COUNTY SURVEYOR.

We are authorized to announce H. C. Whittekin, of Tionesta, as a candidate for county surveyor, subject to Republican usages.

Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Convention will be held in the hall of the House of Representatives on the second Wednesday (11th) of July, 1883, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer and the transaction of other business. The attention of Republicans throughout the State is respectfully directed to the following permanent rules established for the holding of State Conventions and the conduct of the party: First, that delegates to State Conventions shall be chosen in the manner in which candidates for the General Assembly are nominated, except in Senatorial districts composed of more than one county, in which conferees for the selection of Senatorial delegates shall be chosen in the manner aforesaid; second, hereafter the State Convention of the Republican party shall be held on the second Wednesday of July, except in the year of the Presidential election, when it shall be held not more than thirty days previous to the day fixed for the National Convention, and at least sixty days' notice shall be given of the date of the State Convention; third, that we recommend to the organizations that in their rules they allow the largest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization. By order of the Republican State Committee, THOMAS V. COOPER, Chairman. Harrisburg, May 3, 1883.

REMINISCENCES OF COLORADO.

At South Arkansas, now Salida, we stopped for breakfast and I assure you we all did justice to what we got; "little enough for one thing," as one of our party said. Aside from low range of mountains the scenery was not very interesting, and we rode along with but little interest. A slight rain had set in and most of us took a sleep; a wreck near Buena Vista delayed us for about an hour, and at Granite we were passed by a Denver, South Park and Pacific train, and you may imagine how strange the initials "D. S. P. & P." seemed to me when I had been accustomed to such as the B. P. & W.; A. V. R. J. R.; N. Y. P. & O., &c. There is something in the initials of a stange railroad car that makes a person feel as though they were lost. This same feeling is experienced by all who have traveled long distances from their immediate vicinity. We did not arrive at Leadville until 1:20 A. M. on account of the wreck, and in consequence missed the train on the Blue River Division for Kokomo. Having looked after our baggage we went "up town." Leadville is a town of about 17,000 inhabitants, and is built on a hill side 10,550 feet above ocean level. Here are some of the richest mines in the state. Fryar Hill is especially productive. But as most people are more familiar with descriptions of Leadville than other places I will not take your space for it, save one little incident. While sitting in one of the principal hotels on Chestnut Avenue, waiting for dinner, some men in an adjoining room (the bar-room) got into a quarrel and commenced to shoot; several bullets came through the partition just over my head and you can feel assured that I was not any too much at ease while the fracas was going on, yet I sat very composedly looking over one of the morning papers, but you may imagine, and sooty too, that I do not remember the thing I saw in the paper. The fracas was over an old gentleman remarked to me: "Young fellow, don't seem to be much afraid." The fellow by saying, "Such a little seed, 'n't amount to much," and true of my paper. After that they vary in bloom and weight from two when the blue vial the train for they come early—yields out of small 'scout-lass.' To a level been my rule. It has a mound-down to me by my forefear. Frederick W. True, commends this, calls it "the folk-lore of flow of 158.4 feet per mile. After winding around the hills for a long time they turn by a large curve and come back within a few feet of their track and runs back, as it were, to the top of the Pass. Arkansas Pass is in the Centinental Divide, 11,826 feet above ocean level, and the air is very rare. The only effect I felt of it was a slight headache which left me as soon as we began to descend. From Arkansas Pass the waters separate and flow in different directions, one into the Atlantic and the other into the Pacific. In our ride to Kokomo we passed Carbonateville, Robinson, and Tabor city; the latter place was a small town named after Governor Tabor, and consisted of a mountain spruce cabin at which "Colorado lightning" was dispensed among the miners at Carbonateville and Robinson.

Kokomo is a town of nearly 1,000 inhabitants, located on Ten Mile creek, and is a supply and distributing point for a large area of country. At this place is located a large smelter and reducing works, and several noted mines among which may be named the After Math mine. There was no school there when I was in the town and but little civilization. The miners, although "big hearted" were nevertheless rough, and the night before I came, two men were shot in a saloon, and the morning of the day on which I came a chinaman was wadded to the "Flowery Kingdom" at the end of a lariat and the other end to a pinow limb. The Chinese are not tolerated in the town, and the above was the third and last that, I believe, ever ventured into the place.

