-A good story comes from Tylerspleasure in giving it space next week. Clarion county held their convention -Mr. Davis is moving his law for nominating Associate Judges. Beck, of Tylersburg. When he had refurned from the convention Mr. Payne proceeded to interview him as to how it had passed off, &c. "Oh, we had a good time," said Beck; "they all thought that the Democrats of Tylersburg ought to be congratulated on their choice of delegates this year. They told me that I was a vast improvement on the rowdies sent to the convention from Tylersburg two years ago-" "Hold on there, Beck," says Payne; "do you know that Porter Haskell and myself were the delegates two years ogo ?" But Tom had to set up the cigars all the same.

Our Borough Schools.

Report of the Tionesta Borough Schools, for the month ending Oct.

In submitting this report we would most earnestly urge the parents to second the efforts of the teachers, by seeing that their children attend school regularly, for without this there can be no satisfactory progress. We would also cordially invite those interested in the cause of education to visit the schools frequently and thus stimulate and encourage both teacher and pupil.

Room No. 1. Total number enrolled 26. The following named pupils deserve special mention for having been present every day during the school month just ended: Dora Morris Einstein vs. Q. Attention Voters.

We give below a list of the Tax Collectors in the different townships, and would impress upon all voters the necessity of paying their County and Sfate taxes at least thirty days before election if they wish to vote this fall. Republicans see to it at once, and don't lose your vote by neglecting to pay your taxes. Those who cannot find the collector, or have not the opportunity to see him can pay to the County Treasurer. Always take a receipt, Following are the Collectors Communicated.

Mr. Eprron:-Would you allow

Merlsam, Miss Della Williams, Miss begin the services requested some one Agnes Keefer. If not called for with- to step out and invite certain parties who were standing around the church door to come in if they would that the services might not be interrupted by their coming in later, or by the noise they were creating while standing on the outside the door. The request was obeyed; a brother stepped out to execute the commission intrusted to him, but the effect was not in accordance with the expectation, and soon another brother was called upon to bid those upon the outside to come in. Now you will understand that it is not the calling of those upon the outside to come in that we lift our voice against, but the occasion for it. It is useless to enter upon any lengthy comment; we wish simply to call attention to the custom of standing around outside the door of churches before or during services, smoking, laughing, joking, having what by a corruption of the language is denominated "a good time," much the same as though a political caucus was being held in the inside, and not the solemn worship of an Almighty God. We proceed, in speaking opon this subject, on the assumption that these breaches of the law of common etiquette are the result of thoughtlessness rather than of real perversity. The sanctity of God's worship, the sacredness of God's house, the comfort of a church audience, the reputation of the community, and of the parties themselves, the verdict of intelligent people demand that these things cease to be. And another matter we will speak of: During service, in the house, people who come to hear the preacher and his sermon are oftentimes much annoyed by laughing, whispering, &c., not only during the sermon, but also during prayer and singing; and these abuses are not confined to "outsiders." We hold to the proposition that a member of any church has no more right to violate the social requirements of his church than one who makes no profession of being a church man. His excuse is less. No one will for a moment attempt to defend these things; all will condemn, and upon a little reflection sensible people, if they ever have practiced them, will not do them. These are wrongs not only in themselves but in the results they work. Does it look well; will it exert a beneficial influence or the reverre, for young men to lounge around a church door during Sunday School hours, or church service of any kind, smoking? For any one to go out unnecessarily, creating noise and confusion while a review is being made of the lesson, or any church work is going on? For young people, and old ones too, of either sex, to go out in little groups or two or three only to stand around the church door gossiping for two or three minutes and then come in again, only to repeat the affair, thus furnishing food for comment and opportunity (which is readily seized upon) for re marks complimentary, or otherwise No; it does not look well. We loo to members af churches as examples we are sometimes disappointed; look to those who are not bound I church vows, as being mindful to careful about these things, but our di appointment is no less. These thing are destructive of some of the greate and best interests of every son Adam. They descerate the house God; they mar its worship; the cripple and pervert its object; the lower and degrade those who do then MARRIED.
