Mr. Porter had moved away, but before going had left with the new tenant, in trust for Mr. Irwin a pewter porridge platter which once belonged to Robert Patterson, the original of Walter Scott's "Old Mortality," and which was brought from Scotland by one of the family in 1770. Mrs. Porter is a direct descendant of "Old Mortality," and hence came to have the venerable relic in her possession. It is twelve inches in diameter and two inches deep. The platter has been in the possession of the Patterson family for over 200 years .- Franklin extra. Sent to any address, free of Press.

Death of George Morgan.

Mr. George Morgan died suddenly esterday, Tuesday morning, at 8 Although of late in very feeble health he was still able to be about-on Saturday evening last attending a meeting of the Borough Council-his death was a sad surprise to our citizens, many of whom not knowing of the serious turn of his disease, which was a complication of heart and kidney complaints, from which he had been a sufferer for a number of years.

Mr. Morgan was born near Callensburg, Clarion Co., Pa., July 5, 1815 and would have been 67 years of age had he lived one month longer. He came to Tionesta in the year 1868, and embarked in barge building, in which business he was quite successful. He afterwards took charge of the old Gordon Mills at the mouth of -The wife of Henry Miller, of Bear creek, and engaged quite extensuccessful had not old age and poor health prevented his giving the business the necessary attention. The funeral will take place this afternoon, from his late residence, at 4 o'clock.

A Chance for Tionesta.

The citizeus of Titusville are talking very loud of building a narrow guage railroad from that place to the new oil field in Warren county, the route to be either up East Hickory creek, or by the way of Tidioute. There are several roads surveyed and partly graded leading from Titusville, and among them is the old Pennsylvania short line between this section and Petroleum road which was originally intended to run to Pithole. This route could easily be changed to run through Every train is packed, and the travel this place, up Tionesta creek to Minister, thence to the big wells in Cherry be built at a moderate cost on account of the remarkably easy grade up the Warren to Kinzua is already in excel- creek. It would be a standard guage, lent order, and the trains glide over it and would not depend entirely on as smoothly as though it were a road the oil interests to keep it up, as the vast lumber, bark, and mineral resources of that section would be tapped trip over the road would well repay and furnish an immense traffic. The read need not necessarily stop at Ti tusville but could be built to Erie, where it was originally intended to ago of a souvenir that any scholar or run and thus furnish an outlet to the great lakes. With a proper effort put forth by our citizens, now that the boom is upon us it is thought by men who are posted that the scheme could be carried through easily. Let our capitalists give the matter prompt attention and strike while the iron is hot. It would be the making of Tionesta and would prove of greater benefit to the county in general than any railroad within our borders. The golden opportunity should by no means be overlooked by our business men.
