Only a few days more to pay taxes.

The indications that the city of New York will not give a Democratic majority in November are increasing daily. Butler's contingent will more than absorb the usual Democratic surplus.

When the political skies are more than usually black for the Democrats, we hear a great deal about Independent Republican movements for Cleveland. It might be expected since the failure in Maine, that the talk about Independent Republican support would stop.

HAMILTON FISH, Republican Secretary of State for eight years under General Grant, Governor of New York and United States Senator, declares for Cleveland.—National Democrat.

Hold up, neighbor. Not so fast, please. We are aware that the above campaign lie was started by that prince of liars, the New York World, and that Ex Secretary Fish lost no time in denying the slander, but that don't justify your course in re-producing it at this late day when you must certainly know differently. But that's about the way all the accessions to Cleveland, claimed by Democratic papers, are panning out. It is now conceded on all hands that yours is a desperate and hopeless case and requires desperate remedies, but that kind of "campaigning" never did and never will win.

BELVA LOCKWOOD will not stump New York with Grover Cleveland. She is not that kind of a girl.

The endorsement of Cleveland by Tammany does not seem to settle the New York Democratic nerves, but the afflicted watch John Kelly like hawks. A day or two since the latter chanced to be seen shaking hands with Ben Butler upon his arrival from the West, and now the bobnobbing of the faithful as to what the Kelly-Butler conference means is agonizing. In the meantime Kelly seems to bear all this with a great deal of equanimity.

It is not a little strange that the Democratic and mugwump press should be so persistent in their labor of defamation of Blaine, in the face of the utter uselessness of their efforts? They tried by their falsification, to defeat his nomination, and failed; then they would smother the public judgment under the weight and stench of their nastiness and carry Vermont against him, and failed; then they were answered by calling out a degree of enthusiasm that made his progress from the east to New York and his reception there one of the phenomena of the times. They would surely have a better show if they would drop the nastiness and discuss with dignity the issues before the country, and be entitled to some little respect after the election is over, and they begin to win the battle of 1888.

Let every Republican see that his taxes are paid at once. The time is short, and before you know it, will be past. Attend to it right now.

Blaine and Logan.

It may be safe to say that the Republicans have opened the campaign in Ohio. General Logan, our gallant candidate for Vice President, was greeted at Youngstown last Saturday by fifty thousand people. Mr. Blaine left Maine the middle of last week on his western trip, and his receptions thus far have been the largest and most enthusiastic ever given to a living man. Nothing has ever been known to compare with the great outburst of enthusiasm that greets him all along the line. In New York the people were fairly wild. His visit to Philadelphia yesterday called out the largest crowd by far that has ever assembled to do honor to a great man, and nothing like it was ever known before. He will go into Ohio this week, and from thence to Indiana, and perhaps Michigan. These mighty demonstrations in honor of our matchless ticket has overawed the Democratic managers, and the whole caboodle are on the dead run now. It has doubtless been observed that there isn't nearly so much sneaking among our Democratic friends over "Blaine's magnetism" as there was awhile ago.

The time for registry is past, and the next duty to be performed by the voter will be to see to it that he has paid a State or County tax within two years. Where a voter has paid this tax registry is not such an act as to disfranchise those who omit it, but there can be no evasion of the tax requirement, and those who neglect it will lose their votes. The last day on which tax may be paid will be October 4.

We would be under obligations to our Republican neighbor if he would publish the vote of Maine, wherein he gets nearly 21,000 majority for Mr. Robie. The majority is less than 18,000.—Democrat.

Here are the latest figures: Robie, Republican, 78,912; Redman, Democrat, 59,061; majority for Robie 19,851. In your issue of the 12th inst., you said the Republicans had carried the state by about 16,000. Which comes the nearest to the truth? But Democrats thought the majority would not reach 5,000. By-the-way, wasn't it in 1880, when the Democrats carried Maine in September, that you hung out a very dirty rag announcing the result? Where is that rag this year?

The fusion press of this Congressional district speak of "Reitz, the Administrator," meaning the gentleman nominated at Kittanning several weeks ago. We have taken the pains to ascertain how much there was in this claim of being an "Administrator," and find by the records that his name is used in connection with twelve estates, and that he gave bail in the munificent sum of less than $16,000 for the faithful performance of his duties. His experience in this line commenced in 1878, and it is asking a good deal of the people to trust a man with such meagre experience, and on that recommendation solely, with the exacting duties of a member of Congress. Of course, it is asserted that Mr. R. has served as postmaster in his township, overseer of the poor, &c., but the duties of even these offices are not such as to recommend him as eminently fitted for a seat in Congress. In connection with his "Administrator" business he has taken advantage of an occasional opportunity to pettifog, appearing before Justice's courts in the lower end, and perhaps it was in this pursuit that he acquired that fitness for the office which the organs speak of. At any rate it was not while following the plow, for it is admitted that that is not the kind of farmer he is, that pleasant exercise being left for others, not "Administrators," to perform.—Brookville Republican.

