GENERAL GARFIELD was as gallant a soldier as Hancock, and is very much more of a statesman.

THE public debt statement for June shows a decrease of $10,214,424 for the month. Thus the good work goes on.

THE Greenbackers have notified the Democratic Congressional Conference of this District to meet in Clarion on the 20th inst., to nominate a candidate for Congress. When it is known that at the last election the Democrats polled in the district 8,710 votes and the Greenbackers 3,062, it looks very much as though the tail was trying to wag the dog. Don't it.

THE Congressional Convention of the 27th district, composed of Erie, Venango and Warren counties, met at Corry last week, and after several days' balloting nominated Col. L. F. Watson of Warren. The nomination gives the best of satisfaction over the entire district. Col. Watson's valuable services in Congress four years ago will secure him the hearty support of every friend of the oil producers, and his election may be set down as certain in November.

Our Candidate for Assembly.

To show in what estimation our candidate for Assembly, E. L. Davis Esq., is held outside of the county we reproduce the following:

SMITHPORT, McKean Co. July 3, '80. FRIEND DAVIS:—Accept my hearty congratulations on your success in securing the desired place on the Republican ticket of your county. I only wish you had secured an election to some position worth ten times as much in money and honor. I wish I could come down next November and vote early and often for you.

Yours, T. A. MORRISON.

We are confident the Republicans of Forest county did the right thing when they nominated E. L. Davis Esq., as their candidate for Assembly, and we predict his election. His thorough knowledge of the wants of the people, large business experience, and excellent legal training, combined with his ability as a public speaker especially fit him for the Legislature. The oil producers and tax payers of this section will find in him a reliable friend and a warm advocate.—Venango Citizen.

We are glad to see our friend Davis is nominated for Assembly. He possesses every qualification for a good member, and should be elected, as he will be if the Republicans of Forest county have their duty.—Warren Mail.

At last there is trouble in Kearney's own ranks. Many of his followers have left him, and last week they sought to mob the man whose speeches they once listened to with delight. The very men whom Kearney has often driven to the verge of riot by his intemperate talk, turned on him, and if the police had not interfered would have mobbed him.—Derrick.

THE Republican National Committee completed its organization in New York last Wednesday. Ex-Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, was elected Chairman and S. W. Dorrey of Arkansas, Secretary. These selections were made with marked unanimity. The organization is not in the interest of either candidate at Chicago, but like Gen. Garfield represents the whole party fairly. The headquarters is to be at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Mosgrove Again.

The ring-leaders of the Democratic and Greenback parties of this Congressional district are just now engaged in mixing up a pill for their followers to swallow next November, which is going to require an immense amount of sugar-coating to get down. Already two or three counties of the district have instructed for Mosgrove, and there is scarcely any doubt but that the scheme will be carried through. Just how the Democrats are going to be able to stomach Mosgrove after his pledge of two years ago is a mystery that even they cannot exactly solve. Following is a complete copy of a hand-bill which was spread broadcast over the district in 1878:

RESOLUTIONS

OF THE NATIONAL GREENBACK LABOR CONFERENCE OF THE 25TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF PENN'A., AND PLEDGE OF JAMES MOSGROVE, THEIR NOMINEE AND CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

At a meeting of the Congressional Conference of the Twenty-fifth Congressional District at Parker, Pa., on Monday, August 5th, 1878, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, For years, Congress in its financial legislation has discriminated in favor of the non-producer, and against the interest of the Farmer, Manufacturer, Mechanic and Laborer whom they pretended to represent, and

WHEREAS, This unjust and unequal legislation was the work of men chosen from among the non-producers to represent the industrial classes, and

WHEREAS, These men during their candidacy, and in their intense desire for office promised the people great reforms and the enactment of wholesome and salutary laws, but after their election betrayed their interests and sacrificed them to the insatiable rapacity of the moneyed sharks and shysters of our land, and

WHEREAS, The National Greenback Labor Party has been organized chiefly to enable the Workingmen, Producers and Manufacturers to choose from among their own ranks a man of honor, integrity and ability, to protect their interests; Therefore be it

RESOLVED, That no person shall be considered the candidate of that party in this Twenty-fifth Congressional District who shall not have signed the following pledge:

PLEDGE.

I, James Mosgrove, do pledge my sacred honor to support the platform of the National party adopted at Toledo, Feb. 22nd, 1878, and the principles set forth in the platform of the National Greenback Labor party of Pennsylvania, adopted at Philadelphia, May 9th, 1878. And I further pledge myself as willing to use every honorable means to elect the State ticket, and to insure the success of the National Greenback Labor party in the Presidential contest in 1880.

JAMES MOSGROVE.

After the nomination of Mr. Mosgrove, the above pledge was presented to him to sign, which he unhesitatingly did. This action, together with the letter he wrote to the Congressional Conference of the 25th Congressional District before they proceeded to ballot, must assure the people of the 25th Congressional District, that in Mr. Mosgrove they have a candidate that all can support.

Is Mr. Mosgrove aiding or laboring for the success of the Greenback candidate for President as he pledged his sacred honor to do? Is it consistent for the Democrats of this district to support him under these circumstances? Will they do it? When was Mosgrove lying—in 1878 or 1880? Is he going to stick to that sacred pledge, or was that only the pledge of a political demagogue? If he violates so sacred a pledge now what could be expected of him should he be sent to Congress? These are only a few of the questions which should be taken into serious consideration in this case.

"WARREN'S LETTER."

HARRISBURG, PA. July 10, 80.

