BEN BUTLER says because the Republican party has failed to protect the negro against the crimes of Southern Democracy, therefore he (Butler) has joined the Democracy. Who will now doubt General Butler's eccentricity?

On Tuesday of last week the Greenbackers and Democrats of Maine met to place in nomination a Fusion electoral ticket, which they did. But after the adjournment of the convention the straight Greenbackers met, Solon Chase presiding, and placed a straight ticket in the field, after which they adopted the following, from which it will be seen that the two parties don't propose to pull together so nicely at the November election: "For the enlightenment and encouragement of our Greenback brethren in other states, we, the straight Greenbackers of Maine in convention assembled, declare that there is a Greenback party in Maine, pledged to the interests of the people; that the late fusion and confusion in this State was wholly due to the exigencies of state issues, and that in national matters we vote with our brethren elsewhere in the Union for Weaver and Chambers.

When a Republican speaks his mind freely in regard to some flagrant outrage in the South, or dares to awaken the memories of the war, he is forthwith accused by timid submissionists of preaching the "gospel of hate" and "waiving the bloody shirt." The whole southern press may seem with appeals to the Democracy to stand by the cause for which they fought, and orators like Hampton and Bayard may invoke the memory of Lee and Stonewall Jackson without reproach from any Democratic source. Even in pretentious northern publications it has become the fashion to deify the leaders of the rebellion, and exonerate those who did the most to save the Union. A good illustration is found in the Commercial Magazine, published in New York. In the September number, in an article on the jubilee in France, we have this morsel:

"The horrors of the cruelties of the bastilles in Europe can never be portrayed in all their red cruelty upon the people. They can only be partially pictured by the despotic practices of the bastilles of the North of the United States during the war of the late southern revolution."

After running on in this vein for a time, the writer gets off the following: "Not a day passes but that Broadway is everlastingly disgraced by the corrupt tread of some of these northern bastille agents, who for money sold themselves to do the bidding of despots, and the only consolation is that long ago death has removed most of them."

Lincoln, Stanton, Seward and their campeers are the "despots" alluded to. There is no word of condemnation for the "horrors of the cruelties" of the "late southern revolution." It would be an "everlasting disgrace" to mention Fort Pillow or Andersonville in this connection.—Commercial Gazette.

A LETTER FROM WARREN.

HARRISBURG, PA., Sept. 25, 1880. A press of business has for some time interfered with my writing my usual weekly letter and now I only steal time enough to answer one of your correspondent's inquiring in last weeks paper, although you have given him a pretty good answer. It is in relation to the principles of the Democracy. In connection with a review of their principles I will also give a resume of their record. The standard of the Democracy has for years borne the legend "to the victor belongs the spoils." While in power they purpose making it pay and do not care an iota for the future. Like that much abused quadruped the mule, they have "no pride of ancestry or hope of posterity." They advocated slavery, tried to make every new state admitted into the Union, a slave state, and claim to this day they were right. Although not claiming every Democrat to be a rebel I do claim they sympathized with secessionists during the war and every rebel was a Democrat. After defeating them on the field of battle shall we now hand over the government to them because they put up a Union soldier for a blind, and take their word that they are reconciled and that the people want a change? The Republican party can point to twenty years of good government, carrying the country safely through the war, reducing the national debt many millions of dollars, and raising the value of our bonds to a premium, after they had been reduced by Democratic folly 50c on the dollar. Under Democracy's rule it cost from three to seven dollars to collect one thousand; or you might say from three to seven dollars was lost in collecting one thousand. Republican rule has gradually reduced the cost until under our present President it costs to collect revenue but 3-10 of one cent per thousand dollars. By electing Garfield we will remove even that slight cost. As an evidence of what Democratic rule will do take our own State for an example when the Republicans came into power, twenty years ago, this State suffered from a tax besides a debt of over $40,000,000. To-day the people do not labor under a State tax, the debt has been reduced one-half and the whole debt contracted by the war has been paid. When people contrast this with the rule of Democracy they do not want a change. It's the South wants a "change" (not a change) to get its hands on the government's exchequer that they may get on "their feet again," by robbing the government, being to lazy to work as the industrious people of the North do. Two thousand millions of dollars of rebel claims are now pending before Congress which are only waiting for the Democracy to get complete possession of the government, when they will be paid. Rebels are already applying for pensions for having risked their lives in the noble effort to destroy our great Republic. If they elect Hancock they get control of the government by ballot which they failed to do by the bayonet, therefore why shouldn't they pension themselves. Had they won by the bayonet they would now be pensioners, so if they win by the ballot what is to prevent them robbing the treasury. Tilden pledged himself to veto any bill for their relief. Hancock has not though he has been repeatedly asked, therefore he favors them. On finance he is also non-committal. Though the other day he by telegraph congratulated Plaiside of Maine Ergo—he favors soft money. On the question of tariff he stands on the Democratic platform "Tariff for revenue only" though he knows such an action would result in the closing of three fourths of our manufacturing and reduce our artisans to poverty. He also stands on the platform of the party of 1868 when they declared the 14th and 15th amendments to be unconstitutional, null and void, therefore he favors their repeal. It is only necessary for them to increase the Supreme Bench for them to do as they please. That the South is reconciled and what they purpose doing when they get into power can be learned from their leaders. Wade Hampton calls on them to remember the principles that Lee and Jackson fought for. Quantrell is sorry they didn't kill more yankees, and Tombs says necessity causes them to take a Yank for their candidate, but that he is not one of the damn blue-bellied kind, and they will be able to handle him when they get him in. For the present they won't fully show their designs.

