MANY FRIENDS.

The County Convention of Clearfield county instructed its delegates to present the name of Hon. John Patton for Congressman-At-Large. General Patton is well known throughout the State as a staunch Republican and a liberal hearted gentleman. His popularity was well attested when he ran for Congress in the Old District against James K. Kerr, whom he defeated in a district largely Democratic, by a handsome majority. His faithful and efficient services in the famous Thirty-seventh Congress along with Thaddeus Stevens, Galusha A. Grow, Honest John Covode and others are well remembered by his constituents. The Convention also gave James G. Blaine a flattering notice of its intentions.

Judge MEHARD was renominated by the Mercer County Democrats yesterday. As a Republican will be elected, Judge Mehard's term of office, being merely the unexpired months of the late Judge McDermitt's term, will be a short one. As the argument in favor of re-electing judges of long experience does not apply in Judge Mehard's case, there is no good reason why a Republican should not be elected by a large majority.

The Democratic clans meet in Harrisburg to-day to nominate their fall victims, and pass treacherous tariff resolutions.

More on That Situation.

The article in our last issue had the effect to stir up the "ringsters" in a livelier manner than we had anticipated. They don't like the idea of having their little piece of trickery, by which they are conniving to run the honest Greenback voters into the Democratic trap, shown up in its true light. They have the conceit to think that all they have to do is to give two or three yelps of "fraud and reform" and every body will "chip in" and help it along. They don't stop to think that honest people and honest voters will consider where these cries and invectives come from before they take any stock in them, and, finding that they are but the savings of two or three political tricksters who have done nothing in politics all their lives but that has been very strongly tainted with the worst kind of bossism, and who are only working to get a set of officials whom they can handle and make use of as their own property, they will hurl them back into their teeth with sneers and contempt. The boss of the Commonwealth attempts to answer our article, and how does he do it? Why, by simply trying to justify his course of fusion with and adoption of Democratic principles, by stating that the Republicans in some parts—dear knows where—have fused with the Greenbackers. This embodies about all there is in his reply to justify his course.

The "manager" also says in another place that "there are a few persons who call themselves Greenbackers, who won't vote the ticket this Fall." Yes, yes! a few who call themselves, &c. Well, this insult means, we suppose, that those who won't stand up to the rack and take the dose as the bosses have prepared it for them, are not Greenbackers, and he therefore reads them out of the party. Only a short time ago, according to this same boss it was a political crime for any member of the party to vote anything but the straight Greenback ticket; now, the honest voter who dares to offer a protest against the new system of bossism is sneered at as a "simon pure Greenbacker." Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. But, he goes on to say, "we have entered into a business transaction." Aye-aye! a business transaction, whereby we propose to parcel out the offices to suit our own ideas! and he might have added, "in order to carry out the plan as we have laid it down, we have taken the matter out of the hands of the people, without their consent, and placed it in the hands of a few delegates, where we can handle it, and nominate just such fellows as we want, and that will do our bidding."

These self-constituted bosses have thrown over-board their former system of nominating candidates by the popular vote of the people, and adopted the obnoxious machine method of nominating by delegates, which all know is the most dangerous and unfair of all systems, and only advocated by political tricksters. This change, too, was made in direct violation of their rules which provide that all changes must be made "by the return judges as they may be instructed by the people at their primary meeting." &c.

The Commonwealth makes reference to the associate judges and says they are above suspicion. This is a fact; we know them to be honorable and square men, both of them, and so does every other unbiased person who knows them, but it seems that the National Democrat, J. M. Kepler's paper, has other views on the subject as is shown by an article published in that sheet on December 7th, last, only four months ago. The following is taken from the Democrat of that date:

The above item is mean and contemptible, and is only one of the many slurs thrown out by that sheet against honest officials. It simply shows how far a political demagogue will go to find fault; what mountains can be made from mole-hills. And yet this is the man whom the self-appointed bosses have "entered into a business transaction" with; the man whom the honest voters are asked to fuse with, and help to elect to office such men as he may dictate, perhaps himself; the man whom these two associate judges and their friends are asked to enter in politics with; the man who, more than any other, has abused and cursed the Greenback party and many of its individual members. How will the honest, consistent voters take it? They will say, "not any in our dish, please."

And the ringsters cry "reform." Reform what? Until this "business transaction" was "entered into" by these bosses we never heard a solitary charge of mis-management in our county affairs, except by the National Democrat, and then never against a Republican official. How does Forest county stand financially today? Not a dollar of liabilities, and over thirteen thousand dollars of assets! A tax levy of only five mills on the dollar—the smallest it has ever been before! Does this not give the lie to the demagogic cry of mis-management! Is there another county in the broad State of Pennsylvania that can make anything like as good a showing? The old cry of "stop, thief!" is entirely too old a trick for honest, thinking people. If you know of any fraud the best way is to show it up. And while you are rummaging around for evidence be careful you don't run against a "circumstance," be careful you don't butt your brains out against a solid wall. As between the few tricksters who are blowing loudest for reform, and the county officials, who are above reproach, we'll see whose characters and official acts will stand the most overhauling.

Dr. EDWARD B. FOOTE as a representative of Eclectic Medicine, as a writer of popular medical literature, and as a physician stands prominent, and is, perhaps, throughout the world, better known by his writings than any other medical writer who has directed his teachings to the people rather than the profession. Born and raised among Connecticut settlers, on the "Western Reserve" in Ohio, he early began the work of many self-made men. Starting at the age of sixteen as "printer's devil" in a newspaper office, he worked his way to the editorial chair, and was severally connected with the most prosperous weekly (of its time) in Connecticut, and the first successful morning paper of Brooklyn, N. Y., but his main impulse had always been toward the study of medicine, and to this end business enterprises were sacrificed until an apprenticeship with a noted botanical specialist, and a course of study finishing with graduation, found him prepared to follow out the bent of his life to its completion. He was among the earliest of those who advocated the publication of anatomical, physiological and hygienic books for the masses, and his success in writing interesting and popular books has been conspicuous. His first and best known book, entitled "Medical Common Sense," reached a circulation of 250,000 copies, probably because of its originality and novelty in a new field; and his subsequent writings have been mainly in the same line, "Science in Story" having been written for the purpose of affording a readable book for children, and one which should make plain to their comprehension the facts which be considered it necessary for them to know concerning their own bodies.

In speaking of the late Prof. J. S. Smith, of Oxford, London, Nature remarks: "It has been said that in scientific thought, the best and most original ideas have always been conceived before the age of thirty." This is probably true, also, of the original of this portrait. His most radical thoughts were published in his first work, written before he was twenty-nine years of age, and though his pen is never long idle, his first success has not yet been equalled by subsequent work, though his "Plain Home Talk," a revision and enlargement of "Medical Common Sense," seems likely in time to obtain a circulation rivaling that of its predecessor. In practice Dr. Foote has always been independent, progressive and original, always a foe of old-fogyism and trade-unionism in medicine; once a disciple of the old Thompsonian botanical school, as opposed to mineral and blood-letting practice, and now a staunch supporter of eclecticism in all that the name implies. He has been actively engaged in the practice of his profession for thirty years, and as the portrait given herewith is from a recent photograph, hard work appears to agree with him, and he looks equal to twenty years more of it.
