-Clyde Baxter, youngest son of S. C. and Elizabeth Johnston, aged 11 months and 10 days, died on Monday last of whooping cough and inflamation of the brain. Mrs. Johnston and three other children of the family are still afficted with the whooping cough,

-Attention is called to the advertisement of the Harrisburg Telegraph in this issue. The Telegraph is a paper of established reputation, and is the most reliable paper published at the State Capital, and is one of the best dalies in the State for fresh news.

-Mr. Wm. Fish, of Centreville, Pa., accompanied by his friend, Mr. Gil son, paid Tionesta friends a visit last week. Tionesta creek and the Allegheny river, where Mr. Fish spent his early days, still have charms sufficient to bring him back about once a year, and we know that his many old friends here are always glad to see him.

-An effective cure which is claimed will subdue whooping cough is roasted lemon. It is prepared as follows: Roast a lemon without burning it, cut when hot and squeze the juice upon sugar. Give a teasponful when the cough is troublesome. This is a cure for any kind of a cough and is perfectly safe to take.

-A big stock of oil cloth of the newest and handsomest designs, just received at Holeman & Hopkins'. 2t.

-The Supreme Court has recently decided that "a promissory note which bears the genuine signature of the obligator, but which was, in fact, obtained from him by fraud and under the impression that he was signing an entirely different instrument, is a valid obligation against him, and in the hands of a bona fide purchaser or assignee, for value, before maturity." Moral-Be careful what you sign.

-The much hopped for flood came at last, and we believe all our lumbermen and jobbers got their lumber out in reasonably good shape, except Mr. S. C. Roupe, of Bobs creek, who sucpieces of his timber. The run of lum. ber and timber is rather large for a fall flood. All the rafts got started for the lower market yesterday, and as the river is in good rafting stage now it is likely all will get down safely. The returns from this run will materially assist the lumbermen with their winter's work, and will make times brisk in the woods this winter.

-Who would freeze when you can get a splendid overcoat for $2.50? Holeman & Hopkins have them. 2t.

-There was quite a jam of lumber and drift at the creek bridge last Saturday. The water came up so rapidly on Friday night, that many of the rafts which had been stuck along the ereck came down without pilot or 'forred hand," and the consequence was that six or eight rafts "saddlebagged" on the piers, for a time completely closing navigation. About a half day's work and the jam was started, leaving the channel perfectly clear, and the lumber was all nicely landed below. What might have been a heavy Monday is hardly enough to track loss to the owners was averted by the good management and solid work of the men having charge of the lumber.

-Tionesta now boasts of several telephones, which have laly been put up by Mr. L. Agnew , is engaged in the business inter, as much to pass the time as anything else. Mr. May ir. Kelly's residences are connect, and there is one from Dr. Morrow's rooms, in Smearbaugh & Co.'s building, to Bovard's drug store. Also one from Smearbaugh & Co.'s store to the stabe held in the Presbyterian Church tion across the river. This latter one, to-morrow, (Thursdey) at 11 o'clock, however, was torn down by a raft on a. m. There will also be prayer Monday, the span across the river being so long the wire sagged down withday) vening. All are cordially invi- in a few feet of the water. They are handy concerns, and for short distances answer all purposes as well as the regular Bell telephone. There will doubtless be more of them shortly.

DIED.

HASLET.-In Tionesta, Pa., Thursday afternoon, November 17, 1881, Martha E. Jones, wife of George Haslet, in the 49th year of her age.

Mrs. Haslet was born at Balltown, this county, in 1832, and married to George Haslet, December 20, 1850 She was well known throughout this atives in this and adjoining counties, who will hear with sorrow her death. But no one knows what a day will bring forth. Only one week ago Mrs. Haslet was in her usual health, but now she is no more in the flesh. She was a good wife, a kind mother, and a consistent christian, and died knowing Colored Steel Fashion Plates she had the good will of her neighbors. She leaves a husband and three children to mourn her departure, and may they feel that the Lord will care for them as he has for their loved one .-

The funeral services which took o'clock were conducted by Rev. D. B. Tobey, and were attended by many sympathizing friends.

DAVIS .- In Tionesta , Pa., Nov. 18, 1881, Carrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Davis, aged 23 years, 4 months and 6

Although the deceased had been very low for some time with the dread disease, typhoid fever, her death came rather unexpectedly, as she had for several days been improving, and was considered on a fair way to recovery. Her death is the third that has occurred in the family within the past three months, all by the same disease. Carrie was universally esteemed by all who knew her; and her taking off just in the bloom of young womanhood leaves an aching void in the famyoung friends in whose society she once moved. May she rest in peace, The funeral took place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Hicks.
