LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Condensed Time Table Tionesta Station.

Table with columns for NORTH and SOUTH, listing train numbers and times.

—Preaching in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning and evening, by Rev. Hickling.

—Rev. Hicks will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. Church next Sunday evening, at 7:30.

—Presbyterian Sabbath School at 12:30 p. m.; M. E. Sabbath School at 10 a. m.

—To-day is the first day of the Lenten season.

—Mrs. Sue Sharp is visiting friends and relatives in Philadelphia.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Agnew are guests of Tionesta friends this week.

—Oil Market closed last night at $0.99 1/2. Opened this morning at 1.00.

—Court adjourned last evening. The proceedings—what there is of them—will be published next week.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stow of Bradford, were guests of Mrs. H. H. May during the past week.

—Mr. W. Byrom, of Byrom's Station, Jenks twp., was in town this week and paid our sanctum a pleasant visit.

—Mr. C. W. Moon had the misfortune to fall, while leaving his work in the woods on Monday, and dislocate his right shoulder, which will doubtless lay him up for some time.

—The home of J. F. Root, of East Hickory, was made glad by the arrival of an eleven-and-a-half pound boy on the 22d. We think John ought to call him George Washington.

—New maple sugar ought to show up pretty soon. It's got so now-a-days, however, that old sugar warmed over counts the same as new, like Josh Billings' boarding-house hash.

—Councilman Fones is having the finishing touches put on his house near the school house. An addition is being put on the rear, and it will be a very comfortable residence when done.

—Miss Bertha Harland, daughter of our old friend and former townsman, W. B. Harland, returns to her home this week, after a visit of several months with relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

—Last Friday evening Jake Siggins fell down the abandoned cellar way in the alley at the south end of the Lawrence House, and was quite severely bruised about the head. Also jamming one of his hands quite badly.

—H. J. Hopkins & Co. have just finished invoicing their goods and will bring on their spring goods shortly. In the meantime they are offering some rare bargains in winter goods to make room for the new stock.

Lost—A dark brown, or liver-colored pup, about 3 months old; had a new strap around neck. Any one knowing his whereabouts will confer a favor and be suitably rewarded by making it known to N. S. Foreman, Tionesta, Pa.

—We are in receipt of an unsigned communication from Fagundes, in which the writer states that if we don't publish to please let him know the reason. Now, this is a pretty hard matter to do when he fails to sign his name.

—A. C. White, Esq., of Brookville, paid our town a visit this week, and during his stay had the pleasure of meeting many of our prominent citizens. Mr. White is the choice of Jefferson county for Congress in this district, a staunch Republican, one of the leading lawyers of the Bar of his county, and a pleasant gentleman to meet.

—A flock of wild geese passed over this place Monday going due south. This would indicate more cold weather were it not that all prophets have failed in their prognostications this winter. But perhaps the geese know more about it than Vennor. They ought to.

—Mr. J. D. Hulings, whose business has kept him in the lumber regions of West Virginia on and off for two years past, is making arrangements to move his family there shortly, we learn. "Dad" is one of Tionesta's oldest residents, and his familiar form will be much missed here should he leave us.

—The delivery horse of H. J. Hopkins & Co. took a notion to raise highjinks last Friday morning, and did so, but came out second best in the fracas. After turning two or three sharp corners both he and the wagon took a turn and landed in the middle of the street in front of the Central House. Not much damage done.

—Messrs. Charles M. Cox and Wm. C. Morey, of Boston, paid our town a visit during last week. These gentlemen are largely interested in the well-known Spooner tract situated on Tionesta creek. They made the acquaintance of quite a number of our citizens, and seemed well pleased with their visit. We hope they will come often and stay longer in the future.

—Our announcement corner is swelled by the addition of several new names this week, as follows: Congress, Hon. Andrew Cook, of Barnett; Assembly, Mr. Peter Berry of Howe, and Dr. S. S. Towler of Jenks; Sheriff, Mr. Leonard Agnew of Howe, Mr. J. R. Landis of Barnett, and Mr. Jas. R. Clark of Tionesta; County Commissioner, Mr. S. J. Setley of Kingsley.

—Mrs. N. P. Wheeler, of East Hickory, will please accept the thanks of the editor and his better half for a supply of the largest, sweetest and most luscious oranges it has ever been our pleasure to feast upon. A short time before his death Capt. Alexander Smith, father of Mrs. Wheeler, planted an orange grove in Florida, from which this delicious fruit was plucked.

—Morris the Tailor, Oil City, wishes to inform his friends and many customers in this section that he has just received a large stock of fresh goods for the spring trade, and is prepared to turn out suits on short notice and in the latest style, guaranteeing a perfect fit and entire satisfaction in every case. Mr. Morris asks an inspection of his stock.

—Week before last some one entered the house of Mrs. D. Robb, at Oldtown, while she was visiting with friends at Fox Creek, and ransacked it from cellar to garret. The thieves succeeded in finding the lady's watch and a large pocket book, which they stole. Her papers, receipts &c., were strewn over the floor promiscuously, and it is evident the thief or thieves were expecting to find some money. Our informant fails to state whether they got any. No clue to the perpetrators has as yet been discovered.

