A well-contested dog fight in front of our office on Saturday, drew a crowd in less time than it takes to tell it. Funny, ain't it?

Judge Proper has materials on the ground for the erection of a huge barn on his Dutch Hill farm, and work will begin as soon as the weather becomes settled. Some vast improvements have been made on his farm during the past year.

The Free Methodist society will hold their campmeeting here again the coming summer, so we are informed. The success and good order which attended the meeting here last summer has done much toward the selection of this place for their next meeting.

Rev. McLaughlin, of Pleasantville, will preach in the Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening, also Friday and Saturday evening, and perhaps Sunday. Rev. McLaughlin is one of the ablest ministers in this section, and all should turn out and hear him.

Keable, Salter, Petroff, Crawford, and Rumberger, the bribery convicts, who were to receive their sentences before Judge Pearson, at Harrisburg yesterday, were missing when court called. It is thought they jumped their bail and "dug out." Detectives were on their track. The board of pardons refused to take action on their cases, hence the absconding.

The following pupils were not absent during the month: C. W. Spence, S. A. Maze, Joseph, Charlie, Michael, William and Corina Black, Agnes Zeats, Ada Spence, Frances Black.

L. W. SHAWKEY, Teacher.

Mr. G. W. Robinson purchased, through the agency of Mr. J. H. Diogman one of the Baker double-barrel shot guns, which, for nice finish, durability, and cheapness lays over anything in this section. It is one of their $40 guns, and by all odds is the best gun for the money we have ever seen, and for close hard shooting is hard to beat. The Baker gun is rapidly growing in favor with our sportsmen, and no doubt Mr. Diogman will have many orders in this section during the coming season. Call and inspect the new gun.

The "show fever" has struck the juvenile portion of our town, and according to the following programme which was found in the pocket of one of the aforesaid juveniles, we are soon to be treated by something rich:

Munk Davis, manager.

A friend in Meadville sends us a copy of the Democratic Messenger, published at that place, which contains an account of a horrible encounter between a man, a woman and a 400-pound bear, near Tionesta. The article goes on to tell how a Mr. Summerhill was driving into town with a team, accompanied by an invalid relative; how the bear rushed out of the woods, "tackled" the team, upset the wagon and then dashed for the man; how the man grabbed a whiffletree, lammed the bear over the head, pouading it almost into a jelly; how the man's wife came to the rescue with a gun and dispatched bruin; how the man fainted and the wife swooned; how the ground was torn up by a nitro-glycerene explosion, etc., etc. The whole affair is written up in a tragic and soul-harrowing style, and is well calculated to deceive; but when it is known that no such man lives in this section, and that there are no four hundred pound bears left in Forest county, Uncle Bobby Gutton having caught the last one two years ago, and that the day when bears come out of the woods and "tackle" a team of horses has gone by, it sounds like a 400-pound bear-faced lie. And that's what's the matter with the invalid.

Venango county has recently organized an Agricultural Society composed of the very best and wealthiest men in the county. The society propose holding a fair during the coming season, and are just now considering whether Franklin or Oil City would be the best place to hold it. The Derrick argues that the latter place would be the most suitable because the fine driving park and buildings could be secured free of charge; the citizens agree to subscribe liberally, and the railroads centering there would be a great advantage, the managers of which have agreed to make suitable reduction in fares. If Oil City gets the fair they can depend on a large attendance from this section. Parties could leave in the morning, spend the day at the fair and return in the evening, which they could not do should Franklin secure the plun.

Some brainless jackass with not wit enough to fill a brass thimble, has been reporting that we have sold the National office to a Democrat. There is not a word of truth in the story. If we ever should dispose of the paper we will not be backward about informing the public of it direct.—Forest National.

Now, we have endeavored to "run down" the author of the above "report" and are able to trace it no farther than Capt. Kepler. Now, as the Capt. has kindly lent valuable assistance in getting out the National, and has been "doing" the heavy editorial of the concern, since the editor's absence, the insinuation that he is a "brainless jackass" is very unkind, indeed, and is a striking illustration of "man's inhumanity to man."

