LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Condensed Time Table Tionesta Station.

Table with columns for NORTH and SOUTH, listing train numbers and times.

—Preaching in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning and evening, by Rev. Hickling.

—Preaching in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening by F. M. Small.

—Presbyterian Sabbath School at 12:30 p. m.; M. E. Sabbath School at 10 a. m.

—Oh, no! it wasn't a "serious affair at all."

—Say! did anybody hear anything drop in Forest County last Tuesday.

—FOR SALE—A fine collection of "fusion traps" at the Commonwealth office.

—Supt. Hillard will hold examination for teachers at Tionesta, Saturday, November 15.

—"G. B. F. B." might mean Gen. B. F. Butler, but it might also mean "Green Back Fusion Busted."

—Squirrels are reported to be quite plenty in Kingsley township, especially on the chestnut ridges. Bang!

—The election in this place passed quietly. There was a large vote polled and much interest manifested.

—I told you the d—n thing wouldn't work.—[Several Democrats and Greenbackers, after hearing the returns.

—Over 1000 bushels of chestnuts have been shipped over the N. Y. P. & O. R'y to New York and eastern cities.

—Here are two rings—

one should be labeled "D" and the other "G."

—Mrs. R. B. Patterson and little boy, of Franklin, Pa., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden the past fortnight.

—Between the ice cream in summer and the oysters in winter, the young man has a tough time. And then there's the skating rink. Oh, dear!

—Our energetic blacksmith, Mr. William Blum, lost a valuable cow on Saturday last. Choking was the cause of her death.

—Mack Agnew who has been attending college at Meadville for the past three months returned home on Friday for a short vacation.

—There is a report that a large panther is roaming the forests of Howe twp. and Highland twp. Elk, county, and has been heard by several responsible parties.

—The new spa on the Tionesta side of the river bridge is a very neat and substantial one. It is from the Cleveland Iron Bridge Co.'s works, Cleveland, Ohio.

—Hollow E'en was not allowed to pass without the usual performances by the boys of this place. While there was no very serious damage done, yet some of the pranks should have been left undone.

—"Golden Days," that beautiful and highly entertaining magazine for young folks, is issued for November. No magazine is more sought after or more anxiously looked for by its many thousand readers than "Golden Days."

—James Elverson, Publisher, Phila. Pa.

—Dr. Carver's visit with a company of cow boys to Hamilton, Ont., set all the small boys a-swooning. The result was a small boy named John Carey was lassoed by his companions and dragged along the ground some distance, receiving such injuries he died soon after.

—The Clarion, Mahoning and Pittsburgh Railroad that was intended to connect the D. A. V. & P. R'y at Wagon with the railroads leading west from Pittsburgh is being revived after a Rip Van Winkle sleep of eight years. The prospects for its early construction are good.

—Ben Hogan, the notorious pugilist, who at one time had charge of a dance-house at Edenburg, Clarion County, in its palmy days of petroleum, and who was converted a few years ago to Christianity, is now in New York laboring as a missionary in that notoriously wicked

—We learn with regret of the serious illness of Mr. Paul Blute, of East Hickory, who was not expected to live at last accounts.

—Landers Bros' new skating rink progressing rapidly, and will doubtless be ready for business in a couple of weeks. It will quite roomy.

—An entertaining letter in this issue from Miss Flora Haslet of Milwaukee, Wis., will be read with much pleasure by her many friends here.

—There is a rumor, according to Baldwin's Guide, which ought to know something about it, that the Lackawanna & Pittsburgh contemplates buying the old river division of the Buffalo, New York & Philadelphia.—Blizzard.

—Attention is directed to the card in this issue, of Mr. H. M. Dighton, house, sign, carriage and ornamental painter. Mr. D. guarantees satisfaction in all his work. He also makes a specialty of frescoing and scene painting, having had several years experience at the business.

—In the case of the Railroad Company and others against the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company, a decision was rendered by the master last week that the Valley road should be sold at public sale, subject however, to a debt of about $18,000,000 mortgages and bonds.—Kittanning Free Press.

