OUR BELOVED GARFIELD!

He Continues to Improve. The Nation Feeling Easier—The Latest Dispatches.

Although it has been less than two weeks since the dastardly attempt was made upon the life of our beloved President the time seems at least that many months, so great has been the suspense in which the people have lived. Not since the assassination of President Lincoln has our nation been so shocked and horrified as when the news came that President Garfield had been shot. People could not, would not believe it on the first reports. But alas! The terrible news was only too true, and much as all dreaded to believe that such a dire calamity had come upon the country they were forced to accept the truth. Why our chief magistrate should be cut down in the midst of peace and great prosperity; at the very outset of an administration which promised to be one of unparalleled brilliancy and purity was a thing which no one could understand, and in the absence of facts many were the surmises as to cause which led to such an awful crime. Men were hasty in forming conclusions; to hasty, in fact. It was somewhat of a relief to learn that but one man was responsible, and he a miserable madman; a crazy, disappointed office-seeker; and yet how horrible it is to think that such lunatics can throw a whole nation into such turmoil and commotion, and place the lives of our greatest men in peril!

One of the most touching things connected with this terrible occurrence is the sympathy manifested by the people of the nation, and in fact the whole world. The sympathy of the American people for the President, his wife and children, has flown like a river of sweet water from all directions. There has been no demonstration of a like character to equal it in this or any other country on a similar occasion. It has done more to unite the people than anything since the death of Lincoln. It comes alike from men of every political creed,—North, South, East and West—and from every nation on the globe. It is indeed beautiful and sublime.

While we are rejoicing to-day over the bright prospects of the President's recovery, we should not forget that the danger is not all passed yet. He has much to endure before his recovery can be regarded as an accomplished fact. But at the same time every hour that he passes is a season of recuperation for the dangers to come, and no man under like circumstances was ever such a help to his surgeons.

In addition to the large Supplement we issue to-day, which gives all the important details of the tragic affair, we give the following additional telegrams, which will prove interesting reading to our subscribers. We enclose these supplements only to those who have not the opportunity to read the details in other papers.

THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER.

OLON, O., July 3.—The mother of the President felt better this morning and the news of the shooting of her son was broken to her. Mrs. Garfield inquired of Mrs. Larabee if she was going to Mrs. Arnold's funeral. Mrs. Larabee replied she guessed she could not go as something had happened. "What has happened?" inquired Mrs. Garfield. "We have heard that James is hurt," said Mrs. Larabee. "How is the case?" asked the mother. "No, she was shot by an assassin, but not killed," replied the daughter. "Lord help me!" exclaimed Mrs. Garfield. Mrs. Larabee assured her mother that the latest reports were favorable and showed that the President was resting quietly and in a fair way to recover. When did you hear of this?" inquired Mrs. Garfield. "Yesterday noon, but I thought best not to tell you, the news was not as favorable as to-day." "You were very thoughtful—I am glad you didn't tell me," said Mrs.

Garfield. She bore up under the intelligence with such fortitude that the dispatches received were shown her. She read them calmly and said, "How could anybody be so cold-hearted as to kill my baby?"

RESPONSE OF MRS. GARFIELD.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Postmaster General James has a telegram from Geo. Wilson, Secretary of New York Chamber of Commerce, who requests the Postmaster General to say to Mrs. Garfield that the members of the New York Chamber of Commerce have subscribed $250,000 to be presented to her both as a token of their sincere esteem and sympathy and as a means of relieving the mind of the President entirely from anxiety with regard to the future of his family. To this telegram Postmaster General James has sent the following reply:

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., July 7.—Geo. Wilson, Esq., Secretary Chamber of Commerce, New York City: Your dispatch has been delivered to Mrs. Garfield. On receipt of it she remarked that there was so much that was touching and beautiful in the sympathy of the people of the whole country, she did not dare to trust herself to think of it.

THOS. L. JAMES, Postmaster General.

DAY OF THANKSGIVING PROPOSED.

