—Disagreeable—the weather.
—Our sleighing has turned to sand and hobble.

—Geo. S. Hunter is in Erie this week on business.
—The deer hunting season closes on the 15th inst.
—Locals are as scarce as hen's teeth and about as inferior.
—The postage on newspapers to Great Britain now is only one cent.
—Miss Mary Rose is visiting friends and relatives in Titusville at present.
—Kris Kringle alias Santa Claus, is expected to visit TioneSta about the 25th inst.
—The little folks of the town Sabbath Schools are patiently waiting for that Christmas tree.
—Edinboro is noted as the seat of the State Normal School. The winter session opens Dec. 7th.

—Mr. Wm. Hebertal has moved to his farm on the Tylersburg road about two miles from town.
—If one expects to go through this world on fun alone, a short distance on the way will convince him of his error.
—The Central House barn has been improved much by a large addition which gives double the former amount of stable-room.
—Wolves are becoming troublesome in the wilds bordering on the headwaters of Blacklick creek, some four miles west of Ebensburg.—Indiana (Pa.) Progress.

—D. W. Clark left last week on a trip to Iowa, to be gone three or four weeks. We didn't learn the nature of his business, and don't suppose we would have any business telling if we had.
—Some of the more interested were kept busy sawing the ice around the booms at the mouth of the creek last Sunday. It looked as though we might have a break up, and those booms are worth saving.
—Mr. D. W. Agnew and lady, who have been stopping at Oil Creek Lake for several weeks past have returned and occupy their accustomed domicile. Miss May Agnew accompanied them on a visit to her many young friends here.

—Notwithstanding the rain of Saturday night and the severe thaw on Sunday, which took nearly every bit of snow off the hills, the river and creek remain frozen over, and the ice is getting better than ever. Those who had not put up their ice were beginning to wear very long faces, but are now looking pleasant.
—An exchange says that "Application will be made to the Legislature, during the coming session, to extend the deer hunting season to January 1st." If we are not mistaken the law, which extends only to the 15th day of December, is highly satisfactory to nine-tenths of the hunters of Forest county, and they will doubtless be apposed to any change. The 15th of December is long enough to give all who wish it a chance to kill a deer or two, and they will be thinned out fast enough to suit our citizens at that rate.

—Mr. Solomon Firster, of Mercer county, has been up in this section for a few days looking for a location suitable for farming purposes. He has about concluded to purchase a piece of land on the Helm tract and clear up a farm. We hope he will not get out of the notion, as he comes well recommended as a good citizen, and what is more he's a straight Republican.

—There is talk of having a Christmas tree in the Presbyterian Church, to be gotten up, we understand, by the different Sunday Schools, and all others who feel interested and care to help the affair along. There is generally a good deal of work connected with the getting up of an affair like this yet the pleasure and enjoyment it affords the children is sufficient compensation for the trouble, and it should not be let drop. Children always look back to occasions of this kind as the most pleasant of their younger days.

—Messrs. Raisig and Blum have just turned out a new wagon, which probably has no superior in this section in point of workmanship, durability and finish. This is the second heavy wagon this firm has turned out lately, and from the praise they get we judge they are equal if not superior to any imported ones. This being the case we don't see why parties should send away from town for their wagons, and particularly when they can be got cheaper right here at home. Those who expect soon to invest in a new wagon should call and inspect this one.

—Mr. Rob't Harkison, met with a painful accident on Friday of last week. He was cutting logs in the woods on Fork Run, near Newtown, when a tree in the act of falling switched around in such a way as to strike him on the "small of the back," or in the short ribs, as it were, giving his spine a severe wrench. Dr. Blaine was called, who administered all the relief possible under the circumstances, and Robert is now hobbling around out doors, and will be able to go to work shortly. The escape from death was a narrow one and should serve to make him very cautious in the future.

—In another column will be found the advertisement of the "Western Accident and Relief Association," which we hope our readers will take a glance at, and then consult Mr. F. E. Mabie, who will be in town a few days, as to the particulars and workings of the institution. In these times when accidents are of almost daily occurrence no man should be without an accident policy that will secure him from $5.00 to $25.00 per week indemnity, and from $1,000 to $5,000 to his family should death result from accident. The Association which Mr. Mabie represents guarantees this. It is not like taking stock in a concern represented by some stranger, but Mr. Mabie is well known here, and would have nothing to do with any unreliable institution of the kind.

