How about Decoration Day? Will Tionesta observe?

Joe. Noble came down from Brad. last Friday.

Editor James, of the Commonwealth, was in town yesterday.

It will soon be time for the forest fire fiends to get in their work.

School for three weeks yet and then our juveniles will be happy.

Prof. Brockway held a teachers' examination in this place last Saturday.

The Misses Evans, of Tidouate, paid Tionesta friends a short visit last Saturday.

Juneberries are in bloom, and if blossoms are an indication the berries will be plenty.

Our farmers have their oats about all sown, and are giving their attention to other products.

No base ball here yet; nor croquet either, that has come to our reporter's notice. What's the matter?

Mr. H. H. May returned last Friday from a short visit to Louisville. His son Benjamin is still in that city.

Trouting thus far has not been very good. The largest string yet brought in has not numbered over 25 or 30.

Rev. Hickling has moved to town and will occupy as a residence part of the Knox House, owned by Charles Bonner.

Mr. Peter Barry, of Harmony twp., is to-day announced as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to the usages of the Republican party.

D. W. Clark's children, Effie and John, who have been very low with diphtheria, are somewhat better, and it is hoped they are out of danger.

Rev. J. B. Thompson, of Shannondale, Clarion county, accompanied by his daughters, Miss Cora and Pearl, paid a short visit to Tionesta friends last week.

Joe. Derickson brought in the first rattlesnake of the season last Saturday. He killed it on the hill back of Hunter's grist mill. It measured three and a half feet.

New fences, new walks—partly—making garden and cleaning up front yards are in order now; and just here we wish to say, don't forget the cellar and back yard.

Mr. T. J. VanGiesen, with her children, Maud and Lee, accompanied Mrs. S. C. Sloan to her home in Allegheny City, and expects to spend several weeks there.

Mr. Wagner, of Warren, has succeeded Charley Congdon as clerk at the Central House, the latter having resigned his position and will soon say good-bye to Tionesta.

Jas. K. Clark, of Barnett, has taken possession of the Flewling House with his family and become a citizen of our borough for a fact. Glad to welcome all such.

Mr. G. W. Robinson is inclosing his premises with a new picket fence, which, when finished will improve the looks of his property an hundred fold. Jim Carson is the architect.

The meeting of Grand Lodge I. O. of O. F., of this State takes place in Philadelphia, May 16. Mr. G. W. Sawyer was elected Representative of the Tionesta Lodge, and will start for there shortly.

An exchange says that only one man in nine-two is mean enough to stily put a long blonde hair on the shoulder of a man whose wife is a brunette. Only a divorce lawyer would play such a shabby trick.

For the largest black bass caught in the State, with a fly. Afield and Afloat offers a handsome fly fishing bass outfit, and for the largest black bass caught in the public waters of the State with a bait, a similar outfit.

The Republican County Committee of this county will meet in Tionesta next Tuesday evening for the transaction of important business, and it is urged and hoped that a good attendance will be had. Don't forget it.

John Hulings sold his timber in Pittsburgh at good figures, came home, and left immediately to go out into Clarion and "Old Forest" in the interest of the N. G. R. R. John has a good show to make money and we're glad of it.

The attention of all those persons summoned to attend court next week as Grand Jurors is directed to a notice published elsewhere in to-day's issue, notifying them not to appear, as all the business requiring the presence of a grand jury has been settled or disposed of.

Some of the small boys were "in swimmin'" on Sunday last. It's rather early yet boys, and if you persist in doing so right along some of you may be under the sod before good swimming opens up. But then, you can't kill a boy that will go swimming on Sunday.

The bridge next the river bank, near Derickson & Co.'s stove mill needs the immediate attention of our town dads. The timbers are nearly rotted away, and with a heavy load upon it is liable to go down. A stitch in time may save nine—or ten hundred dollars to our borough.

Walters Bros. have refitted and renovated their meat market and will hereafter keep on hand constantly a good supply of the best of meats. They ask a continuance of the generous patronage heretofore given them, and promise their customers first-class goods at the lowest prices.

The May term of court will convene next Monday. The usual number of witnesses, jurors, clients, lawyers &c., will doubtless be in attendance, yet it is hardly likely that the session will last very long. There are no criminal cases of much importance on the calendar, and but few civil cases.

Our old friend "Major" Frank Mabie arrived in town Saturday evening and stayed over Sunday. He is on his first trip as traveling agent for John C. McCreas' extensive pork-packing house, Erie. Frank is a wide-awake, honorable gentleman, and we hope he will continue in the business and make it a point to get this way often.

Billy Smearbaugh, of the Lawrence House, has erected a new street lamp, which makes a wonderful difference in the appearance of things around there after night. By pleasant and gentlemanly treatment of his guests and close attention to business Mr. Smearbaugh is rapidly gaining for the House an enviable reputation and a good patronage.