—A boom for Michigan. There is a church being built in the State where a man can go and take solid comfort. The seats are to be of cherry, finished with mahogany, with tilting backs, each seat provided with a hat, shawl, cloak, book, umbrella, and cane rack and foot rest. "Oh, why should the spirit of (Michigan) mortals be proud?"

—An exchange says that Dr. Tanner has gone to Mexico to live on a ranch. What next will that man try to make his stomach do? At first he attempted to live on nothing and now he is going to make it digest a ranch. Most of the ranches in Mexico have houses of sun-dried bricks manufactured from some adjacent mudhole, and it is safe to say that if the foolhardy doctor tackles one of those, he will crave his native ham and eggs long before the ranch is entirely consumed.

—The Hickory Local Telegraph company have erected new poles and put up their line in strictly first class order. Their instruments are all of 150 ohms resistance and operate with uniformity. These local lines greatly facilitate communications all over the county, and with the private telephones the most remote places of two years ago are now our nearest neighbors. It is to be hoped that these local lines, of which there are several in the county, will in the near future connect their wires and thus bring all parts of our county into direct communication.

—It is pleasant to learn that Pennsylvania will be fully represented at the New Orleans Exposition. The agricultural, horticultural, mineral and other resources will be embodied in a State collection. Among the curiosities to be displayed will be maps and charts of the Gettysburg battle-field, which will possess a peculiar interest to many Southerners. The Commissioner for Pennsylvania, Colonel R. H. Thomas, is arranging to have all the leading cities in the State represented, and is especially anxious to have a fine display of all our products. For the encouragement of our business men, it is worth noting that 120 of the leading manufacturers of Philadelphia have applied for space.

—The T. V. R. R. Co. under charter are building, as an extension to their road, the Sheffield and Spring Creek R'y which when completed will be fifteen miles long. The northern terminus will be at Sheffield Junction where it connects with the Tionesta Valley Railroad and thence extends southward down the Watson Branch of Spring Creek. The iron is laid down about six miles to where they have over five thousand cords of bark which they will be required to haul out before the first of next April. It is thought that they will extend the road to Carman on the R. & P. R'y on the Clarion River. If this is done it will give Forest county another through railroad route which will do much toward developing our lumber interests. The T. V. and S. & S. C. R'ys have not a single dollar of bonded debt, and the months pay-rolls are all the accounts they have to settle.

—The following head lines were written by an enthusiastic gentleman three days before election. He didn't miss it much:

Great Victory! The Fusionists Snowed Under! Overwhelming defeat of the Mogwumps! Schurz and Mr. Nancy Curtis fall over the ragged edge of the Moral Issues! Go Carry the News to Maria! Meow! Kitty Beecher Sighs and Sings, "Over the Garden Wall." The Seventh Commandment safe for four years more! Botler serene and Belva sober. St. John goes to Illinois to inspect the Records, and Casts his Horoscope for another Cold Water Campaign! Daniel in the Lions' Den! Everything Works Together for good to them that love Blaine!

—"Old Bill," owned by K. L. Blood, one of the best horses ever owned in Jefferson county, died a few days ago. If he had lived till next March he would have been thirty years old. For twenty-four years he never missed a feed, and was always ready for work. He belonged to the Morgan breed of horses, and was a remarkable traveler. He was never known to be passed on the road, and would go seventy-five miles a day. For some time he had been laid aside, having done his work, and done it well. He was found dead in the field, where he was turned out.—Brookville Democrat.

—Six or seven weeks ago William Fisher, of Siverlyville, out of work and out of money, started to walk toward the east one Tuesday after some words with his wife, in search of work. He got as far as Brookville but returned, arriving here on the next Saturday. Monday following his brother, J. P. Fisher, who lives on the South Side, saw him, but since then he has not been seen. He is about fifty-four years of age, wore a black coat of heavy cloth, had gray hair, blue eyes, light complexion, heavy eyebrows and chin whiskers. He is about five feet eight inches in height and is thin and slightly built. His shoes were well worn. His relatives are rather anxious about him and fear something has happened him. They would be thankful for information concerning him.—Oil City Blizzard.

