—Miss Flora Weary departed Monday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Chas. August, at Evansburg, Crawford county, Pa.

—Cold nights and frosty mornings remind one that it's about time to rummage around and find "them last winter's underdoers."

—Judge Taylor, of Venango, came up this morning, and will occupy Judge Brown's seat on the Bench the balance of the week.

—Mr. Benj. May, of Norristown, Pa., accompanied by his grand-daughter, Miss Edna Bailey, is stopping with Tionesta friends this week.

—The kid's base ball club went up the creek last Saturday and played the Buck Mills boys a game, and got scooped in to the tune of 22 to 10.

—Rev. Hicks of the Tionesta circuit of the M. E. Church, departed for Warren, Pa., to-day to attend the Erie Conference, which meets there this week.

—The subscribers to the fire engine fund will have a meeting at the store of G. W. Bovard this evening, and it is requested that all be present as matters of importance are to be transacted.

—Republicans! we admonish you to look after the payment of your State and County taxes. The time is drawing near and the first thing you know you will forget about it until it is late. See to it right now.

—I. B. White and Al. Brecht of Brookston, and J. H. White of Barnett, were among those drafted on the jury this week. Also two of our old friends of Trunkville, Messrs. John Kinnear and Adolphus Crippin.

—Wm. Stockton, who works on Polen's mill, Hickory township, lost the second finger of his right hand on Saturday last, by getting it to close to one of the buzz saws. Doctor Freeman of Tidoute, dressed the wound.

—Squirrels are getting quite plentiful. Strings of five and six are rather a common thing with our sports now-a-days, who are arranging for another hunt a week from next Saturday, when pheasants will be in season.

—Mr. J. P. Stephens has recently opened what is known as the Temperance House, at Newmansville, for the accommodation of the traveling public, and invites all his old friends and travelers generally to give him a call when they are tired and hungry. Good meals at all hours and at reasonable prices.

—More universally recommended than any proprietary medicine made. A sure and reliable tonic, Brown's Iron Bitters.

—We acknowledge the receipt of a very pleasant call from Mrs. W. E. Lathy and Miss Edna Bailey, daughter of our old friend and former townsmen Mr. Warren Bailey, of Norristown, Pa., who is paying her first visit to Tionesta since her parents departed from here, while she was yet in her infancy.

—Mrs. J. I. Range of Stewarts Run, was in town last week among her many old friends, and while here took occasion to pay us a visit which we enjoyed very much. Forest county don't contain any more hospitable ladies than Mrs. Range, and we hope she may live many years to enjoy the fruits of this world.

—Mrs. Wallace, whose death notice appears in another column, was better known to our older citizens as Miss Alice Shriver, and by those who knew her she was much respected as a lady of excellent qualities of heart. She leaves, beside her husband, three children and a large circle of friends to mourn her death.

—Those of our readers who have been invited to inscribe their sentiments in a friend's Album, will find "The Album Writer's Friend" a valuable help. It contains 64 pages, and will be sent by mail post paid on receipt of 15 cents, by J. S. Ogilvie & Co., Publishers, No. 31 Rose Street, New York.

—At a special meeting of Capt. George Stow Post, last evening, the following new members were initiated: Lieut. J. J. Parsons, H. W. Ledebur, James Hunter, James Johnston, John H. White, Wm. P. Siggins, S. J. Setley. The Post now numbers over fifty members, and is in a very flourishing condition, we are glad to state. The next regular meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, Oct. 4.

—Our old friend Paul Blute has gone, went and got married too; it happened last Monday and the happy bride was Miss Eva Boarts. We extend them our best congratulations and join their many friends in wishing them a long and happy future. Paul is one of our most industrious and energetic citizens, and a whole-souled gentleman, who gains the confidence of all with whom he comes in contact, and enjoys the good will of a large circle of acquaintance.

