AN exchange says that Colonel Robert Ingersoll will lecture at Washington next Sunday night on the subject: "What must I do to be saved?" It is about time for Bob to cast his eye in that direction.

PAPER is becoming so expensive that the Greenbackers will have to discover some other material out of which to manufacture their "full legal tender greenbacks" or abandon their wouldn't do at all.

THE Cincinnati Commercial has a moving story, by way of a telegram from Athens, Ohio, that two gentlemen who wrote for two comfortable sleeping-rooms at a Chicago hotel during the Republican National Convention, were informed that they could be had for $50 per day, and that this same condition of affairs exists at every leading hotel in the city.

THE Democrats will have an amazing lot of crow to eat in case any one of the prominent individuals named for President is nominated. They have torn them to pieces, like so many vultures fighting over a dead carcass, and have manufactured so much campaign thunder for the Republicans that the latter need only turn the Democracy's own guns against them to show up the concern in its most hideous form.

If Mr. Edmunds should be nominated, he will be supported here with the cordiality to which his distinguished and blameless public life entitles him. Should the choice of the country fall upon General Grant, as it seems highly probable, Massachusetts will support him, because of the overshadowing issues he also, represents her ideas, and because she has faith in his disposition and ability to impress them upon the Government and the history of the nation.—Boston Advertiser.

JAMES MOSGROVE, the champion Greenback-Democrat-any-thing-at-all-for-office demagogue, is announced as a Democratic candidate for Congress in this district. And yet it is only two years ago that Mr. Mosgrove solemnly pledged himself as an unswerving Greenbacker so far ahead as the campaign of 1880.—Clarion Republican.

Mr. M. has quite a number of warm Greenback friends in this county, at least he had two years ago, and of course he's just as good now as then. "Olu Beeswax" would not have served the Greenbackers such a trick had they given him the nomination. But as there is no longer an organization in Armstrong county—that once stronghold of Greenbackism—and as Mosgrove is spooling for office, he seeks it in the ranks of the party whose principles he so strenuously renounced in the campaign of '78. However, that won't make much difference to the democracy. It's anything to win with them. The Greenbackers herabouts, in the meantime, are at a loss to know what they are going to do for congressional timber this year.

THE adoption of a Constitutional amendment in Indiana changing the time of the State election from October to November will do away with the effect the result of the vote for State officers might have upon the Presidential canvass; and, furthermore, it will tend to prevent an influx from neighboring States of voters, who will now have their hands full at home. If some uncharitable persons are to be credited, the temporary colonization of Kentuckians in Indiana has materially helped in piling up Democratic majorities.

It appears that the coalition between the Democratic and Greenback leaders in this county, through which the members of the Greenback party are to be marched into the Democratic camp, and which failed to receive the sanction of the Democratic County Convention because one of the delegates, innocent and unsophisticated, exposed the whole programme and frightened the leaders so that they were afraid to ratify the bargain and trade, is yet to be consummated. It is arranged that one of the Democratic nominees for Assembly will, at the proper time, withdraw, creating a vacancy. The Greenback County Convention is expected to nominate Hon. J. L. Dewoody, who is one of the Democratic nominees, and one other candidate for Assembly. The Democratic County Committee will then meet and fill their ticket by endorsing the Greenback candidates. The ticket for Assembly will then consist of one straight Democrat, one Greenback-Democrat, Dewoody, and one simple Greenbacker. The Greenback leaders are further to agree to bring the rank and file of their party to the support of the balance of the Democratic ticket. In case they are elected the Greenback candidates for Assembly are to be pledged to vote for the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator. This purchase and sale of the Greenback organization is now being arranged and we give the true inward-portion of the Greenback party that the honest know just the price at which they are held and take the proper steps to defeat the job in their County Convention soon to be held.—Venango Citizen.

Our Washington Letter.

SPECIAL TO THE REPUBLICAN. WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 15, '80. A remarkable debate is now going on in the Senate on the Geneva Award bill, and the interesting feature of it is that Senator Blaine is almost alone in a running contest with the Democratic lawyers. He maintains that the people who owned ships that were destroyed by the rebels cruisers, whether they came strictly under the view of the Geneva Conference or not, should be reimbursed rather than the Insurance Companies, which made large profits from the ship owners. Thurman and other Democratic demagogues, unable to refute Senator Blaine's arguments, took revenge in twitting Senator Blaine of not being a lawyer, but the people who actually suffered during the late war are satisfied that if there was less law and more equity, as Senator Blaine presents it they would be more apt to secure their rights.