In view of the many stories in relation to Gen. Garfield's great wealth and how he has accumulated it I wish to call your readers attention to the following facts: "During General Garfield's seventeen years' career in Congress, a portion of the time serving as chairman of the committee on appropriations, and disbursing over a thousand million of dollars, out of which position he could have realized millions if he was dishonestly inclined, he never accumulated any property to any great extent, and that to day he is comparatively a poor man. All of his worldly possessions consist of a house in Washington, which cost him $11,000, for which at the time he purchased it he had to run in debt, and his farm "Lawnfield," in Mentor, consisting of 150 acres, costing him about $12,000. In addition to this he put about $4,500 improvement on his house and about $1,500 in stocking the farm. The total value of his property foots up about $29,000. From this should be deducted his debts, amounting to $5,000, leaving him possessed of about $24,000. This is the accumulation of a seventeen years' service in Congress and his law practice before the Supreme and U. S. District Courts. This statement of the condition of General Garfield's financial status was furnished us by Hon. J. P. Robison, the confidential business adviser of the General, a gentleman perfectly familiar with all the details of the General's possessions." Would not this show the utter freedom of General Garfield from using his official position to enrich himself? The foolish charge in relation to the Credit Mobilier have long since been exploded by a letter from Judge Jerry Black, a leading Democrat of this State, while the talk in regard to the De Gollier business is so absurd that it is not worth while discussing it. The Democratic sheets, recognizing in Gen. Garfield a formidable foe, have stooped to the vilest calumnies in their endeavor to injure him, even going so far as to say that he was about to be withdrawn. I think it would be better if both sides would call a halt in their "mud slinging" at the men and discuss the parties who put them forward. The Democratic nominations are rather at variance to what they have formerly given us, as they for their head have a soldier and for their tail a hard money banker, while their principles for years have been against both. Their arguments have been for free trade, (as they are now) soft money and the burying of sectional issues, and the advocacy of civilians for the head of the government. The Republican policy has been exactly the opposite; we have placed at the head of the government men who were statesmen as well as soldiers, and who were actually engaged in the field during the war endeavoring to preserve the Union, not remaining at home writing letters favoring a compromise.

The Republicans were the first to fly to the defense of the country, the Democrats following when the pay was increased to $16 a month, and a bounty of $600 allowed, and their homes were threatened and needed defense. The Republican administration carried the country safely through the war, liberated the slaves and since August 31, 1865, have reduced the public debt $925,290,000. The reduction in the annual interest charge has been $71,340,000. The total amount of interest saved by this reduction is $688,836,000. There is a record worth studying. The last Democratic administration we had nearly betrayed the government into the hands of the rebels. Shall we risk the experiment again? Our last Congress was a Democratic one, composed partly of rebel brigadiers who from 1861 to '65 were doing their best to destroy the government. Now they are in power by the magnum of a President and Congress, when they now control and out vote. What they failed to get by the sword they have obtained by the ballot. They prolonged their session, and then voted for an extra session, needlessly spending thousands of dollars; they held back the necessary appropriations for running the government, and unseated legally elected Republicans that they might seat some blatant demagogue of their persuasion. In Philadelphia to-day the Post Office is being furnished with gas at the city's expense, no appropriation having been made for it. Last fall in Maine, when the Republicans had elected their ticket by a large majority did they not by force of arms endeavor to retain control of the State?

Hancock may be a very good and a loyal man; so was James Buchanan. Can Hancock change his party's ways? Tilden was a good man who broke up the Canal and Tweed Rings of N. Y., and was the strongest man they ever put up. How did he turn out? Can they explain away the cipher dispatches? The Republican party was blamed for the hard times at the opening of the last campaign, yet they succeeded in defeating the great reformer, Tilden, and have since resumed specie payments and caused an era of great prosperity to come upon the country. Do the people want a change of government now?

Sunday's Services.

Last Sabbath was a good day for the church going people of Tionesta. Excellent sermons were preached in the churches, and the warm weather did not prevent a good attendance.

In the M. E. Church the regular quarterly meeting exercises were held. Rev. John Peate, Presiding Elder, preached three able sermons. The Rev. Peate has traveled much, and is celebrated as a divine of wide and varied attainments. His sermon on Saturday evening was perhaps his best effort of the whole occasion. The text: "Let this mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus" Phil. xi: 5, was handled in a spirited and happy style, and displayed the capabilities of the orator and the man. He said there was nothing more desirable than a pleasant disposition, and that a man who said that he was irascible and couldn't help it, could help it. His division was: The spirit of Christ was a spirit of gentleness; a spirit of self sacrifice, a spirit of humility; a spirit of prayer and a spirit of work. He paid a fine tribute to labor, and believed there were no lazy christians. Little children went from their mothers' arms to Jesus. This was his gentleness. Dr. Guion, of the College of Surgeons at Marselles, when the plague prevailed, the nature of which was not understood, rose in his place and said: "I know it is certain death to dissect one of these plague-smitten bodies, but somebody must do it, and I shall. In the name of God and humanity I will do the work," and he did, and died in twelve hours. This was self-sacrifice. He who poured out the waters of the earth from his hand, making great rivers, asked the Samaritan woman for water; and this was humility.

Bro. Hinckley, of the Presbyterian, preached to attentive audiences morning and evening, and it is not necessary to add here where he is so well and favorably known that his discourses were characterized by the usual ability and power. There was no preaching in the Free Methodist Church, but the brethren held their usual prayer meeting services.