Mr. B. S. Magoll, with J. O. Strong, hardware dealer, Tidoute, Pa., who has been in town for several days doing some roofing and spouting for some of our citizens, left with us a simple contrivance for roasting and broiling meat, fowls, game, etc., that is destined to make a fortune for its inventor. It has been tested by several families in this place and pronounced a most decided success. It is gotten up on scientific principals, and retains all the juices and flavor of the fowl or meat. Those who have tried it say they would not part with it for ten times its cost. Samples can be seen at either the Central or Lawrence House, or by application to J. O. Strong, Tidoute, Pa., who has the agency for this State.

Morris, the tailor, of Oil City, has just received his spring stock of goods, and is prepared to make up clothing to suit all tastes and pocket-books. His stock comprises the very best goods to be found in the market, and he makes them up in as good style, and at lower prices than any tailor in this section. His fits are always perfect. Those of our citizens who are in need of a new suit can save 25 per cent. by patronizing Mr. Morris. No need of paying $35 for a suit when you can get the same quality made up in as good style for $25 by Morris. 11.

When any of our citizens are in Oil City, especially the ladies, they should not fail to pay a visit to the Mammoth Dry Goods establishment of Mr. G. W. Milford. Mr. M. has lately opened up a new department in connection with his already extensive business, i. e., the carpet trade. This addition has necessitated the enlargement of his room to twice its usual size, which was done by raising the roof and adding another story the full size of his store, extending from Centre to Sycamore street. Besides this a large skylight has been put in, which is a vast improvement in showing off his overwhelming stock of goods. He employs a score of clerks who are kept as busy as bees all the time, including himself. Mr. Milford's portly frame and smiling countenance may be seen in the store almost any hour in the day, overseeing and managing affairs, and seeing that every customer is promptly and politely waited upon, making every one feel happy and satisfied that he or she has made a good bargain. We might go on and enumerate many of the elegant things kept at this establishment did time and space permit, but such cannot be, as it would take several papers the size of ours to do so. Suffice it to say, that nothing that could be mentioned in the dry goods line will be found wanting in his store, and in styles and prices to suit all ranks and conditions of men. Some of the finest and most elegant dress goods, laces, trimmings, silks, hosiery, etc., etc., and some of the grandest patterns in carpets, are to be found in his mammoth emporium that ever adorned a similar establishment in the cities of New York or Philadelphia. A visit to the place is necessary in order to form anything like a correct idea of what is kept there, and no one should fail to call when opportunity affords.

Hard to Beat!

Of all the rapid work in lumbering that has ever come to my notice is being done in Kingsley township, by Mr. John Polen, who owns and runs a Blandy Portable saw mill.

On March 31, '80, Mr. C. F. Gillespie went to see Mr. Polen, then at work on the Wilkinson tract, sawing for Shoup & Co. Some talk passed between them about taking a contract for sawing out a quantity of hemlock, at Brush Camp, near Balltown. On the 9th inst., they looked at ground, and after a little more delay in arranging his affairs with Mr. Shoup, he (Polen) commenced moving the mill. They got the boiler on the ground on the 15th, and by the 18th they were sawing lumber for a dwelling house, barn, mill cover and what else was needed "for rigging up." Since the 18th they have put up a house, barn, routed the mill, lifted slides, cleared off a place for piling lumber, etc., etc., and to-day, March 27, they have lumber enough in the creek for a seven platform creek raft, and are shoving out the lumber, from the stump at the rate of from 14,000 to 16,000 feet per day. Upon the whole it is the fastest work in manufacturing lumber that I have ever heard of. Mr. Polen understands the business thoroughly, and will, I venture to say, beat anyone in making lumber in the county, when it comes to building mills, taking it from the stump. The lumber is first-class in every respect, and, upon the whole, everything connected with the affair is "hard to beat."
