

The Brakeman Who Went to Church.

To me comes the brakeman, and sending himself on the arm of the seat, says: "I went to church yesterday."

discontinue one of the oldest stations on this line two or three years ago? But it's a mighty pleasant road to travel on. Always has such a pleasant class of passengers."

"Does your machine sew evenly, Mrs. Smith?" "Even so," was the laconic response of Mrs. Smith, as she held up her work for inspection.

"Perhaps you tried the Baptist?" I guessed once more. "Ah, ha!" said the brakeman, "she's a daisy, isn't she? River road; beautiful curves; sweep around anything to keep close to the river, but it's all steel rail and rock ballast, single track all the way, and not a side track from the roadhouse to the terminus. Taken a heap of water to run her through; double tanks at every station, and there isn't an engine in the shops that can pull a pound or run a mile in less than two gauges. But it runs through a lovely country; these river roads always do; river on one side and hills on the other, and it's a steady climb up the grade all the way till the run ends where the fountain-head of the river begins. Yes, sir, I'll take the river road every time for a lovely trip; sure connections and good time, and prairie dust blowing in at the windows. And yesterday when the conductor came round for the tickets with a little basket punch, I didn't ask him to pass me, but I paid my fare like a little man—twenty-five cents for an hour's run, and a little cent for the passengers thrown in. I tell you; Pilgrim, you take the river road when you want."

But just here the long whistle from the engine announced a station, and the brakeman hurried to the door, shouting, "Zionsville! This train makes no stops between here and Indianapolis!" —Burlington Hawkyc.

Andrew Jackson's Vow. Shortly after the occupation of Pensacola and the expulsion of the Spanish authorities from Florida by General Jackson, Mr. Edward Palfrey, an old citizen of New Orleans, now dead, was wont to relate that while standing behind the counter of the National bank, his attention was attracted to a group of military officers who entered the bank and inquired for the cashier. The chief of the party was a man gaunt, stern-featured, spare and wasted of form, but erect and firm of carriage.
