—Mr. Wm. R. Reck of Strattanville was with Tionesta friends a day or two last week.

—The Erie M. E. Conference will convene at Erie, Pa., on October 8th. Bishop Warren will be present.

—Mr. A. H. Darrach of Tidouite, one of our former citizens, was in town a few hours last Thursday.

—District Attorney VanGiesen rejoices over the arrival of a 10 pound boy at his house last Friday night.

—Mr. H. P. Ford, Pittsburgh, stopped in town a few hours yesterday, and had the pleasure of shaking hands with many friends.

—Angus Carson's new house on Walnut St., is already sided and under roof. Gus will occupy it both as a dwelling and jewelry store.

—H. O. Davis has nearly finished overhauling his house on the west side of Elm St., opposite Samuel Clark's residence, and will occupy it with his family as soon as done.

—The Blaine and Logan Club of Kingsley township will meet at Whig Hill next Saturday evening, 27th inst. Everybody is invited to come out. Good speakers are expected.

—Wilber Grove, having sold his property, has broken ground for a new residence between the Universalist church and the building owned by H. O. Davis. The site is a very nice one.

—Robert Haddleson, who has been employed in the lumber regions of West Virginia for some months past, returned home last week for a short stay with friends. Robert is looking well.

—Artist Greaves, wife and children, of Warren, arrived in town Saturday. Mr. G. returned Monday, leaving his family to visit here this week as the guests of Hon. E. L. Davis's family.

—The B. N. Y. & P. R. R. will run an excursion to the great Kinzua bridge next Sunday. Round trip only $2.50. Over an hour at the bridge and several hours in Bradford, returning same evening. Many of our citizens are talking of taking it in.

—Another of Mr. John Hood's children died with diphtheria on Thursday morning last. It was a son aged about three years. We believe none of the other members of the family are now afflicted with the disease. Our people will sympathize with the stricken family.

—Rev. William Elliott, for several years minister of the Presbyterian Church here, has lately been transferred to Canal-Fulton, Ohio, where he has a large church. It is a place of over 1500 inhabitants. All his old friends here, of which he has many, wish him success wherever he goes.

—The following from the Blizzard refers to G. G. Sickles, who at one time owned the greater portion of Tionesta: "Old Mr. Sickles, the father of the famous general, is a very sensible old gentleman. When his daughter Roma took it into her head to run off and marry William Meade, a poor, but handsome youth, he neither raved nor stormed. There was no arrest, no shadowing, no violent threats. He called them to his arms, blessed them on the spot, and offered to set them up in a grocery store. Old Mr. Sickles is a man of sense, and his sensible action is in marked contrast with that of morose old Morosini."

—Pay your taxes immediately.

—This evening at eight o'clock our young friend, A. M. Douth, will lead to the hymenal altar Miss Linnie E., the accomplished young daughter of Mr. Joseph Grove. The ceremony will be conducted at the home of the bride, and will be witnessed by a large circle of friends. Our congratulations and best wishes are cordially extended.

—The Republicans of Balltown will have a Blaine and Logan polo-raising on next Wednesday, Oct. 1st. Hon. A. C. White, our candidate for Congress, and other able speakers are expected. There will also be a Republican mass meeting at Gosher City on Thursday, Oct. 2d, and at Marienville on Friday Oct. 3d. Good speakers.

—Our old townsman, H. Hobe Stow, now of Bradford, celebrated his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sept. 9th, at which time he and his charming wife were the recipients of a very unique and elegant silver service, given by his father, Mrs. H. H. May, Mr. Edgar Stow, and Mrs. H. Garlick. May they live to see the "Golden Day."

—Mr. T. C. Jackson has given up possession of the Central House, and moved his family and household goods into the Forest House. Mr. O. C. Brownell is the new landlord at the Central, and he comes amongst us well recommended as a gentleman and citizen. The retiring as well as the new proprietor have our best wishes for future success.

—Dr. F. L. Hall, who will be remembered by many of our citizens as having spent a year in this place with his uncle Dr. Coburn, about seven years ago, was here a few days last week renewing his acquaintances. The Dr. has spent four years in Washington and Oregon territories since he left here. His wife accompanied him on his recent visit.

—We learn that our old friend C. C. Smith, of Brookston, this county, took occasion, on his visit to our town last week, to register, under the Act of 1881, as a practitioner of medicine. We congratulate the gentleman on this step, and bespeak for him success in the profession. He has in his possession a recommendation from Dr. Chase, one of Corry's leading physicians.

—The friends of Will J. McConnell, the temperance orator, were shocked and pained to read in the public print last week, that he had, during his stay in Oil City been in an intoxicated condition. The papers generally seem disposed to treat the matter in a charitable way—sympathizing rather than condemning. Mr. McConnell's actions in this particular should not be accepted as a criterion for those who have signed his pledge to go by, but on the contrary should only make them more steadfast.