—Our congratulations and best wishes are cordially extended to Mr. Dolph Seigle and Miss Nora Hulings, whose marriage notice appears in its proper place to-day. The happy couple took their departure for Clarinda, Iowa, on Monday, where they will remain for some weeks, and from thence to Washington Territory, where Mr. S. expects to embark in the lucrative business of brick-making, a trade which he understands thoroughly. May their journey through life be a happy and prosperous one.

—M. A. K. Weidner Esq., one of Clarion county's prominent lawyers, was a guest of Tionesta this week. Mr. W. is one of Clarion's candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district. He is an outspoken gentleman, a good talker, and should he go to congress would make himself heard, don't you forget it. Mr. Weidner's opponent in Clarion county is Jas. T. Maffet Esq., a leading member of the Bar, and who's acquaintance we had the pleasure of making this week, and find him a very pleasant gentleman.

—Just received—A full line of Ladies', Misses', Children's and Infant's Shoes, in fine and common goods. Honest reliable goods at low prices. Wm. Smearbaugh & Co. 4t

—Boneless Codfish, Fresh Lemons, 35 kinds fine Toilet Soap & Perfumery at Wm. Smearbaugh & Co.'s. 4t

—The ball at Lawrence Hall last Friday evening under the the auspices of Capt. Stow Post was a very pleasant but not a financial success owing to the bad state of the roads, and the fact that the evening train happened to be detained, preventing a large number from Tidioute, Hickory and intermediate points from getting here. The crowd numbered about seventy couples, which just about let the Post out whole with no extra change to throw at the birds. However, those who attended had a jolly good time. Reig's orchestra fully sustained their excellent reputation on this occasion, as did also the proprietor of the House in getting up a splendid supper. As a whole the party was all that could be expected under the circumstances, and the managers have no reason to feel ashamed of their first effort. We hope Providence may be on their side next time.

—Last Wednesday evening G. W. Brown, of Youngsville, Pa., assisted by Henry Brace and W. E. Witherel, of Century Union, No. 418, of Braceville, organized East Hickory Union, in the M. E. Church, at Hickory with 74 applicants for Charter, and with the officers named below:

Examining Physician—J. B. Siggins, M. D. Representative to County Union—F. E. Allison. Night of meeting—Tuesday of each week.

CORRESPONDENCE.

CLARINGTON NOTES.

The scribe who would appropriate another scribe's nom de plume, and then slander it by prefixing "Old" deserves no humanity at the hands of his fellow citizens.

The ice went out without doing any damage.

Joseph Lander's wife has been quite ill for some time. She is now better.

There is about 300,000 feet of timber on the banks of the Clarion at this place. There is considerable timber to run on the Clarion this spring, although not nearly so much as usually run.

There will be a large run of boards from the upper Clarion.

Abe Braden and Frank Elder have bought 4 acres of land lying along the old head-race which lead to the Armstrong saw mill. They intend to move the Baxter Saw Mill to this place, and will engage in the manufacture of lumber.

Mrs. Butterfield and Mrs. Tilletson are at their old home in York State where they have been called by the death of their mother.

Mrs. Jane Brandon wife of Uncle Jimmy Brandon was buried in the Clarington grave-yard, Saturday, Feb. 9. She had been in poor health for years.

There seems to be considerable sickness in the form of bad colds among the children in nearly every part of the county.

Sylvanus Zents of Greenwood is able to hobble around again a very little. By-the-way, he has put in at Troutman as fine a raft of oak timber as ever went in there. It is only 4 platforms long and yet the length of the raft is 195 feet; a platform of 40's, 45's, 50's and 60's.

Some of 'the boys' are doing some good fishing once in a while.

Friends from Armstrong Co. have been visiting with Mr. W. H. Raris's.

"Old Tramp" seems to ignore our school-ma'ams. No reason why he should. He doesn't do our male teachers more than justice.

W. H. McClane, the popular teacher of Greenwood, has moved his family from Armstrong Co., with the intention of becoming a citizen of Forest Co.

BYROM'S.

A revival meeting is in progress with considerable success so far. Since your 'Tramp' last visited Byrom's two shingle mills have been put into operation here: Brury and Nash's, both sawing hemlock into shingles. Byrom's mill saws pine shingles.

Business is quite brisk.

We had the pleasure of meeting an old time friend here, Oliver Boyd, who has wisely settled down to married life, and is living at Nash's.

We also met Aaron Tilletson and John Bailey here. John is still hefty on church music.

One of the boys went out on a hunt the other day and not coming in on time the people became alarmed and guns were fired and the whistle at the mill set going. Fortunately the lost man came in near the long hour of the night.

There seems to be a disposition to settle up this part of the county permanently.

A literary is in progress here, meeting alternately here and at Frost's SCATTERING.

