AN INVALID.

"Your daughter has a touch of ma laria," said a physician to a New York Indy. "I will call again in the morning. The mother then went to her daugh-

HE DIDN'T SEE THEM.

He was a little green, though he pre-tended to know all about the music she was playing.

She was at the piano knocking Heaven's delights out of a march with some long name and she evidently thought she was paralyzing both him and the instrument. All of a sudden there was a pause.

"What's the matter?" said he. "Wky, I dropped two notes?" "Did you," said he, getting up and looking carefully around the stool and under the piano. "I didn't see you. under the piano. "I didn't see you. Who were they from-but of course you wouldn't tell me, you know.-Econwille Arous.

It is my right," and, draw-ing himself up proudly, he broke his left suspender.

"You speak truly," replied the girl. "An explanation of my action is due you. Know, then, that I am a victim of heredity."

If I could make a dollar as easy as you can, pa, I'd never let my little boy get flogged that way just to save a dol-lar. If I had a little feller that got licked bekuz I didn't put up fer him, I'd hate the sight of money always. I'd feel as ef every dollar I had in my pocket had been taken out of my little kid's back."

I'll give you a dollar to save you from punishment this time, but if anything of this kind ever occurs again, Fill hold you while the teacher licks you, and then I'll get the teacher to hold you while I lick you. SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL.

The Russian government is still en gaged in its war against the phylloxers. It has already spent $150,000 in the en-terprise, and further large sums will be needed to complete the work.

Dr. George Vaney, botanist of the United States department of agriculture, has prepared a catalogue of the North American grasses. It enumerates one hundred and fourteen genera, embracing five hundred and eighty-nine species.

The latest invention made of paper is window shutters as a safeguard against window shutters as a safeguard against fire. It can be made fire-proof, weather-proof and water-proof, and with these three desirable qualities attained, there access nothing in the way of its maneral adoption for all kinds of builders material.

The Japanese are seriously considering the utilization of the hot springs near Tokio as a means of producing both heat and power. In a country where the presence of hot springs and the fre-quency of earthquakes indicates a rapid increase of underground temperature, not a few think that the thing may be quite practicable.

Different woods hold different quantitities of water. According to Scheubler and Hartic, freshly cut hornbeam contains 18.6 per cent. of water; willow 26 per cent.; ash, 28.7 per cent.; birch, 30.8 per cent.; oak, 34.7 per cent.; pine, 39.7 per cent.; red beech, 39.7 per cent.; elm, 44.5 per cent.; larch, 48.6 per cent., and white poplar, 50.6 per cent.

A process has recently been perfected in France for saving and cleaning the oil that is taken from the wool of sheep in cleansing. It is very valuable for lubricating purposes. The fine-wooled sheep have wool which is very rich in oil, but it has hitherto been regarded as so much waste, and detracting as much from value of the fleece as an equal weight of dirt.

Wooden ties for raliways are becoming wooden hes for ranways are becoming more expensive every year, and the time, is coming when possibly some substitute wid have to be devised for them. The chief engineer of the Reading railroad is about to try some experiments with steel ties. They would be the same in size and there as the present wooden ties, event shape as the present wooden ties, except that they would be hollow; and they would practically last until they rusted away, while the best oak ties last only about eight years. Some of the advantages claimed for the steel tice are that the expense of maintaining the track would be reduced, the road-bed would be firmer and smoother, and trains could run at much higher speed over them. The wear and tear on track and rolling stock would also be lessened, because the track is smoother. For these reasons trains could run faster without increasing the expense proportionately.

The Carp.

The carp is the best pond fish yet known, and in a very small pond will thrive well, so that families in the country may easily have their own fish garden, if they have enough water to make a per-manent poud. The fish will thrive on table refuse and almost anything edible. Carp can be kept in winter in a tub in the cellar, the water requiring to be kept fresh. Care should be taken to keep poisonous substances out of carp ponds, and too much food should not be thrown in. The carp roots about in the mud for aliment, and much resembles poultry in its manner of getting food. Carp aged three years are often found to weigh from twelve to fifteen pounds, and a gain in weight of four pounds has been observed in a carp in one year. The carp is slug-gish, while trout, bass, and other lively fish frisk about, and do not fatten so fast

A TERRIBLE PROPHECY.