—Last Friday evening John Swales met with an accident that for a time was feared might prove fatal. In attempting to climb off a board pile near the depot he lost his bold and fell backwards, a distance of nearly twenty feet, striking the back of his head against the iron rail of the railroad. His companion, John Noble, ran to him quickly, but found him in an unconscious condition. He was brought over to the Rural House, where he lay for several hours before regaining consciousness. He was badly bruised about the back of the head, along his epinal column, and on his left arm, and suffered a great deal of pain. He is much better now, we are pleased to say, and with care will soon be able to go about again.

—Mr. G. W. Walker is billed for a grand concert at Tidouite next Friday evening, Sept. 26. He will be assisted by Mrs. Belle Cole, one of the leading prima donnas of the United States, and Mr. Forest Cheny, the celebrated violinist; also Miss Maude Davis, Tionesta's accomplished pianist, as well as some of the best local talent of Tidouite. If the people of that place would enjoy a rare treat they should surely avail themselves of this opportunity. Mr. Walker is negotiating with the railroad officials for a special train from this place on that evening, and if successful in getting sixty passengers can take them there for 50 cents, round trip, returning after the concert. P. S.—Since the above was put in type Mr. Walker informs us that the extra train will be run. It will leave this station at 7:00 p. m., sharp.

—Miss Clara Young, who has been attending school here and rooms with her two sisters in part of Daniel Walters' house, met with a peculiar accident on Monday of last week, the effects which have grown quite serious and may yet prove fatal. She had been seated in a chair and had risen for a moment, when her sister unintentionally removed the chair, not thinking Miss Clara was again going to occupy it. Without turning to see whether the chair still remained in its position, however, the young lady attempted to resume her seat, and was precipitated to the floor rather violently. The fall so affected her spine that she has since been in quite a critical condition. Her many young friends will await her recovery with much solicitude.

Elmer Jennings Drowned.

Elmer Jennings, a young man aged about 22 years, whose parents live at Guitonville, near Russell's Mill, Kingsley township, this county, was accidentally drowned in Tionesta creek, a short distance below the mouth of Bobs creek, last Sabbath. At the place designated a slash dam was at one time built, but of late years has not been in use, and the only thing left to mark its whereabouts is the sheeting, covered at this stage, by a few inches of water. It appears that young Jennings was driving a horse and buggy down the creek, and when arriving at this place, where a new road has been cut out over a small bluff, had started over the bluff, but for some unknown cause turned his horse about and drove down into the creek and followed the stream down, the water being quite low until the dam is reached, where a hole 14 feet deep has been washed out, into which he doubtless unsuspectingly drove his horse. On Monday a lad passing up the creek discovered a buggy cushion and man's hat in the water; upon closer examination he saw the ears of a horse. Summoning aid the young man and horse were taken out. It was found that the horse had become fasten, and it is presumed that in trying to extricate the animal the young man lost his life, as he had a firm grip on the reins when found. A jury was impanelled which returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts on Monday, Mr. F. E. King acting as Coroner.

Lineville Lines.

David Ebinger, the renowned pedagogue of cow-bell fame, will teach at Lineville the coming winter.

H. L. Miller has left for Forest county, to be engaged for the coming months in teaching. The people of Forest were fortunate in securing his services, as Henry is not only a successful teacher but also a successful "indigo blue" dyer.

Squirrels are very scarce and wild around here.

The harvest is over and all seem satisfied with their summer's efforts, with some scattering exceptions.

S. E. Henlen had a public sale on the 16th inst. The articles sold consisted of the personality of the late John Henlen.

James Kahl has returned to Clarendon.

Fryburg has started a brass band. Boys of the Lineville brass-blow-out, look out for your laurels.

The weather is very dry, and we are sadly in need of rain.

Miss Emma Miller, who for the last week or two has been visiting relatives and friends at this place, has returned to her alma mater, near Elk City. Miss Emma is occupied in studying music and bids fair to become an accomplished musician.

The picnic under the auspices of the Lutheran Church, which was held here a short time since, was a grand success in every particular; the day was beautiful, music fine, refreshments excellent, and every one certainly enjoyed himself hugely.

S. J. Beck, alias King Philip, has just finished a successful term of school in No. 7. The above famous personage will wield the birch in No. 6, of this township, the coming winter.

Plenty—dudes; more plenty—pedagogues; most plenty—people who think they know more than any person else. Few—people with brains; fewer—people who know it; fewest—people who mind their own business.

The Editor sighs "Will that cuss ever give us a rest?" We take the hint and say "adieu." LANK.

Lineville, Sept. 20, 1884.

Fagundus Facts.

