Prevention and Treasment of Milk Pever. One of the best methods of preventing milk fever is to feed the cowseveral weaks to several months before calving -scoording to its danger-if in winter, on ordinary dry hay only, with a quart or so of wheat bran, night and morning, to keep the bowels open ; if in summer let her run on a poor pasture, and at all times have a large lump of Liverpool rook sait to lick at pleasure. If the cow has been dried off a couple of months before due to calve, watch the approach to parturation, and if the bag shows extra fall, then begin to daw a small quantity of milk from it two weeks or kus before her time, and increase this, necording to the fullness of the bag, till the calf is dropped; then milk her clean after the calf has sucked, at three equal intervals in every twenty-four hours. In the meanwhile do not increase her feed for a mouth or more, till all danger of fever is passed. If the cow has continued to give milk up within a few days of the time for her to calve, as is sometimes the case, then perhaps it will not be necessary to milk her till after calving. Keep her dry and sheltered from storms and from excessive cold or heat. See that the water she drinks is pure, and that she has all she wishes to take at least three times per day. Never let this water get icy cold, and after calv-ing give it slightly warm for a few days. As soon as affected, if not already in a comfortable stable, put the cow into one, litter the floor well, and always keep this dry and clean. One of the most simple and effectual pre-scriptions for this disease is half a pound of Epsom salts dissolved in three or four quarts of warm water mixed with two tablespoonfuls of sweet spirits of nitre. Wet up a small feed of wheat bran with this. If the cow will not take it so, then put the salts and nitre solution into a strong-necked bottle, raise up the head and pour it down the throat. Repeat this every morning till cured. This simple remedy rarely fails, even in the worst cases, if all the above directions are carefully followed. Rub the bag with lard, mixed with the last strippings, every time the cow is milked. This renders the bag soft and pliable and prevents the milk from caking in it. - National Live Stock Jour-

Farm and Garden Notes,

Keep sheep dry under foot. This is even more necessary than roofing them. Young cows do not give as rich milk as those do of mature age. A lean cow gives poor milk and a fat one rich milk.

Grass grown on manured land gives a more nutritive fodder, richer (especially in albumnoids) than that grown upon unmanured or poorly manured land. The difference is sometimes as great as ten per cent.

A heifer coming in at two years old is the best time for developing her future milking qualities. Comfortable quarters, generous feed, regularity in feeding and hind treatment will do much, however, in rearing a fine milker.

The Gardener's Monthly says that in England apples are dried whole. They seem to be first pared and then placed list with 531. These publications are under pressure, as they are always divided into some twenty classes: business in a new country like this much depressed. An Ohio farmer wants to know what per cent. of grain is lost by the process of threshing, and suggest that farmers see that their straw and chaff piles are run through the machine a second time, and note the result. He believes that, so far as his knowledge extends. enough is wasted to pay the threshing bill.

The Asiatic breeds, such as the Brahmas and Cochins, if overfed with rich grain and succulent roots will soon be come too fat to be serviceable as layers, Fowls need to be well fed in cold weather, but great care must be ex ercised with the breeding stock in particular, as if they become too fat their eggs are often infertile. Allow plenty of green chopped vegetables, such as onions, cabbages and turnips.

Manuro the land heavy enough to make it loose, and plant for several years crops that could be cultivated throughout the season; or, what is still better, grow two crops the same year, and keep them well cultivated throughout the season. Couch grass can be easily killed by hoeing it once or twicthe last of July and first of August with a sharp hoe, entting the grass an inch below the surface of the ground.

The complicated character of the udder with its thousands of little reservoirs renders it necessary to observe great care in drying off the cows in the fall. If milk is left in the udder the absorbents will readily remove the watery portion, but the chusy material is removed with difficulty and is liable to remain and inflame the udder-pa sibly destroy a portion. Every particle of milk should be drawn occasionally till the cow is dry.

As to the five-wire fence, a short time ago I was driving some hogs, and hog-like, they "took another notion," and ran right through the wire fence, and though the barbs made them squeal they did the same thing again and again, and they were not pigs either, but bogs that would weigh over 300 pounds. Another objection to barned wires is that horses and cattle in passing along or standing near, especially in "fly time," often switch in that direction, and often stay switched.