—There is nothing new in Forest county oil matters this week. Of Balltown we haven't heard of anything of interest since our last, except that the pipe line connections are being made as rapidly as possible, and before many days the market will receive its quota of oil from this new territory. Grove, Hart & Co. will have their rig up for the new well near Beaver this week, and will probably commence drilling by the first of next. Wolcott & Co. are down between 800 and 900 feet at their Peters Run well. They will probably finish next week.

—Mr. J. P. Lawson, for several years foreman of the Tionesta section of the B. P. & W. R. R., has been promoted to supervisor of the road between Corry and Buffalo, and expects to take charge forthwith. During Mr. Lawson's residence among us his conduct has been such as to gain for him the highest esteem of all our citizens. His quiet manners and strict integrity will win him friends wherever he goes, and while we are sorry, indeed, to lose him as a citizen we nevertheless congratulate him on his success, and wish him prosperity in the future. His place will not easily be filled here.

—We notice in passing up the creek road, toward Nebraska, that many of the beautiful trees along that pleasant highway have been cut down, but just what the object was we fail to see. Cutting down trees along public thoroughfares is sometimes done to allow the sun to strike the road and keep it dry, but as this road never remained muddy any length of time during the summer we can't see that the destruction of these trees has done any good, but on the contrary has robbed the road of much of its former beauty. Parties working on the roads should be careful not to cut down trees unless absolutely necessary in order to improve the traveling.

—A full line of gold plated chains, Charms, Rings &c., &c., just received at Wm. Smearbaugh & Co. 2t

—Physicians say it combines all the desiderata of every ferruginous tonic prescribed by every school of medicine. Brown's Iron Bitters.

—Up to the hour of going to press court had disposed of none of the cases on the trial list yet. The case of Wm. McKim vs. The B. P. & W. Ry. Co., was settled but on what terms we did not learn. Case of Myers vs. Shawkey was continued at plaintiff's cost. Cases of Com. vs. Chas. Buck et. al., and Geo. Stitzinger, three in all, are now on trial and being disposed of in a bunch, as it were. The Grand Jury, among other things recommended the building of a cistern in the rear of the county buildings, of sufficient capacity to protect them from fire, on condition that the borough procure a fire engine. This is a good step, which every taxpayer will thoroughly appreciate.

—Mr. R. N. Miles, the genial lumberman, is moving his mill to what is known as the Sheriffs, near Balltown, and will manufacture lumber for Messrs. Gibson & Groves, who have between eight and nine million feet of hemlock timber in that section. Mr. M. is adding an extra boiler and engine to his mill and expects to saw fifteen thousand feet per day when once started up, which will be about the middle of October. These gentlemen expect to manufacture an extra quality of hemlock lumber; in fact, that is their special aim, and they will undoubtedly find ready sale for it in market on this account. They are pleasant and reliable gentlemen to deal with and they have our best wishes for success.

—There was a "grand mass meeting" in the Court House Monday evening, at least that was the name given to it by the "engineer in chief." Just what kind of stripe or politics it was could not be ascertained from the announcements stuck up through town, but the fact that two or three doctors were announced to address the people, indicated that some corpse needed resuscitating, and the physicians would be on hand to do the job. The corpse proved to be the greenback party, leastwise that was the inference drawn from the speeches delivered. One of the big medicine men failed, for some cause or other, to put in an appearance, and in his stead our worthy friend Dr. Coburn edified, the audience with a few rambling remarks and by reading some choice selections from newspapers that he had picked up somewhere. Some one of the audience—doubtless it was a miserable Democrat or Republican—was uncharitable enough to remark that the Dr. was obliged to advertise some of the big guns in order to get the people out to hear him make a speech (?), and that even then he dare not name it. This is rather rough on the Dr.