COLUMBUS, July 10.—Governor Foster sent the following telegrams to the Governors of the States and Territories to-night: "Governor's office, Columbus, O., July 10, 1881.—To Harris M. Plaisted, Governor of Maine: Present indications strongly encourage the hope that the President will recover from the effects of the horrible attempt upon his life. It must occur to all that it would be most fitting for the Governors of the several States and Territories to issue proclamations setting apart a day to be generally agreed upon for thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God for the blessed deliverance of our President, and for this great evidence of his goodness to the nation. If this suggestion meets your approbation, permit me to name the Governors of New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland and Ohio as a committee to fix upon a day to be observed. Please reply. [Signed] CHARLES FOSTER.

Following are the latest bulletins concerning the distinguished patient's condition. Thank God he continues to improve:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 11, 7 p. m.—Official.—The President has had rather more fever this afternoon. In other respects, his condition is unchanged. Pulse 108, temperature 102.8-10, respiration 24.

D. W. BLISS, J. K. BARNES, J. J. WOODWARD, ROBT REYBURN.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 11, 9:20 p. m.—Unofficial.—The President's temperature, which at the date of the last official bulletin was higher than at any time during the day, has since steadily fallen until it now stands at about last night's figures. No special importance is attached by the attending surgeons to these daily fluctuations in temperature and pulse. At this stage of the President's case they are to be expected. The general condition of the patient at this hour is favorable and satisfactory.

THE LATEST.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, July 12—7:00 p. m.—The President has passed a much more comfortable day than yesterday. Pulse 104, temperature 102.4-10, respiration 24.

D. W. BLISS, J. N. BARNES, J. J. WOODWARD, ROBT REYBURN.

Reports since the above bulletin was issued indicate that the President's condition is still more favorable; every hour he passes gives his physicians more hope. We hope to be able by next week to send the joyful news to our readers that he is out of danger. God help him.

It is safe to say that no President of the United States, or a ruler of any people, has ever been so near the masses and so fully understood or more sincerely loved than General Garfield.

His career from boyhood among the common people, his eloquence, his statesmanship, his record as a brave soldier, his purity of character, his domestic life as familiar even to the children at school. Standing before that august assemblage at the inauguration ceremonies, and having received in full the Nation's honor, he lost nothing of dignity in the eyes of true men when he turned and kissed the old mother who was a spectator of his triumph. It is this cultivation of the heart that makes him responsive to the delicate duties as well as the cultivated intellect of the scholar, and the heroism and courage of the strong man which binds him to-day so securely to the people, and causes them by common impulse to reach out toward him. The crowds who have stood hours in the hot sun before the bulletin-boards, and eagerly scanned the newspapers with tear-stained faces for the last ten days, fully attest these truths. Whether living or dying—and heaven grant it may be living—James A. Garfield has a still higher and more secure place in the hearts of the American people.

Some G. B. Victories.

As we do not wish to be under the charge of unfairness to our Greenback friends, or of not "telling the whole truth," but believing in that old maxim, good among printers as well as farmers, "give the devil his due," we publish the following reports of late Greenback victories in different parts of the land, regardless and perfectly reckless of the influence they may exert on our local politics:

AVON, MISSOURI, June 15.—A vacancy having occurred in the office of village auditor, there was a hot contest to-day between the parties, which resulted in the election of J. Peter Boser, an outspoken National, by a majority of two votes. Total votes cast 27. Victory perches on our standard.

HOOP POLE TOWNSHIP, WABASH CO., IND., June 20.—At a special election held here to-day to elect a supervisor, P. O'Brien Dougherty "took the cake," since the election he openly avows his Greenback principles. Truly the world is moving. Mr. O'Brien received a majority of 3 out of a vote of 17. Let the good work go on.

BLACK JACK, WYOMING TER., June 5.—Dr. Biggins was triumphantly elected Overseer of the Poor, to-day, and Doctor of the Board of Health, on the National G. B. ticket. "Let the eagle scream."