A farm can be stocked with sheep cheaper than with any other animal Sheep will come nearer to utilizing everything which grows on a farm Less labor will be required for getting feed and stock together. The returns will come in sooner and oftener than with any farm stock except hogs. Less money is required for shelter and fencing, and less labor is required for herding, when outside pasturage is accessible and preferred. And finally, a handsome income on the investment can be had without the sale of the animals thimselves.

of breadcrumbs, half-pint of flour, teaspeenful of baking powder sifted in flour, a little salt, half a pound of raisins, quarter of a pound of currents, quarter of a pound of chopped suet, coffeecupful of milk, one egg; tie tight-ly in a bag and boil three hours; to be eaten with hard sauce.

FIRMBALLS.-To make fishballs, out or pick codfish in small bits, take care to remove every piece of bone; let it soak in cold water for an hour; rinse it in another water; let it cook slowly for twenty-five minutes; season with milk, butter and eggs; mix with this about double the quantity of boiled potatoes; add milk or cream to give the desired amount of moisture; shape in round cakes, roll in flour, and fry until brown in hot lard. If the lard is not hot when they are put in they will soak up the fat and will be unpalatable.

IRISH STEW.—About two pounds of the neck of mutton, four onions, six large potatoes, salt, pepper, three piats of water and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Cut the mutton in handsome pieces. Put about half the fat in the stewpan with the onions, and stir for eight or ten minutes over a hot fire, then put in the meat, which sprinkle with the flour, salt and pepper. Stir ten minutes, and add the water, boiling. Set for one hour where it will simmer; then add the potatoes peeled and cut in quarters. Simmer an hour longer and serve. You can cook dumplings with this dish if you choose. They are a great addition to all kinds of stews and ragouts.

FLOATING-ISLAND, -Make a cake with a cup of sugar, cup sweet milk, a wellbeaten egg, a piece of butter size of an egg, little salt, two teaspoonfuls creamtartar, and one teaspoonful of soda sifted in two cupfuls of flour. Beat all together several minutes, and pour the batter, half an inch thick, into a common, long, square-cornered tin. The remainder of the cake will make a small Washington pie. Bake quickly. Make a soft boiled custard by heating four cupfuls of milk in a pail set in a kettle of hot water; when scalding hot, pour a cupful on to three eggs, beaten with a cupful and a half of sugar, and three teaspoonfuls of corn starch; then pour all together, and cook till it begins to thicken, and pour through a tin strainer and flavor with lemon. Lay your cake, cut in small squares, on a platter; sift over powdered sugar, and put a slice of jelly on each piece. Serve by filling a a slice of the cake.

Journalism in the United Staces.

The variety and extent of journalist... in the United States is shown off to great advantage by the forthcoming report of the tenth census. The collection and collation of the facts bearing on this particular national industry was committed to the hands of S. N. D. North, who is himself an experienced newspaper editor, and his report will show that there were printed in this country during the late census year 11.418 periodical publications of which 982 were daily, 8,725 weekly, and the remainder semi-weekly, tri-weekly, biweekly, monthly, semi monthly and tri monthly. New York takes the lead with 1.412, Illinois coming next with Devote i to general news, ion, 572; agriculture, 162; commerce ting up of margins on stock in Wall and fluance, 143; trade, 166; insurance street.—New York Hour. and railroads, 51; magazines and periodicals devoted to general literature, 145; Sunday newspapers, 247; medicine and surgery, 111; law, 44; science and mechanics, 73; education, 23; art, society, music and fashion, 72; college and school papers, 219; children's and Sunday school, 192; freemasonry and similar, 146; illustrated publications, 512; miscellaneous, 496. Of the religious publications there are 114 unsectarian, 75 Methodist, 78 Baptist, 67 Catholic, 32 Episcopalian, 39 Presbyterian, 3 Dunkard, 6 Spiritualist, 6 Mormon and 1 Shaker. An estimate of the cost of running these publications shows that $28.571,336 was paid out in wages alone during the census year; the percentage of which pail for work on daily papers was 56 65 and for weekly and other papers 43.35 per cent. In the production of these publications 50,799 male and 3,855 female operations 50,855 female operations 50, male operatives find employment; 16,-480 persons, among whom are quite a number of females, are returned as editors or en editorial staffs. The gross value of the annual product of these publications amounted to $87,441,132. of which the dailies are credited with $42.750,132, and the others with $44. 601,098. The percentage of receipts from advertising on the former was 59 69, and the latter 48.31 per cent. The percentage of receipts from subscription was - ailies, 46 21; others, 53 79. The people of this country pay out more than $26,000,000 a year for their newspapers and periodicals.