We were obliged to stay at Kokomo for four or five days. We got a tent from Mr. S. E. Reaugh, Res't Eag'r of the Blue River Division, and moving down the valley a short distance went into camp. This the boys called "Camp Whitekin," and from where my readers will remember I wrote to the REPUBLICAN. In a short time all of our equipments were on hand and Mr. Reaugh furnished us with two four-mule teams and large box wagons, and we were soon on the move. The first day we did not travel very far and at about six o'clock we "broke to camp" and our teamsters loosed the mules and let them run wherever wished to, in the valley. All hands fell to getting supper for it must be remembered that each one in the west "goes it alone." We built a large fire of sage bush and when it was coaled down each of us took a slice of ham and putting it on a stick, which we stuck into the ground, retired from the roaring heat until it was roasted, when a few "hard tack," the ham, and water from a spring near at hand, furnished us with "tramp coffee" with which to wash down the hard tack. After supper several of the boys, whom I imagine were a trifle homesick, sang with great effect. "Tis a flower from my angel mother's grave." We were just at the head of Ten-mile canon and the voices rolled down the canon and faded away to an almost imperceptible sound when the effect was difficult to surpass. Night coming on we made our beds and turned in. You may imagine how strange it seemed to me when I woke in the night and saw the stars shining above me with a brilliancy which I never saw in old Pennsylvania. We were at an elevation of over 9,000 feet above ocean level and it was very cold. Once I awoke and saw Venus just rising, up the valley, and the first thought that occurred to me, in my state of semi-consciousness, was "It is the Star of Bethlehem," which may not be wondered at either since that enormous elevation the atmosphere is very rare and also cold; the star shown out with a light more powerful than a three days moon, casting a clearly defined shadow. I did not go to sleep again, but lay awake thinking of the winding Tionesta and the pine clad hills of home as compared to the massive rocky hills which rose before me; also the different disposition and customs of the people. I cannot say that I was happy. Had I been at home again I should not have cared to leave home; but here I was, and I had made up my mind to make the most of my trip and I have now no reason to regret my determination to fight it out on that line if it took the rest of the year to do it, and it did.

F. F. WHITTEKIN, (TO BE CONTINUED.)

—Lupiar & McClure, Hazleton, Pa., says: "We consider Brown's Iron Bitters an article of unusual merit."

A BILL has been passed by the Legislature of New York and signed by the Governor, which provides that the Board of Supervisors of the several counties of the State shall provide for the burial of deceased soldiers, sailors or marines, and shall also provide an appropriate headstone. The act is intended to prevent the burial in future of any soldiers in pauper graves. The example of New York in this respect should be followed by all the States in the Union.

NOTED MEN!

DR. JOHN F. HANCOCK, late President of the National Pharmaceutical Association of the United States, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters has a heavy sale, it is conceded to be a fine tonic; the character of the manufacturers is a voucher for its purity and medicinal excellence."

DR. JOSEPH ROBERTS, President Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:

"I endorse it as a fine medicine, reliable as a strengthening tonic, free from alcoholic poisons."

DR. J. FARIS MOORE, PH. D., Professor of Pharmacy, Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is a safe and reliable medicine, positively free from alcoholic poisons, and can be recommended as a tonic for use among those who oppose alcohol."

DR. EDWARD EARICKSON, Secretary Baltimore College of Pharmacy, says:

"I endorse it as an excellent medicine, a good digestive agent, and a non-toxicant in the fullest sense."

DR. RICHARD SAPIINGTON, one of Baltimore's oldest and most reliable physicians, says:

"All who have used it praise its standard virtues, and the well-known character of the house which makes it a sufficient guarantee of its being all that is claimed, for they are men who could not be induced to offer anything else but a reliable medicine for public use."

A Druggist Cured.

Bloomers, Md., Oct. 11, 1880. Gentlemen: Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of a bad attack of indigestion and fullness in the stomach. Having tested it, I take pleasure in recommending it to my customers, and am glad to say it gives entire satisfaction to all. Geo. W. Hoffmann, Druggist.

Ask your Druggist for BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and take no other. One trial will convince you that it is just what you need.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, The Hon. W. D. Brown, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions in and for the county of Forest, has issued his precept for holding a Court of Common Pleas Quarter Sessions, &c., at Tionesta, for the County of Forest, to commence on the Third Monday of May, being the 21st day of May, 1883. Notice is therefore given to the Coroner, Justice of the Peace and Constables of said county, that they be then and there in their proper persons at ten o'clock, A. M., of said day, with their records, inquisitions examinations and other returns, to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done, and to those who are bound in recognizance to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Forest County, that they be then and there present to prosecute against them as shall be just. Given under my hand and seal this 25th day of April, A. D. 1883.