The Democrats were able to pass the Army Appropriation bill with their political rider to prevent troops being stationed at the polls. But it will have no effect. The Constitution plainly gives the President the power and enjoins upon him the duty of using all the force at his command in certain cases, and if there is any threat of disturbance by Democrats in any section on election or any other days, President Hayes will not see the peace broken for the lack of force, whether of the array or civil authorities. In most of their political measures, the Democrats seem to have backed down completely. The Kellogg case will probably be abandoned for the present because many conservative Democrats will not support the injustice which Hill and other fire eaters from the South are trying to commit for the sake of fastening themselves upon the country.

The strong Blaine delegation from Iowa, and the resolutions in the Republican State Conventions of Missouri and Kentucky, have intensified the interest in the contest now raging in Illinois and Ohio, where Senator Blaine is "running neck and neck" with General Grant and Secretary Sherman. The next few weeks will be full of political excitement and it behooves all Republicans to keep cool and save their passions for more effective work in the main campaign to follow the nomination at Chicago. TERRIBLE STORMS!

One Town Entirely Destroyed—Many Killed and Wounded. One of the most terrific storms ever witnessed in this country passed over some of the western and southern States on Monday of this week. Missouri and Tennessee seemed to fare the worst. At Memphis several houses were destroyed and other damage done. Marshfield, Mo., was entirely destroyed by wind and fire, and hundreds of lives were lost. The following report of the storm we glean from Tuesday morning's associate press dispatches: St. Louis, Mo., April 19.—It is reported that nearly the whole town of Marshfield, Mo., was blown down by a terrific wind storm last evening and then burned, resulting in frightful loss of life. The telegraph wires are all down and nothing direct from the scene of the calamity can be obtained at present.

[SECOND DISPATCH.] A man who came to the depot at the edge of the town while the train was there reported that at 6:30 o'clock a furious hurricane struck the place and leveled all that part of the town lying west of the centre square flat to the ground. The debris immediately took fire in several places, and the flames could be seen at some half dozen points by the passengers on the train. Forty dead bodies had been taken out and many more were supposed to be buried in the ruins or burned up. There were also many living still imprisoned in the debris of the fallen buildings. All the physicians of the town were killed excepting two, and there was great need of doctors to attend the wounded, of whom it was said there were some 200.

[THIRD DISPATCH.] A telegram from Springfield, via Vinta and Kansas City, says: A hurricane passed a few miles south of Springfield about seven o'clock last night, doing an immense amount of damage and killing a large number of people. Fifty deaths are reported on the James river, six miles south of Springfield, and a great many persons missing. The train dispatcher at Conway, fourteen miles this side of Marshfield, reports arriving there from Springfield at eleven o'clock and says he found terrible looking country. From North View, several miles west of Marshfield, to the latter point, trees out of the ground, telegraph poles split off and everything wrecked. The town of Marshfield is demolished, brick as well as frame buildings are torn down. About a dozen people were all we saw as we came through that town, the place seemed deserted, the doctors and nurses who came on our train from Springfield, about twenty in number, went from the depot at once to hunt up the people, there being no one at the depot to receive them. We sent a relief train from Lebanon to Marshfield about daylight this morning with about fifty doctors, nurses and helpers, full supplies of provisions, clothing and medicine stores, also material for repairing telegraph lines. The line is blown down at different points between Springfield and Conway, perhaps ten miles altogether. The names of the killed and wounded at Marshfield are not received yet telegraphic communication not being restored at this writing. There are also reports here that the city of Granby, one hundred miles southwest of Springfield is greatly damaged and that Warrensburg on the Missouri Pacific railroad, sixty-five miles this side of Kansas City was badly injured, but the reports are not verified.

DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL

What they say of it! A few facts for the people.—There are few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—"I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all." A. Maybee Merchant, Warkworth, writes: "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Electric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public 'one of the best medicines they have ever used'; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence." Joseph Rusan, Township Percy, writes: "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Electric Oil for lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit." A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Electric Oil, and before our bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers.