Fagundus stands once more at the front, with a select school of forty-five scholars, with Miss L. M. Cox as teacher, much to the satisfaction of all her patrons, especially those who are not able to send their children abroad to receive a finishing touch on their education, for she is qualified to teach all branches necessary, therefore saving a great expense to patrons.

Berrytown is once more blessed with an opportunity of sending their children to Miss L. M. Cox's select school.

Mr. John Peterson, of Trunkeyville, is considered out of danger.

Fagundus is the expectant of a great Republican rally on Oct. 5th, at the Academy building next to the Post-Office. Speakes expected from Braceville, Balltown and other places.

Any person wishing to rest easy until after election can do so by calling at the Fagundus Bed Spring Factory and make a purchase.

Our friend Joseph Jones, Post Master, is under the weather.

Our old towney, John Peterson, has just returned from Sugar Grove fair; he says he got first prize. Well, John ought to have it.

Persons wishing to have a good time can do so by attending the Sunday school concert next Wednesday evening, at the M. E. Church, Fagundus.

We regret to learn that Rev. Small is about to leave our town, for he was a worker both in and out of Church; while here he built up a fine parsonage, which was much needed.

Dennis Downey came within one of shooting a large wood-chuck one day last week.

Miss Lillian Miles is teacher of the Fagundus district school. She has a good attendance.

Robt. W. Pium contemplates going on a tour to Balltown, this state, in a few days. Frost.

Niagara Excursion.

The deposition of your reporter: Who made one of the party of tourists taking advantage of the Excursion of the 16th inst., under the auspices of the B. N. Y. & P. R. R., and more particularly under the management of H. E. Tupper, Traveling Passenger Agent, than whom no finer gentleman can be found in the employ of the Company. Mr. Tupper was on board the train going up. We acknowledge an introduction and a pleasant chat with Mr. T. Plenty of coaches were provided and there was room, and comfortable room, for all. Twenty-five excursionists took the train at Tionesta. If it had not been court week, and if the reunion at Titusville had not interfered, Forest County would no doubt have sent 150 on the Excursion. Quite a nice little delegation boarded the train at West Hickory. Our number increased as far as Salamanca, if not beyond. In all there probably were 300, possibly more. As every body who got aboard was in a good humor our stock of good nature grew in direct ratio to our numbers. And the good way in which we were treated by the agent and conductor, in fact by all the employees of the road and train, kept everybody in a good humor until it clouded up and began to rain, and then, too, the train lost time and was behind considerable on this side Buffalo. And when it became apparent that we would not have the time we expected at the Falls some disappointment was felt. But of course the fault of being late is not to be attributed to Mr. Tupper. He intended to get us there on time as he promised. It is not probable that it would have happened at another time. But against we reached Buffalo it had cleared, though the wind blew a small hurricane. Tickets for points of interest at the Falls were sold on the train for one-half the regular rates. Some of the boys were told that they could do better to buy tickets when they reached the Falls. They tried it but found their mistake when too late to remedy.

It seems safe to say that one can do better after reaching the Falls in hiring a conveyance than you can by buying a carriage ticket on the train for $1.00. Arrived at the Falls we checked at the station what we did not want to carry with us, lunch baskets, &c., and walked down to the Park and through it to Prospect Point from which place a good view of the Falls on the American side can be had. The wind blew the spray in clouds across the Point and we were treated to a shower bath and no extra charge either. A beautiful rainbow formed in the mist that hung like a skirt around the cataract in front was distinctly visible, and from more than one point.

From the Point we proceeded to the Inclined Railway and descended to the foot of the Falls under and a little below Prospect Point. The view from below upward was sublime. Ascending we drove a bargain with a carriage driver to carry us round to all points called for on our tickets, we could stay as long at any one place as we chose, we were to pay no tolls, for 50 cents each. We were driven to Goat Island and around it, walking from various points to: Luna Island, from there getting a fine view of the American Falls; The Three Sister Islands, getting there a splendid view of the Rapids. From Goat Island itself we had a fine view of both the American and the Horseshoe Falls. We next crossed the Suspension Bridge, from which place we could see it all at once, and were driven to the museum, whose collection of wonders and curiosities we inspected; and then we took a stroll through the Museum Gardens; and then recrossed the Bridge to Prospect Park for the closing scene,—the Falls and the Park lit up by the Electric Light. A very fine view of the Great Horseshoe Falls can be seen from the Observatory of the museum. The American side only was illuminated by the "tamed lightning." Different colors were thrown on the water. The effect was beautiful. The electric light display at the Park fountain was the prettiest thing we have ever seen. It looked like a glimpse of fairyland. Well, it was over at last and we walked to the station and climbed aboard the train, we were tired and weary and wanted to sleep, but we couldn't; there didn't seem to be time for it. We had plenty of amusement for those who wanted it, and too much for those who didn't want it. But we all got home safe. It paid to go, even if we were a little late getting there, a thing not likely to occur again. TRAMP.