The Central City, (Neb.) Item, Geo. A. Percival and R. F. Steele, editors, is one of the witty papers in the country. Its visits to our sanctum are as welcome as the flowers in May after a winter like the one just past. Mr. Percival, we are proud to say, was once a Forest county boy, and he has still many friends here who are pleased to hear of his success.

Judge Coon, of Barnett, whose announcement as candidate for County Commissioner was published last week, finds that his business the coming summer will be such as to prevent him from giving proper attention to the canvass, and requests us to withdraw his announcement. The Judge is well known in the county and would doubtless have made a good run.

J. Q. Sweeney, for some time past a law student in the office of Hon. W. L. Corbett, was admitted to the Clarion county bar, by the Court last week. Mr. Sweeney is an industrious, deserving young man, and we have every confidence that he will make a useful member of his profession.—Clarion Republican. Mr. S. is an old subscriber of ours, and we wish him success.

The Forest & Stream, as a paper for lovers of field sports and outdoor recreation, stands to-day without a rival. It contains twenty-four pages of just such reading matter as suits the tastes of all true sportsmen. No lover of the Rod and Gun ought to be without it, and if he once gets to reading it will not be happy without it. See advertisement in another column and send for a sample copy to the Forest & Stream Publishing Co., New York City, N. Y.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad intends building quite a number of new bridges this season. T. D. Collins, at his Nebraska mill has the contract of furnishing 450,000 feet of bridge timbers, and has made several deliveries already.

A pheasant pursued by a hawk flew into Mr. Robinson's yard this morning and was caught by his children. After handling it some time it was set free but did not seem to care about leaving. It was taken up and placed in safe keeping, and Mr. Robinson will try his hand at taming it. If he succeeds it will be a rare pet.

Venango County re-elected S. H. Prather Superintendent of Schools; Clarion re-elected A. J. Davis; Elk re-elected Geo. R. Dixon; McKean elected M. O. Campbell; Warren elected C. D. Arnd; Crawford re-elected Prof. Chamberlain; Meadville City elected Prof. A. J. Langley, of the Edinboro Normal School, well known to many of the teachers of Forest county.

Rev. Robert Henderson, a colored minister, and brother of our townsman, George Henderson, preached in the M. E. Church on Monday evening. The church was crowded with people, many being unable to obtain even standing room and were obliged to leave. The sermon is spoken of as an able effort. Rev. Henderson is a college graduate and ranks among the first clergymen of his church.

John Charlsten started for Sheffield yesterday morning where he has a job of taking out 1,600 cords of hemlock bark for Horton, Creary & Co., the extensive tanners of that place. His base of operations will be about six miles from Sheffield, and about 20 men will be engaged on this particular job. John is a hard worker, and it may be depended on that he will make some money out of his contract.

We neglected last week to call attention to the card of Mr. L. Fulton, harness maker, which will be found elsewhere. Mr. Fulton has turned out several new sets of harness since locating in Tionesta, all of which have given splendid satisfaction. He does first-class work at very moderate prices, and now that he has become a permanent citizen of our place and expects to drive his business here, we ask all to give him their patronage and encouragement.

The Postal Review is a new publication devoted to the interests of postmasters, postal clerks, postal route agents &c., the first number of which has reached us. As is stated in the salutatory the want of a periodical of this description has long been felt, and judging from the number before us we believe this magazine will fully meet this want. It is neatly printed and is issued monthly. Send for a specimen copy to The Postal Review, Tunkhannock, Pa.

"BOSTON INSIDE OUT."—Rev. Henry Morgan says, he has ordered two sets of type and engaged two of the largest printing houses in Boston, to print the next edition of "Boston Inside Out," up to 20,000. Over 1000 agents are canvassing for the work, 50 ministers and nearly 1000 students. They have the profits, as the book is for reform, and not for gain. Address for particulars, Rev. Henry Morgan, Boston, Mass.

It was our intention to make a few remarks concerning Forest county's new School Superintendent last week, but the convention kept up so late, that in our rush to get to press Wednesday morning comments had to be suspended. We can simply say that in Mr. J. E. Hillard our county is well provided with a Superintendent. He has taught school in several of the townships in the county, in all of which he has given excellent satisfaction, and won for himself a splendid reputation as an educator. He has made himself what he is, a brilliant scholar, and a moral and upright man. He has the vim and push to bring the schools of the county up to a high standard of excellence, and we have full confidence that he will succeed in doing so. In this work it is but reasonable to ask the hearty co-operation of the directors and citizens of the county, without which the best man living can do little toward the advancement of education. Let us all wish the new Superintendent success and try to help him achieve it. In this connection it is but just to say that the other candidates before the convention were all eminently qualified to fill the office in a satisfactory manner, any one of whom would have made us a good Superintendent.

FOREST OIL NOTES.