—We give space this week to a rather lengthy article in the shape of an appeal for the sufferers of Northwestern Kansas. Rev. Caruthers, the writer, depicts the suffering condition of the immigrants and sets forth the causes thereof in such a reasonable manner as to leave no doubt of the truthfulness of his article, and the sufferers are certainly worthy of and should receive the aid of the more fortunate and prosperous in other sections. He is traveling in the interest of these people and has been the means of obtaining considerable relief for them. He spoke in the M. E. and Presbyterian Churches of this place on Sunday, and left instructions as to how and where to send clothing, &c. Those of our citizens who have anything of the kind to spare can leave the same either at Robinson & Bonner's store, the Prothonotaries office, or at S. H. Haslet & Sons store. We hope our citizens will do their duty in this matter, and remember that while some of us have been hard cramped for money none have yet suffered from hunger and cold. Remember that "charity covers a multitude of sins."

—Prof. Guilmette, the inventor of the French Kidney Pad bearing his name, was one of the noted medical men of his day in France. Its cures of kidney diseases are most marvelous, and are said to be permanent. It.

—Report of Old Town School for month ending Dec. 3, 1880, J. D. Rhodes, Teacher. Number of pupils enrolled, males 9, females 10; per cent. of attendance, males 74, females 87. Geo. Fred. and Dora Glassner were neither absent nor tardy. Carrie Isert and Lizzie Flowers were also present every day.

—We have received Vol. XII, of the standard and remarkably cheap "Library of Universal Knowledge," now in course of publication by the American Book Exchange, New York. It includes the articles from "Sclerostoma" to "Syntonia," and, therefore, as will be seen, brings this undertaking well toward its completion. The American Book Exchange, New York, which has been offering special inducements to purchasers of the "Library of Universal Knowledge" during the summer months, continues to permit buyers to obtain the work, during October, at figures the lowness of which is very surprising. The fifteen volumes which will comprise the complete text of Chambers' Cyclopaedia from A. to Z., are offered for $7, if that sum is forwarded during October. Other standard works are issued by the American Book Exchange at equally low prices.

—Peterson's Magazine for January, is before us, in advance; and has outdone itself even. Besides two beautiful engravings, a double-size colored steel fashion plate, and a superb colored pattern in Henri III. embroidery and some half a hundred wood-engravings of fashions, work-table patterns, etc., it has an array of tales, novels, etc., etc., such as is rarely seen in any magazine. The terms are but $2.00 a year, with great deductions to clubs, and handsome premiums to persons getting up clubs. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for, to persons wishing to get up clubs. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

N. B.—We will furnish "Peterson" and our paper, for one year, for $2.50, cash in advance, to those wishing to take both.

The Blue Jay.

The Blue Jay well was torpedoed last week, but from all accounts the charge, some 30 quarts of nitro-glycerine, was too large, and the well is thought to be nearly if not quite ruined. She made several flows shortly after the shot was put in, and it was thought she would be good for 25 barrels, but later reports indicate that the production will not be so large. A dispatch from Warren on Monday evening to the Derrick says: "The Blue Jay well broke loose yesterday, and filled up 1,000 feet in the last twelve hours." This seems like a very favorable report, and it may be that with a little agitation the well will become considerable of a spouter. It is very difficult to get news from that section, and we are obliged to depend almost entirely upon hearsay. When the final results as to the production of the well can be learned we shall give them to our readers without color, be they "for or against."

Conductor's Fatal Accident.

From the Tidouste News we get the following facts of a sad accident on Thursday of last week: "Yesterday morning an accident occurred on the P. T. & R. R'y, at Cobham, resulting in the death of Conductor Gulick, of Union City. His train was an extra going north, and he had been bothered with a hot box on one of the trucks. The exact facts of the accident will never be known as the unfortunate man's skull was crushed and he was insensible up to the time of his decease. All that is known is that one of his brakemen saw him climb down between two box cars and swing his body out with the evident intention of looking after the hot box. While in this position his head came in contact with a telegraph pole, necessarily placed close to the track on account of the river bank. The blow knocked him from the train, and one of his men seeing him fall jumped from the train after him. The train stopped and he was picked up and taken to the house of S. R. McCain, near by, and where life was found not to be extinct, although the skull was crushed. Road Surgeons Leach and Blaine were sent for, but evidently nothing could be done. He died about three o'clock this morning. He leaves a wife, but we do not learn of any family.

