Two Fires in one Week-Fire Engipe, &c.

Our citizens were startled yesterday morning on arising to learn that the Dithridge mill, across the creek had burned down. The news was so startling, indeed, that few believed it, supposing it to have been circulated as a companied home his accomplished joke. The fire was first discovered by wife and handsome children, who had Mr. Lovejoy, who lives near the mill, been paying the family of Hon. E. L. and who had gotten up about 4 o'clock Davis a visit. At any rate when Mr. Lovejoy discovered the conflagration the calliope "tuned up," and discoursed entire shop was enveloped in flames, which had already communicated with the mill and got under good headway. He gave the alarm as quickly as possible, but as there are but one or two families living near the property the structure and all its contents were past recovery before assistance arrived. Nothing was saved in the mill except a couple of ropes which were the only things that Mr. Lovejoy could handle. Geo. Sawyer, who is always on hand promptly at a fire, and who by theway is as good as two or three ordinary men, was about the first one from this side of the creek to arrive at the scene. Mr. Carpenter, our photo artist, with bucket in hand was promptly on the ground, as was also Mr. Sanner, and these were the only Tionestans that were there, and about the partner were about to realize a fair only ones that knew anything about figure for their property. Truly Mr. the fire until it was over.

Whether the mill will be rebuilt we cannot say at present, but think likely it will be, as the site is a good one, and the dam and heaters can be used with proper repairs. The destruction of this mill is a severe blow to the owners as well as to the business interests of our town and we hope that it may be speedily rebuilt and busiss resumed at that point.

ALMOST ANOTHER.

On Monday the roof of the school house was discovered to be on fire, otherwise put things in better running and only for the prompt action of some of our citizens the structure would have been laid in ruins. His plan is-and we think York. it a good one-for the citizens, by subscription, to buy the engine, and the town buy the hose and put up the hose building. A thousand dollars would nearly, if not altogether cover the expense, of which $500 or $600 could easily be raised by subscription. No better investment could be made by the town, and we hope to see the matter pushed forward and an engine secured without delay. The town, on the whole, has been rather fortunate regard to fire, yet we have had several very destructive conflagrations, and there are blocks in the place, which, if burned would cause a loss sufficient to buy several engines. Don't let this matter go up in smoke, as it were.

The public is still in the dark concerning the Balltown and Cooper tract wells, nothing of an important nature having come to light since last week. The owners absolutely refuse to give any information, not even as to when they will open up the wells, consequently the trade hesitates, and the market keeps down. The Balltown parties have lately located a new well and the rig is now going up; it is situated on the Balltown property, 63 rods due north of No. 3. They are also cleaning out No. 3, which they expect to pump. Pipe line connections will be made shortly.