There is nothing particularly new to report from the Blue Jay district this week. A number of rigs are up and about ready to start the drill. The country round about there is building up rapidly and before long quite a town will have sprung into existence. The Derrick has the following news from that section:

Blue Jay No. 1 and 2 are both doing about eighteen barrels per day. As they both flow into the same tank it is impossible to get the gauge of each separately.

The rig goes over to-day for the well on the Cook tract. Lawrence Gleason, Roger Gallagher, Michael Gleason and a Mr. Boyers comprise the company putting it down. For the present this well or the Cook tract, will be called the Mount Joy well, but if oil is not found it can easily be changed to Mount Sorrow.

The Magee well had sixty-four inches in the tank last evening at seven o'clock. Connection was made with the tank after tubing it Wednesday night last, when there were twenty-nine and a half inches in it, so that its production for the three days and one hour was thirty-four and a half inches, or at the rate of about twenty nine barrels a day.

The Darling well has been doing thirty barrels a day since it was re-tubed.

This morning's Derrick has the following from Blue Jay:

W. T. Falconer has a rig building on lot 43, half a mile east of the Blue Jay wells.

West of the Blue Jay, on the W. D. Wood property, John Conley has a rig ready for a drill.

Three miles south, on the Stewart, Dimmick & Zeigler are building a rig. Two miles southwest, on the Ashley farm, D. W. Clark is building a rig.

Fox & Hill are building a rig on the Fox estate.

On tract 2,735, Patterson & Leddom have a rig up.

On the Cook, the P. & E. company is building a rig.

This is the list of operations in this locality at present.

After a peck of trouble in getting their materials across the creek—in which work Capt. Berry acted in the capacity of ferryman, wading into the water to his arm pits—the owners of the Balltown well have their rig about completed and will commence drilling the first of next week. Mr. Berry has a 250 barrel tank on the ground which will be used as a water tank for two or three weeks, after which Mr. B. expects to fill it with oil from the new well.

The Tidouate News man thus soliloquizes: "We really suppose that a newspaper editor is the only person in the world who is popularly believed to always carry his 'shop' with him. In a social way he visits his friends only to be asked by some would-be wit if he has 'writ up the item'; or goes to bury a friend to meet the fiend who wants to know if he got the 'points' on the sermon; at the close of his day's duties he finds a neighbor driving a stake for a rose bush support to be greeted by some casual acquaintance with 'there's an improvement item, Mr. Editor;' always, everywhere, in season and out of season, the editor hears the same round of 'witticisms,' each person fondly supposing he has tickled the editor with a 'fresh' remark, while the real facts are that that same editor has heard every change rung on every idea and thought of that character, so much so that he involuntarily shrinks at the approach of any individual with that indiscriminably wise look of countenance. But why not suppose that the editor, at least in his social relations, likes to drop business and enjoy himself no matter if 'shop' does suffer. A grocer would rightly feel offended if some acquaintance, during an evening party, should rush up to him and bawl out that perhaps an order for goods might be secured by stepping into the kitchen; or the dry goods dealer that he might sell a few pairs of gloves by visiting the ladies cloak room; or the lawyer that he might get a case by fomenting a dispute over a game of what. No; its only the editor who carries his 'pack' with him everywhere, and is not permitted to lay it down he it ever so burdensome."

As cheap as the best; as cheap as the cheapest—the "New Process Flour." Try one sack. Wm. Smearbaugh & Co. 31.

MOUNTAIN GINGERBREAD.—Take a half-pound butter, quarter-pound sugar, six eggs (yolks and white beaten separately,) one teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon, allspice, and cloves, one teaspoonful ginger, three-quarters pint of molasses, four tablespoonfuls sweet milk, and one pound flour, having mixed thoroughly in it one measure "Banner" Baking Powder.

GIVEN UP BY DOCTORS.—"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?" "I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!" "Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my George—I know hops are good."—Salem Post

MARRIED.

KERR—YOUNGK.—At Nebraska, Pa., May 9th, 1881, by H. W. Ledebur, J. P., Willis H. Kerr, of Lockingville, Clarion county, and Martha E. Youngk, of Green township, Forest Co., Pa.

WILSON—HOLLIDAY.—At the Free Methodist parsonage in South Oil City, May 2, 1881, by Rev. John Robinson, Mr. W. C. Wilson, of Tionesta, and Miss Maggie Holliday, of East Sandy, Pa.

DIED.

BABCOCK.—In Tionesta, Pa., Thursday morning, May 5, 1881, Horace Nelson, only child of Mr. Charles Babcock, aged ten months and five days.

The subject of the above notice was the child which was rescued from the President railroad disaster in February last, by the father, who jumped from the car with the child in his arms just in time to save both their lives. It has been a great comfort to him since the death of his wife, and now it too has been called away forever. The blow is a heavy one indeed, it would seem almost unendurable. The stricken father and friends have the sympathy of all in their affliction. The funeral took place on Friday, Rev. C. J. Oehlschlaeger conducting the services. The child was laid to rest by the side of its mother in Oakland cemetery at Warren, Pa.