—The old "Stone House," corner of Jacob and Water streets, which was torn down last week is said to have been standing for more than seventy-six years, having been erected in the year 1808. It was built by Mr. David Lawson, deceased, the father of Mrs. John P. Brown, of Jefferson street who occupied it as a tavern for several years, when he sold out, and the property since then has been owned and occupied by many different individuals, most of the time as a tavern stand. J. E. Willis and family occupied the building for some twenty-eight years, beginning in the year 1850. In 1866 Miss Amanda Colwell, the present owner of the property, purchased it from J. H. Sloan, Esq., who obtained possession of the same as far back as 1828. Another old landmark gone.—Kittanning Free Press.

WISCONSIN LETTER.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 30th 1884.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—In the six months that I have lived in this big city I have had many favorable opportunities to study and estimate the peculiarities and predominant characteristics of this city—for Milwaukee, like Chicago, New York, Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, has a peculiar individuality, which I shall endeavor to briefly demonstrate:

Our population, for instance, has been drawn from the four quarters of the earth—the white, black, the red and the yellow all mingle and come in one great fraternity, acknowledging dominion to no nationality, principality or power, save the just laws of the proudest nation and most liberal government that the world ever knew.

There is comparatively no floating population in this city, if we except the sailors and drummers. Where there is no transient population there are no flats, or, as the French properly term it, "Apartment houses." The time has not yet come for these innovations of the over-crowded effete East, but the thousands upon thousands of neat and substantial cottages that adorn the suburbs attest the substantiality of the landed proprietorship therein vested.

This has been a year of oppressive dullness in lake freights, and already hundreds of vessels are dismantling and going into winter quarters. The crews will, as a rule, shoulder an ax and go North to the woods of Wisconsin and Michigan there to labor till spring, in the pinceries, living on pork and beans and black coffee, and coming back ruddy and bearded, with their pockets full of hard earned dollars, which will all be gone before navigation opens in May.

James G. Blaine, the next President of the United States, was in Milwaukee last Saturday. The "Plumed Knight" received a grand ovation at the hands of the citizens of this town, about 12,000 welcoming him in the Exposition building. A salute of 100 guns was fired when he reached the city, and a large cavalcade escorted him from the depot to the Republican headquarters. He made two short speeches, which were "cheered to the echo," and left at 5 o'clock for Chicago.

Wisconsin has beautiful autumns, and this month has been one of cool, clear brightness, with but little frost, and many warm days.

The large dry goods house of T. A. Chapman & Co., was burned last week; the loss in exact figures is $780,000, with an insurance of $660,000. The fire throws out of employment 350 people, some who have been with the firm for 25 years. Chapman's was the finest store in the West, usually carrying a stock worth half a million, and doing a business of over $1,200,000 at retail annually. The wholesale sales were excess of this. The firm is rebuilding, and will be ready for a grand opening in May.

A bountiful harvest has awarded the farmer, but prices for produce is very low. Potatoes in some parts of the state sell for only 18c. per bushel. Wheat is dull at 70c., oats at 27c., corn at 50c., while buttermilk and meat are high.

The attraction of the city, as well as the surrounding country was the exposition, which closed last week, after a very successful season. All that labor and art could produce were here exhibited for the pleasure of the thousands who attended.

I have been employed for the past four months on the Evening Wisconsin, a large afternoon daily, giving employment to thirty male and female compositors. The firm of Cramer, Aikens & Cramer, also print from 75 to 100 patent insides, in this and adjoining branch offices. They pay good wages, and I assure you it is not all like working in a dingy little office on a country weekly; Oh no. Don't fail to send the REPUBLICAN, for by it I know what is going on "down there." Fraternally, FLORA HASLET.
