nature of the lion, hence we may expect some "lamby" days at the close of the month. But that's no tellin'.

Mr. S. S. Canfield smiles a smile of pure delight when you meet him now. It's a girl, and the best of all is it happened on the 29th of February, and she will have but one birthday in four years, which will be a great advantage when she reaches that age where ladies naturally are somewhat backward about confessing their age.

The body of Mr. Rudolph's child, which was drowned at Newtown some seven weeks ago, was found at President on Sunday morning last, having been dragged out on the beach by a spaniel dog. A Mr. Blouner, owner of the dog, who lives near the river, was the first to discover the body. A messenger was immediately sent up to inform Mr. Rudolph of the fact, and on Monday morning he went down and identified the missing child, bringing the remains with him. Some of the clothes still remained on the body, which was badly mangled, both legs, we understand, having partly been torn or cut off, supposed to have been caused by ice, drift, etc. It is surprising what a distance the body floated or dragged along, it being nearly twenty miles from where the child was drowned to where it was found; and what is still more surprising is that after going that distance it was found at all. The real grief of the parents is now in a measure alleviated, and they have the consolation of knowing that their child has received a proper burial. This is the second child which the parents have lost by drowning, and it is to be hoped and prayed it may be the last of such distressing occurrences.

The many subscribers and friends of the REPUBLICAN who took the opportunity during court week to pay up their dues will please accept our heartfelt thanks. We congratulate ourselves that we have on our list as good a class of names as any paper in the State, and we can say with pride that there is not a dead-beat on our books. It has been a little over a year since we took possession of the paper and during that time no one can say that a single "dun" has appeared in our columns, yet the most of our subscribers have come up manfully and "squared up." We have added upward of a hundred and fifty new names to our list, and still there's more to follow,—not a week passing but new ones are added,—and yet there is not a man who can truthfully say we forced, or tried to force our paper on him, but many have come to us and, without solicitation on our part, said, "send me your paper." All this is very gratifying and encouraging, and we shall endeavor to merit a continuance of these favors. Thanking you again for your promptness, we are, gentlemen, yours truly.

Mr. T. J. Payne called on us one day last week and paid his respects in a substantial manner, as is his usual custom. Mr. Payne is one of our successful lumbermen, and his success consists largely in his promptness and strict attention to business. He believes in having everything in readiness, and "striking while the iron is hot." During the recent skip of sleighing he put to the creek at Lacy town about one half of his lumber, handling 150,000 feet a day, and he says two days more of good sleighing would have finished up his hauling. While he is a resident of Clarion county, and his mill is in that county, his hauling and rafting is all in Forest, and so we claim a good share of him.

Ex-Sheriff Brace of Warren county, who is taking out timber, in connection with Gen. Allen and others, on Beaver creek, about three miles above Collins' mill, in this county, met with a severe accident on Monday evening last. While hauling a large stick of timber with a yoke of oxen, the stick rolled over catching his right leg between the knee and ankle, producing a compound fracture, the bones protruding through the flesh and skin. Dr. Blaine was called, who reduced the fracture, and left the gentleman quite comfortable considering the severity of the wound.

We received the following notice from T. H. Wilson, Gen'l Supt. of the P. T. & B. R'y., last week: Mr. W. S. Baldwin is this day appointed General Passenger Agent of this Company with his office at Buffalo, N. Y. His orders in relation to the passenger business will be regarded and obeyed accordingly. Mr. Baldwin's many friends in this place will be pleased to learn that his eminent executive abilities have been thus recognized and appreciated by the officers of the company. His jurisdiction now extends to the full length of the road, from Brocton via Oil City to Irvinton.

Bad blood always causes trouble. It may be a family fight, or boils, pimples, itch, tetter, &c.; but no matter, 'Dr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher' is the cure-all. For sale by Bovard.

Mr. John Walters who lives on the Dithridge place, across the creek, is the boss otter trapper, having caught four very fine ones within the past month, if we are correctly informed. He caught them at the rocks below the dam. John Hulings caught a nice one near Oldtown, one day last week. The furs bring from four to six dollars, according to size.

The Greenback County Committee met Monday evening of last week, and elected Mr. J. H. Dingman Representative delegate to the State Convention, Mr. S. C. Roupe was chosen Senatorial delegate. Saturday, May 8, was appointed as the day for holding their primary elections. They then took a vote for President and Vice President, and elected Chase and Jones—in their minds.

Messrs. R. W. Bacon and N. Lattin, of Vienna, Butler County (?) Pa., are among the many "pigeoners" at present in this section. They didn't come to catch any birds, but merely to look on and "see how it's done." They are two of "the boys," and as full of fun as a woolly dog is full of fleas. Mr. L. is one of the representative men of his section, and a jolly, whole-souled gent. And Bacon! Why everybody knows him. He'll bet on a sure thing, every time.

Mr. T. C. Jackson assumed full control of the Central House on Thursday last, Mr. Agnew's time having expired. The latter gentleman will, in a short time move to Oil Creek Lake, above Titusville, where he has rented a hotel. The place has become famous as a summer resort, many thousand people having visited there last summer. Of Mr. Jackson as a landlord we need not speak, as his reputation in that line is fully established, and he respectfully solicits a share of the public patronage. See change in card.

Mr. B. W. May, returned from Louisville, last Thursday, expecting to remain a couple or three weeks. He brought with him and presented the REPUBLICAN office a mammoth pipe, one of the regular Prince Bismark kind, with two-foot stem and handsomely embellished bowl. It takes just half of a 10 cent poke of tobacco to fill it, but when once properly filled lasts half a day. Ben, we'll think of you, and "puff our cares away."

The Derrick's February oil report shows a bad state of affairs for the producer: Wells completed 279, or 37 more than in January; rigs up 582, or 137 more than in Jan.; Wells drilling 481, or 31 more than in January. The increase in production has been proportionately large, and will doubtless have the effect to bring oil down to last fall's prices. Already it is down to 90 5 cents, and still dropping. Some one should suggest a "shut down."

The Treasurer's land sales are published this week, according to law. Nearly 500 tracts are advertised for sale, and according to the amount of taxes on some of them there are some valuable pieces in the list, but these are generally redeemed or paid before the sale comes off, and therefore it is of no use to "set your props" for any of them. The list takes up considerable of our space, and our subscribers will have to indulge us for a short time.

Two "Allegheenies" were started from this place for Pittsburgh on Saturday last. They were in charge of pilots H. O. Davis and J. D. Hulings, and will land safely in port, we'll bet our old shoes. This lumber has been rafted since last fall, and laid in the harbor below town all winter. Doubtless it will be the first to market this spring. Running on the creek will begin as soon as sufficient water comes; the lumber which was got to the creek this winter being about all rafted in.

A sharp swindler is working Lawrence county, selling the right of certain territory for a patent harrow. The way he harrows the feelings of the agricultural citizens of that section is to get each purchaser to sign a pretended article of agreement, naming a consideration of six dollars, which by sundry devices known to the swindling fraternity turns out to be a note for six hundred dollars. Some people, who can't afford to take a paper, have had to fork over the $600.—Venango Spectator.

"Nip your cough in the bud," said Horace Greeley, by taking "Dr. Sellers' Cough Syrup." Lose no time in getting a bottle. For sale by Bovard. 48 2t.

Court Minutes.

Following are the minutes of court not published in our last issue.