Mr. North's newspaper statistics will soon appear in the shape of a report, which will give an exhaustive history of the subject, and when his investigations, which are of a more thorough nature than ever before made in this line, are completed he will present the Smithsonian institute with a collection,

The Editor and the Smallpox Dector. It was nearly noon, and the city editor in his sanctum was putting the finishing touches to the assignment book, while the waiting scribes in the Inter-Ocean local room were grimly pondering as to what choice bits of work would fall to them when the customary "Book ready, gentlemen," should be heard.

The city editor had just decided that the church reporter needed a little relaxation, and booked him for a dog fight, when, in response to a rap on the door, he ejaculated in his blandest tones, "Come."

The knocker came, and proved to be a colored gentleman of affable manners and the medical persuasion. Said he, "How do?" and the greeting being returned, he resumed:

"You see, haven't been around late-ly; been busy; little matter in the paper I was going to ask you to say something about for me; would have been up before, but been busy; so much smallpox about; I've been nursing one man with smallpox for eight days, and only just run away now to—"

"W-h-a-t? Get out. You don't want to see me. It's a man outside.

And the city editor hollered for the contagious diseases editor and rinderpest reporter. This member of the staff. who draws a princely salary for doing balloon excursions in the summer and epidemics in the winter, was absent' however, having stepped out to buy a sealskin overcoat.

The doctor continued : "Never mind, it's short; don't trouble; only an item. Bad case? Yes, as I was saying, eight days—"

"Afraid of smallpox? There's no danger. After eight days-"

"Get out! Write a letter to the paper, and we'll print it! Get out!" The request to get out was here accompanied by demonstrations, and he got. That is, the caller got as far as the passage, where he was told through the keyhole to communicate by postal card, which card can be soaked in vinegar first, and then read with a telescope from the top of the shot tower.-Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Who Makes Money in Wall Street. But will this Wall street business continue? Does it not seem as if speculation in railway securities has culminsaucer half full of custard and laying on ated? Transactions within ten years have run up from 50,000 to nearly 1,000,000 shares a day. The sales in 1880 amounted to nearly 100,000,000 shares, and in 1879 to about 75,000,000 shares, while during the past year the shares sold reached the enormous total of 128,162,466; in other words a business representing $13,000,000,000. Not only the whole country, but every capital in Europe has been speculating through our stock exchange. But the investigating public has found out that there is no money for it in Wall street. It is the lead rs in the street and the inside operators who always profit at the expense of the outside public. The cards are stocked and the dice loaded every time. Any "square" gambling game gives the man who gives his money a far better chance than when 1032; Missouri standing eight on the he deals in the most conservative securities in the street. Last Tuesday morning I experienced a very annoying stiffness of the neck, which grew worse as the day wore on. Toward evening it became very severe, and I could scarcely turn my head in any direction. Arriving home at tea time It was with difficulty that I could eat my meal. My wife wanted to rub my neck with St. Jacobs Oil, but I refused, saying I thought the affliction would soon pass away. Tea over, against the remonstrances of my family, I left home to ramble toward the new Chestnut Street Opera House, about two and a half miles from my residence. I started in the midst of a heavy snow storm, and remained at the theater until the close of the performance, although I could feel my neck getting worse and becoming very painful. Leaving the play the trouble came to reach home. The storm continued; the car in which I was became blocked in nearly every square, a cold current of air swept through the car, and I did not reach my home until toward 2 A. M., by which time my neck had become absolutely rigid Then I consented to the use of St. Jacobs Oil, which my wife ap plied two or three times before I arose. continued its use that day and by evening I was free from pain, and the next morning I amused myself by twisting my neck in any direction that suited me, and not a vestige of stiffness remained."—Boston Herald.

A Surprised Locomotive

A Swearing Engineer, The people along the line of railway from Tramway Landing, La., to the iniland towns were supprised and amused at a recent occurrence. So many, strange things, however, are constantly presenting themselves to the attention of the people now-a days that genuine surprises are few indeed. This was the exception.