JUDGE BURKE, Vice President of the Columbus & Hocking Valley railroad, a large mine owner in the Hocking Valley, confirms Mr. Blaine's denial of having an interest in the coal syndicate now at war with the miners. The Standard Coal & Iron Company, borrowed money from Mr. Blaine, went to pieces two years ago, blew out its furnaces and closed its mines, and Mr. Blaine lost every dollar he loaned them.

Letter from Bob. Hoskins.

FARGO, DAK., Sept. 15, 1884.

DEAR JAKE!—

In the famous city of Fargo I am stranded this day, waiting for a chance to go out and take in the many sights which this wonderful "creation of a night" contains. Out of doors the rain is falling in never-ceasing abundance and I am afraid I must forego the pleasure, for the present at least. Perhaps you wonder how I strayed so far from the city of my adoption—Bathgate. When I mention the one word, "politics," it is cleared up. You all remember the old saying of the son to his father: "Go west dad; mighty mean men get office." If we are to take that expression as true it will follow that Dakota is brim full of hard citizens. Such a strife for political honor it was never my luck to see before. My own county of Pembina has just had a Republican convention and before that august body came no less than 100 men (and be it remembered one woman) seeking a chance at eight local offices. Did you ever see such a strife in the Keystone state? It is perhaps needless to say a large number of the self-sacrificing gents failed to reach the summit of their ambition. The one representative of the gentle sex was also snowed under and she can not wield authority over the public schools of the county. But how did yours truly strike Fargo? I am on my way to Pierre, Dak., to represent a portion of the great territory in a convention which comes off next Wednesday. Congress sees fit to allot territories a single man in their halls to champion our cause. To place in nomination such an individual is the object of the meeting. Perhaps a dozen men are in the field and the fight promises to be a warm one. The present incumbent wants to go back, as is quite natural. One of his main opponents is Gen. Harry Allen, formerly of Warren, Pa., and who is now filling the responsible post of marshal of Dakota.

Pierre is about 800 miles from Bathgate and makes quite a nice little trip. All the North Dakota delegates gather at Fargo to-day and take a special Pullman train Sunday evening. Some thing like 150 delegates and spectators are here now and the chances for a lively gang are good. Quite a fair showing of newspaper men are amongst them. And by the way, I had the pleasure of meeting S. J. Small to-day. S. J. is a son of Rev. F. M. Small, of Fagundus, and it was he who started the Millerstown Herald some years ago. Your humble servant received his first lesson in the "art preservative" from him. "Yes," as he was called has a responsible position in the Fargo Daily Republican, has married one of Dakota's most charming young ladies and to all external appearances is enjoying life hugely.

But the rain has ceased and now to see the elephant. If he is worthy I will describe him again.

R. D. HOSKINS.

D. LANCELL'S ASTHMA AND CATARRH REMEDY. Having struggled 20 years between life and death with Asthma or Phthisis treated by eminent physicians, and receiving no benefit, I was compelled during the last five years of my illness, to try my own remedy, and in doing so, I found my suffering was beyond description. In despair I experimented on myself, compounding roots and herbs and finally the medicine thus obtained. I have unduly discovered this Wonderful Cure for Asthma and Catarrh, warranted to relieve the most stubborn case of Asthma in five minutes, so that the patient can lie down to rest and sleep comfortably. Please see the following condensed extracts: Mrs. W. T. Brown, Monroe, Texas, writes: "I suffered with Asthma 30 years. Your great remedy has completely cured me. Publish this for the benefit of the afflicted." C. S. Clark, Wakeunan, O., writes: "I certainly believe your remedy to be the best Asthma and Catarrh cure in the world. I have tried everything else, and all failed but yours. I wish your words success." C. A. Hall, Bashaw, Wis., writes: "I received your trial package and find it invaluable, doing just what you claim for it. It is truly a God-send to humanity. No one can afford to do without it, who is suffering with Asthma or Catarrh." Such are the expressions of praise and gratitude received daily, and in addition, I will still continue my former proposition. Send me your name and address and I will forward you a trial package by return mail, free of charge. Full size box by mail, $1.00. Sold by all druggists, Address, D. LANCELL, Applecreek, O., Inventor and sole proprietor.