The Hod Sameta Cyribues and Earth-guakes Forecelling Coming Disas-ter-How is Most It. The recent mysterious appearances follow-ing sumet and preceding suorise have at-rected wide attention from students of the Ing samet and preceding sourise have at tracted wide attention from students of the skies and the people generally. During the days of recent weeks the sun seems to have been elsecared by a thin vell of a dull leaden hue which, as the sun received toward the horizon, become more luminous, then yellow, then orange, then red; and, as night settled down upon the earth, a dull purple. At first it was thought these appearances were gr-dinary muset reflections of light, but it is now pretty certain that they are either the misty substance of the fall of some unseen comet, in which the earth is enveloped, or a surrounding stratum of world dust or very small meteors. Professor Brooks, of the Red House Observatory, Phelps, New York, has turned his tele-scope upon those objects and discovered what he thinks are myrinds of telescopio meteors. If it is unorganized world dust, or decomposed vanors, as the Democrat and Chronize, of Rochester, N. Y., remarks: "How is this matter to be disposed of! Will it settle and form a deposit upon the earth, or remain a partial opaque shell should have the earth to rut off a portion of the sun's light upon it f" "What were the mystery is, there is no deny-ing that some very strange forces are at

The terrible torna-does and cyclones which have swept our own country, and the fearful volcances and earth quales which have destroyed so many cities and thousands of people—the tidal waves which mysteriously rise and fall on coasts hitherto unvaced by them—the tramendous activity which is evident in the sun by the constant revelation of enormous spots upon its surface—all indicate unusual energy in the heavenly bodies.

in a measure, the prediction of Professor Grimmer, but disturbing as his prediction may be we are told for our com-iort that the strong and pure blooded eaed have little to fear in these calamities, that those who are delicate or indisposed should adopt means to keep the system well sup-ported and the blood pure, and that the most philosophical and effective method of accom-plishing this is to keep the kidneys and liver in good condition. From the testimorials of such men as Dr. Dio Lewis and Professor R. A. Gunn, M. D., Dean of the United States Medical College, New York, and thousands of influential non-professional people, it seems almost certain that for this purpose there is no preparation known to science equal to Warner's Safe. Cure, better known as warne's Safe. Cure, better known as indicine has acquired the flost reputation of any preparation that was ever pet upon the narket. humane society man told me to keep a watch and when I saw any of these fellows that bring calves to town in a wagon abusing the calves, to make them stop it, or have them arrested. A FATHER'S CURSE. "Good-bye, McNulty!"

The tall, lissome form of Esmeralda W. Perkins was sharply outlined against Vivian McNulty's left ear as he stood that beautiful June evening in the doorway of Brierton villa, hoping against hope, and praying that something-he knew or cared not what-might occur awful sorrow that was hanging over it like a pall-a sorrow that would make every day an con of misery, every word of joy that others might utter a knell of cloannir.

They had quarreled, these two-they who in the beautiful days of autumn, when the leaves were turning golden, when the hills were crowned with amber light and the valleys seemed like huge cups brimming over with a purple haze, and when the trotting record was lowored to 2:081, had plighted their troth so willingly and yet so solemnly, think-ing, and rightly, too, that this blending forever of two hearts was a solemn, holy act, one that should ever be looked upon in silent gratitude-and now they were to part forever, take separate paths on the eventful journey of life-that journey which they hoped by constant companionship and enduring love to make one of ceaseless joy and sweet content, But now all was changed, and the rose-tinted away forever, and inits place there was a yawning chasm of despair and grief. You sympathetic ladies who send nickels and silver pieces by a servant to the poor organ grinder who stands at your door, or who throw down to him from an upper window pennies wraped in thick writing paper, may like to know how much the man gets in the course of the day, and what he does with his money. For the latter he does not spend more than a seventh part of it. He puts it in a bag and then in a long, low chest in his room, to save till he has enough to to sweep from the horizon of his life the go back to Southern Italy and live at his ease. More often he joins every night a select club of fellow-countrymen, who stack up their organs at the end of the room, and gamble, gamble the pennies away in long and deficious excitement. How much, think you, does he earn ? More than a carpenter, or a bricklayer, or a policeman, or a postman, or salesman in a store, who wears gloves and a silk hat. He averages $4 a day. He labors systematically, and has his regular beat, and his varied art to extract the penny from persons of each class he plays before.
