The Camp Meeting.

The Free Methodist Camp Meeting, which commenced in this place a week ago to-day has been a complete auccess in every particular. The attendance has been large and the very best of order has prevailed throughout. Quite a number of ministers of the F. M. denomination have been in attendance, prominent among whom are Revs. Hart, Hawkins, Brown and Cripp, and some very good sermons have been listened to from these

On Saturday morning last the dedication of their neat new church took place, which occasion was attended by a large number of people. The ceremonies were imposing, appropriate and interesting. The debt of the church, amounting to $269, was wiped out by a collection taken up before the dedication, which is a gratification to the members and a credit to those who were liberal in their donations,

On Sunday two special trains-one from Oil City, and one from Irvineton -brought many visitors to town, and it is estimated that nearly three thousand people were on the grounds in the afternoon. Quite a large number have been forward and received blessings, and some sound and we trust, lasting conversions were the results. Presiding Elder Hawkins took frequent occasion to thank the people for the very good order and attention while the services were going on, and paid the citizens of Tionesta and vicinity high compliments for their vigilence and successful efforts to maintein quistude and order.

The meeting comes to a close this evening, and we have every reason to believe the members and all connected are highly elated over the result. We are not informed whether or not they expect to hold their encampment here next year. Should they conclude to do so they can calculate on a still larger attendance. However, too large a crowd is not preferable on such occasions, and it is likely, for this reason, the meeting will not be held here again, at least for some years to come.

One Monster Bear Less.

Mr. George Watson and Aaron

Root, of Red Brush this county, have lately become noted as famous bear layers. Their newly acquired repu tation was obtained last week Tuesday, when they had the good fortune to slay the monster of the forest in the shape of a huge black bear. As one of their men was riding a horse along their plank road near one of their mills he saw a large bear cross the road a few rods in front of him. Going to the mill be informed Mr. Watson of what he had seen; the latter told Mr. and Arthur club was organized at R. to take his gun and dog and they would try to capture the animal. Getting ready as soon as possible they started and running up a branch log road, they soon came to the runway, or usual crossing for bears, when they are traveling that way. No sooner tic." This is commendable in our had they reached the crossing than Mr. Watson beheld the bear coming on a run, directly towards them, with his mouth open and making a loud growling or grunting noise; pursuading Aaron to reserve his fire until the beast had come quite near, the latter fired and wounded the animal quite seriously. Meeting so warm a reception bruin wheeled to one side and train will pass here about 6:30, and appeared Aaron fired his second will arrive at Niagara about 1:30 p. barrel, but owing to a too basty aim m., leaving on the return trip at 6:30 he scored a miss. Fearing the monster giving excursionists over seven hours | would escape them, Mr. Watson and n which to visit the various places of the dog, which is a large, fierce one, interest, which is ample time. The started on the trail; the bear being fare from this place will be $2.70, somewhat crippled by the shot was soon brought to bay and for a few minutes Mr. W. did not know which would have to retreat, himself and dog, been taken to that effect. Mr. near, which he could climb in case of Agent, will accompany the train and his position until Aaron, who had between bear and dog, he fired, lodging the bullet in the animal's brain we were treated to a nice roast, and lacked to take care of lunches, and no enormous size and of great age, as his we considered it first-rate enting, but one should go without something to teeth were decayed and worn to the

The Berrytown and Floming Hill schools close this week. The first named school has been taught by N. F.

Miles, Robert Pymm, Denny Downey, and Misses Ina Miles, Eva Jones, Leathe Scott, Ella Mays, Annie Maidens, Susie Setley, and many others whose names we have not

The M. E. Sabbath School, under the efficient Superintendency of Mr. Asa Miles, is in a very flourishing condition. The roll is quite large and the attendance is regular. The teachers are Rev. Hicks, Mrs. Asa Miles, Mrs. Wm. Hawks, Harvey Lynch, and Miss Teena Simpson and Ella Mays.

The Greenbackers in this vicinity are happy over the Clarion nomination, judging from the broad, contented smiles which chase one another slowly property is stricken down: across their handsome features when the matter is referred to. We understand, however, that their Democratic neighbors are not so well pleased.

R. B. Swalley accepts the challenge of J. C. Perry to mow, and chouses late fall or winter as the time. Says he dislikes to work so hard in warm weather for so small a bet.