Let the people think of these things coolly and calmly and then use their judgment at the polls. A rotten ship though she has a handsome figure-head cannot expect to have a prosperous voyage. Take the old line. A good captain, a reliable crew and a ship that has breasted all the storms of twenty years. We refer to our former officers to show our judgment in selecting competent men. Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, and now Garfield. WARREN.

A Nut for James Mosgrove to Crack.

MADISON TP., CLARION CO., PA., September 18, 1880. JAMES MOSGROVE, Esq.,

SIR:—We desire to ask you a question or two. Before doing so, let us say that we have been from principle, members of the Greenback party and supported you as our candidate for Congress in 1878 in this district, and intend to support Gen. Weaver for President. We supported you because we believed you were honestly a member of our party and would truly represent our principles. We read your pledge as follows:

[Pledge.]

PARKER, PA., Monday Aug. 5, 1878. I, James Mosgrove, do pledge my sacred honor to support the platform of the National party adopted at Toledo, Feb. 22d, 1878, and the principles set forth in the platform of the National Greenback Labor party of Pennsylvania, adopted at Philadelphia, May 9, 1878. And I further pledge myself, and am willing to use every honorable means to elect the State ticket, and to insure the success of the National Greenback Labor party in the Presidential contest in 1880. Signed JAMES MOSGROVE.

This your supporters had printed and circulated over the District. Now we see you have been nominated by the Democratic party and accepted the nomination. We see further that you are attending and speaking to Democratic conventions which are supporting Gen. Hancock. This seems to be a violation of your pledge. Then we see you are in Indiana county, attending and addressing Greenback meetings favoring Gen. Weaver. Now, we as voters, and former expected supporters of you, want to know the principles of the man we vote for. We then ask you to please reply and state to us where you are? Whether you are supporting Gen. Weaver or not, our candidate for President? Please give us a plain direct reply. We will not support a man for Congress who is not helping to elect our candidate for President.

—We clip the following from the Pittsburgh Evening Chronicle, 11th inst: What everybody says must be true. The judges of all the great competitive tests of the last twenty years, all over the world, have so uniformly declared that the Fairbanks' Standard Scales are the best, it is hard to see how anybody can believe to the contrary. The last triumph of the St. Johnsbury inventions and manufacturers was at the International Exposition of 1879-80, at far off Sydney, in Australia. As the Fairbanks came in competition at Sydney with the best scale-makers in Europe as well as of American, their triumph is as complete as it must be gratifying.—Springfield Daily Union.