Mr. Harry Jeffords is improving rapidly. His lungs are much stronger than they were.

Mrs. Alvin Salisbury is reported on the sick list. We hope to hear of her speedy recovery.
Prof. J. F. Griffin will organize a singing class in town. He will meet those desiring to join next Saturday evening.

Mr. Chas. Day and Miss Cene Hunter, one of our best young ladies, were recently made one. We wish them much happiness.
Pimm bill was brightly illuminated on Saturday evening. The coasting was splendid. No fewer than fifty or sixty persons were present.

We are glad to announce the almost complete recovery of Mr. P. Berry. Pete was sliding down hill with the boys when the accident befell him.
The Sociable held at Mr. Royal Scott's last Wednesday evening was a very pleasant affair. The young folks haven't forgotten how to play "snap and catch 'em," "spat 'em out" and such like games.

There was a man around here the other day hunting (a girl). He says they are hard to get.

Prof. Griffin talks of going to Edinboro to rub off a little of the rust from his pedagogic armor.
De Wayne Burchfield, who is away at Bradford, is sick with measles; at last accounts he was getting along all right.

Death has been busy in our vicinity since your correspondent wrote last. On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Kelly laid their only daughter to rest in our church yard; her disease was Diphtheria. Mr. Kelly's other and only child now, is getting better we are glad to say. The wife of Speer Kelly, brother of the above named gentleman, is also sick from Diphtheria.

On Thursday afternoon the funeral services of Mrs. Nossker were held. Mrs. Nossker died of Measles and Typhoid Pneumonia. John, son of the deceased lady, was away working where he was exposed to the measles, as none of the family, except Mr. Nossker, Sr., had ever had the measles, all except him, soon contracted them, they proving fatal in the case of Mrs. Nossker. Alice, a daughter, was also very dangerously ill from this and Typhoid Pneumonia, but is now in a fair way to recover. The others are getting along as well as they can. As all of Mr. Nossker's family are grown the disease seems to be very severe with them.

AU REVOR.

STRAWS.
The boys and girls of the Fogle Farm and the vicinity immediate, and far removed, met on Friday evening, and amused themselves in tripping "the light fantastic" to music evolved from the viol of Jacob Otto.

Mr. Weingard came over the other day with his breech-loaders, his intent being to slay deer; the snow being in poor condition for hunting, he only succeeded in depriving a pheasant of existence, which he ate for supper, and next day returned to Titusville to await another installment of the "beautiful."

Weingard's stave mill, down on McArthur Run, is again under motion; about 3000 staves is the average "cut" per day. Mr. Robinson, the head-sawyer, is one of the "bosses" in his particular line. All the boys who work on the mill "shanty," a consequence of the mill's being located so far from any place. Mr. McIntire, the manager flourishes the dish cloth. L. M. Griffith, of Fagundus, has the contract of putting the staves to the station at West Hickory; the distance he has to haul is about five miles. It was the intention early in the fall to remove the mill from its present site to Allender Run, but the manager, Mr. McIntire, thought 't would be better to pay the amount that it would cost to move the mill, for hauling the bolts from there to the present location of the mill. Mr. Weingard also contemplates erecting a saw mill on McArthur Run near the stave mill, in a month or so.

The teachers of Harmony appear to be fated to misfortune. The dominion of Neiltown and the preceptor at Berrytown both came to grief last week. R. O. Carson being inspired with the idea that Hillard would be as much of a success in cutting wood as in cutting birches, gave him a contract of framing stove wood, and accordingly the Prof. shouldered his ax and going to the woods chopped—most unfortunately—himself. At Fagundus the snow appeared to possess properties hereto but shadowed forth by snows of other winters; its principal property was attraction; the recipient of this influence was N. F. Williams, he was attracted to Pimm's Hill, the favorite and well worn coasting ground of the Fagundus youth. Getting aboard of a sled the Prof. started toward the landing place at the bottom of the hill, but he never got there. The Prof. not having the experience of youth, nor the wisdom of old age in manipulating coasters, steered to much on one side, and on that side grew a stump, against which the Prof. brought up, finding it an effectual barrier to further progress in that direction. To say that the Prof. was stumped would be indefinite while actual. He was hurt considerably, though not dangerously; his severest injuries being in his feet. The following Monday he was unable to teach, being obligated to the use of crutches since his coast.