—A good house greeted Gen. Harry White, our nominee for Congress, at the Court House last evening, notwithstanding the fact that very short and limited notice of his coming had been given, word having been received here too late for any announcement in our paper last week. The General arrived in the morning and during the day had the pleasure of meeting many of his old acquaintances besides forming many new ones. In the evening, at the ringing of the bell a large crowd assembled and filled the spacious court room very comfortably. Chairman Brockway called the house to order and Dr. S. S. Towler, of Marienville, was made President of the meeting, with Hon. N. P. Wheeler, of East Hickory, as Vice President. H. L. Miller and J. E. Wenk were elected Secretaries, Dr. Towler in one of his neat and characteristic speeches introduced General White, who delivered a speech that for fairness, frankness and true candor, was never surpassed by any orator before a Tionesta audience. He took up in detail all the great national political issues of the day and discussed them in a true statesmanlike manner. It was his aim to be fair and candid in his utterances to the people. He explained many things that had been said by the opposition regarding his position on certain national issues and measures, which explanations were well received by the audience. He stated his position, in fact, on all the important issues that are likely to come up before Congress, and he did it candidly and openly. He told his hearers that if those views were theirs all well and good, and there was no cause for disagreement; if they differed with him then he was not entitled to their suffrages. He left no one in doubt as to his position, and at the close invited any one in the audience to ask him questions if they had any. None being asked the General thanked his listeners for their kind attention and retired amid enthusiastic applause. After a few pithy remarks by Dr. Towler the meeting adjourned amid the best of feeling. It was gratifying to notice a large number of ladies in the audience, which always gives tone to any meeting.

Stewarts' Run Match Hunt.

The boys of Stewarts Run and vicinity had a match hunt recently, and sent us their score, but it was overlooked last week. They report having had a good time, and a splendid supper at Mr. W. C. Bromley's in the evening. The score is appended below, from which it will be seen that the sides were pretty well matched as compared with the Tionesta hunt:

ORATION.

The following oration was recently delivered by R. Z. Gillespie, of Forest county, before his fellow students of Clark's Commercial College, Titusville, Pa. Mr. Gillespie said:

Mr. President—Ladies and Gentlemen: This is an age in which progress is not debarred by anything whatever. We, as citizens of the greatest government the world has ever known, stand independent of everything that is tyrannical. Then are we not living in a land where we may become mighty? Are we not living in a progressive age? The days of barbarism are numbered with the things of the past. We as rational beings have within our power to become beacon lights to the world. The days are past wherein young men were compelled to stand in the shadows and gaze at the mighty men of the ages and drag away their lives at the forges and other places at physical labor. I do not wish to be understood that physical labor is disgraceful; no, far from it. Do we not need knowledge to pursue them successfully? Other men of intelligence pursue such occupations and why should not we? Let me call your attention to the life of one of our greatest men of the past; Abraham Lincoln was but an ignorant river pilot; not being content with his position he began spending his leisure hours in reading everything he could procure; by being diligent at his studies he became the honor of his family and the pride of his country. With us it is far different; there are free schools throughout the land where we can procure the rudiments of an education; Colleges where we may receive instructions on every known topic that is considered necessary for the well being of man and society. Then does it not behoove us to become educated? Will not we as young men be of far more importance to society by having an education than we could be by lounging about in public places filling our mind with things that will corrupt us in this world and damn our souls in the next? Let me impress this upon your minds: that if we wish to gain an education our success depends exclusively upon our own actions. Our friends cannot impart it to us. True, they may tell us, but we will not thoroughly understand why it is so; we are the ones to find out the depths of science if we ever become familiar with it. Here, in this school, where all the advantages can be as given; here, where the teachers consider it a pleasure to clear our minds of all doubt and give us an insight to everything we may ask concerning the science of commerce, and if we do not make an effort we will fail; but if we do make an effort success is sure to crown our efforts. In conclusion let me impress this upon your minds: Do not make your mark low but high, and then strive to reach it let come what may, and in the near future, when God shall recall the hearts of the children of men we who did our duty in this world shall reign with Him and the Holy Angels throughout an never ending eternity. Good night.