Jenks Twp. is reported to have had 68 candidates in all at the recent election.

The Jenks School Board has put a good map of Forest Co. into all its schools. A commendable step.

Rafting is going on in earnest along the Tionesta,—but all boards—no timber.

Salmon creek mill has been running and is undergoing some repairs.

Floyd Proper knows more about boating than he used to, but his experience was chilly.

The Extract Company is getting out the timbers for a new bridge at Kellestville.

Justis Shawkey has moved his family into part of his store building at Kellestville.

Your 'dispondent' had the pleasure of meeting T. B. McChesney at Garfield lately, where he is in the grocery line, and passing two nights with O. T. Ambsbury at the same place. Oliver is a first rate cook, and can make a bed first rate—if he would.

Harmon, at Salmon Creek, met with an accident. A log rolled against his foot jamming it considerably.

R. Z. Gillespie of Whig Hill paid Kellestville a visit Saturday. Your 'Tramp' learns that the schools in session this winter are doing good work. There is a very evident disposition on the part of teachers to improve themselves and their work in the schools.

Some of our good people seems a little afraid of "new ideas" in teaching. But when our teachers have made themselves fully acquainted with the "new ideas" and have learned to bring them in with proper tact then "new ideas" will be welcomed. Methods of doing all other kinds of work are changing and improving, and why not, too, methods of doing school work?

TRAMP. Feb. 25, 1884.

East Hickory Etchings.

We are still on terra firma, despite the recent floods that have threatened destruction in every direction. Our bridges are all safe, thanks to a kind Providence, and good ropes applied in time. The new bridge across the Allegheny is still "Staunch and strong, a goodly vessel, that shall laugh at all disaster, and with wave and ice berg wrestle." The plank roads is unusually good for this season of the year, and business is lively about the mills. Rafting has begun, and the indications of an early spring are good. The protracted meeting in the M. E. Church closed week before last. And last week we were holding ourselves in readiness to attend the local institute which was to take place Thursday and Friday, but owing to the very inclement weather, bad condition of the roads, etc., it was thought best to postpone the same. However, as Miss Belle McClintock had been engaged to sing Friday evening it was thought best to carry out that part of the programme, and we enjoyed a rare musical treat that will long linger in our store of pleasant memories.

Miss McClintock is too well known to need description, and yet this is her first appearance in Forest County, some of your readers may not have been privileged to hear her. She has a winning manner, and the rare trait of looking handsome while singing. Her songs were appropriate and charming, and whether we sighed over "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," or smiled over the "The Three Old Maids of Lee," or broke into raptures of applause over her exquisite rendition of "Comin' thro' the Rye," or appreciated the skill in execution of more difficult music, it was all alike charming and delightful. She was ably accompanied by your talented pianist Miss Maude Davis, who also favored us with two instrumental selections admirably performed. Mr. F. A. Wheeler was in good voice and was joyfully welcomed by the audience. When the first selection was announced, "My Home on the old Ohio," one gentleman in the audience who was familiar with the late aspiring freaks of that noble stream, said, "C'rackey it is ten feet under water by this time," but we will hope that the home in the song was built above high water mark. Prof. Hillard made some plain and pertinent statements concerning the lack of attendance in our public schools, and urged the necessity of more effort being made by teachers and parents to secure a fuller and more regular attendance. Prof. Hillard is deeply interested in the welfare of our County's schools and he should receive the thanks of all who favor education for his zeal in the cause, and may the next Local Institute be a success as it would have been this time but for the weather.

We are glad to know that the little daughter of our genial merchant, Mr. T. J. Bowman, is recovering from the severe illness which has thrown such a dark shadow over his home for many weeks.

Dr. Siggins has a large and increasing practice, and we wish him success in his arduous profession.

February 23, 1884. HICKORY.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

Mr. G. W. Brown, of Youngsville, is here organizing a lodge of the Equitable Aid Union, and we are glad to state is meeting with good success.

The East Hickory brass band is progressing finely, and will be in good tune to go out to play by the time warm weather comes. Should any of our neighbors need any brass music we can cheerfully recommend the boys of this place.

Some of our citizens purpose building a town hall the coming spring. Then hurrah, boys, for a social hop.

The young ladies of this place will give an oyster supper at the East Hickory House next Friday evening, Feb. 29, for the benefit of the band boys. Supper 30 cents. Everybody is invited.

We've had a second Noah's flood, which left our yards covered with ice and mud; instead of filling the ark three by three, the boys for safety climbed a hickory tree; and to escape the awful sight, the girls for the mountain took their flight; and one poor lad, who thought himself brave, came pretty near roosting beneath the wave. A happy porker who seemed at rest, was suddenly dragged by the ear from his nest; but he found it was only George, his friend, who was bound to stand by him until the end; Alas for his unfortunate mate, he stood up manfully and met his fate; he was carried down stream mid ice and logs, and went to dwell with all good hogs. But the flood is over with little damage done, so we talk it all over and have much fun. LITTLE CLIPPER.