SLABTOWN, MAINE, June 25.—Buck S. Blabber, on a strict party vote, was elected a Select Councilman for the village, by a majority of one vote. Truly the world moves; and Peter Calomel, M. D., has been appointed physician by the overseers of the poor. They are both Simon pure Greenbackers, "dyed in the wool." Mr. Blabber wears the blushing honors with ease.

We take the liberty in conclusion to quote from an Indiana paper of the G. B. type, which says: "Weaver's late speech at Vandalia had a good effect. It converted Wm. Ballysagle, a noted lager beer merchant, whose heart is fully fixed in the National cause, and was the remote cause of electing Michael Muggins to the office of school director in an adjoining township. It is needless to say Michael is sound in the faith. Let the welkin ring."

ALMOST MIRACLES.

PITTSBURGH'S GREAT SURGEON. Will Visit Titonesta, Pa., and Stop at the Central House, for 4 days, from the morning of July 20th to the evening of July 23d, 1881.

This is good news to his numerous patients in this county, as well as to the army of afflicted and crippled sufferers who could not well visit him in Pittsburgh. Dr. Hartman's permanent office is at 307 Penn avenue, which will be left in charge of one of his able assistant surgeons during his brief absence and sojourn with us. In order to remain our numerous readers of the doings of Dr. Hartman, we will reproduce the following from the Pittsburgh papers:

"His operations for Strabismus (cross eyes) can be counted by the hundreds, and every one successful, and so with other operations. Few surgeons have so many in a lifetime. It is this wholesale surgery and practice that makes him so pre-eminently successful. The certificates and testimonials that he has had the privilege of publishing of patients treated here would fill our paper for a whole week, but hundreds of them are the same as those already published in these columns.

To convince the reader of Dr. Hartman's claim upon us when sick, we need only recall the names of a few cases well known to us whom he rescued from the very brink of the grave.

Mrs. Milo Ingram, daughter of Capt. Hugh McKelvey, of this city, has been treated six years for cancer by the most eminent physicians and surgeons, not only of this city, but New York and other cities. She had spent over one thousand dollars with great medical experts, and was told that she must die. Her limbs and body were literally covered with running sores and half detached masses of flesh; nearly blind and deaf and barely living. Dr. Hartman was consulted, and declared it was no cancer, but scrofula, and proved it by curing her without knife and without any painful external applications. Every sore is healed; she sees and hears perfectly, and is now in every particular the very model of good health. She now resides at 430 Kebecca street, Alleghany City. Go and see her.

Willie Curtis, 17 years of age, now working in H. K. Porter & Co.'s Locomotive Works, in this city, has been afflicted with Chronic Rheumatism for one year, unable to work, his joints much enlarged, painful and stiff. The bones of one side of the face were enormously enlarged, giving him a most hideous appearance. His heart was diseased, with 170 beats in a minute, he was emaciated, pale and almost dying. Two eminent Pittsburg physicians assured his mother that the end was near. Dr. Hartman was consulted, and immediately placed under his treatment, and in six weeks he was well and ever since has been at work. Go and see him, call on his mother, on his employer and on his pastor, and you will say the half has not been told.

ANOTHER.

The Pittsburg Sunday Leader of October 3rd, tells of a boy, the son of Mr. G. W. Logue, of Redbank, Pa., who had been attacked, about a year ago, with vertical curvature of the spine, and in spite of the efforts of several physicians grew rapidly worse, and was soon powerless, and unable to walk from paralysis of his legs. He continued so eight months, and was considered by all physicians within their reach a most hopeless case. Dr. Hartman was consulted, who applied an apparatus to his back, rapidly straightening him and in exactly eight days he commenced to walk. It is two months since Dr. Hartman took hold of the case, and in that time the improvement in the little patient's condition has been so great that he is become a bright and active child, with a shape perfectly natural, and an equal chance of happiness and usefulness in after life with other children.

The happy restoration of their child to health is the cause of much joy to the parents, who are deeply grateful to Dr. Hartman for his services.

We think these references to cases, within the reach of everyone to visit, are sufficient to convince all persons afflicted that Dr. Hartman stands at the head of his profession.
