LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Condensed Time Table Tionesta Station.

Table with columns for NORTH and SOUTH, listing train numbers and times.

United Presbyterian services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath, morning and evening. All are cordially invited to attend. Preaching in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening by F. M. Small. Presbyterian Sabbath School at 9:45 a. m.; M. E. Sabbath School at 10 a. m.

Somewhat snowfall this morning again. Mrs. Brockway and Francie are visiting at Marienville. Alex. Dale is home from the Bradford field on a visit.

Candidates for Associate Judge are beginning to bud and bloom. A few tons of hard coal would find the quickest kind of sale in this place just now.

Ad. Shriver of Tionesta township, became the happy "dad" of a 10 1/2 pound boy last Thursday evening.

R. M. Herman expects to have a variety of early vegetables on sale at his store the latter part of the week.

Reports from Russell's mills say that all the typhoid fever patients up there are getting well fast. Glad to hear it.

No fellow has left a string of trout for the editor's table yet, but the first one that does gets a puff, mind that.

To-morrow is Arbor Day and for any fellow that has the backbone to dig up two or three feet of frost it will be the proper thing to plant a tree.

F. R. Lanson, one of our enterprising merchants, has a cellar dug, and Pat Joyce is now putting up the wall for a new house on the old Tionesta House lot.

Hay is hay and straw is straw these days, as it were, and the farmers are about run out of stock feed. At the present rate it will be a full month before grass will make decent picking.

By reference to our second page it will be observed that Mr. Edward Kerr, of Barnett township, is announced as a candidate for Associate Judge, subject to Republican usages.

Mr. J. N. Teitworth was in town yesterday shaking hands with old friends and former neighbors. He was looking well and has evidently not changed his political views since his absence.

Ducks have been plenty on the river during the past few days. One enthusiastic chap declared that there were over two thousand in one flock last Sunday. But few were taken in by our sports.

Sucker fishing in a virulent form has struck the town, and cane poles with a line and worm at one end and a half-frozen bipe at the other can be seen strung along the beach as far as the eye can reach.

Rev. Hickling has a hot house built on scientific principles, and if he don't have the earliest garden sassa in town it won't be his fault. A stove furnishes heat by night, while old Sol gets in his work by day.

Conductor Evans, of the B. N. Y. & P., has resigned to take the position of station master at the union depot at Dearborn street, Chicago. Oil City Blizzard. Mr. Evans has faithfully served the B. N. Y. & P. R. R., for many years, and has honestly earned the promotion above noticed. His many friends along this road, hope that he may be still better appreciated and promoted accordingly.

Five tramps took tea with Sheriff Agnew last Sunday evening, and enjoyed his hospitality so much that they concluded to tarry all night. Next morning after breakfast he released them and was about to take them around and show them the sights of the city, especially his honor, the Mayor; but when he appeared carrying a ball and chain, they went, and neither stood upon the order of their going, but made the snow fly like a veritable Dakota blizzard.

We are glad to learn that the story which has been circulated in this section to the effect that Rev. J. P. Hicks had died of Bright's disease, is false. We learn that the Reverend gentleman is enjoying his usual health and good spirits. The Ladies' Floral Cabinet for April has arrived and is as handsome and entertaining as usual. To those interested in floriculture, and domestic arts, and who love flowers, the Cabinet is an indispensable magazine. Price only $1.25 a year. Address Floral Cabinet Publishing Co., 22 Vesey St., N. Y.

Rafting and runfing commenced in the creek last Thursday, and considerable lumber was run out. Monday, James Haggerty, jobber for Wheeler & Dusenbury, started four "Alleghenies" for the lower market, and A. J. Small, who is running the Ford & Lacy lumber, started four Alleghenies that had been tied up in the harbor at Little Tionesta since last fall. Samuel Clark started a raft yesterday morning but we understand it run aground before getting into the river proper; it didn't stay stuck long, however. The creek is now too low for running. We believe no lumber was run from above Newtown.

As an item in our last issue foreshadowed, George Siggins Hunter died at his residence a few minutes before six o'clock, Wednesday evening, April 8th, 1885. A writer in the Democrat gives a concise sketch of his life from which we cull the following: "The subject of this sketch was born at Dawson near Tionesta. The days of his boyhood, youth and manhood have been spent here. His home and surroundings give evidence of his energy. His ancestors on his father's side settled at an early date in this vicinity. Poland Hunter, who patented the Island known as Hunter's Island, was his paternal grandfather, he afterward moved from the Island to the west bank of the Allegheny river, having bought the large tract known as the W. Eck tract, which was sold to him by Alexander McCalmont, of Franklin. Poland Hunter died about 1840, and the portion of the tract which George occupied fell to his father, William Hunter, who was a man of great energy and perseverance. His mother was Sarah Range, a grand-daughter of Lieutenant John Range, of Revolutionary fame, who, on a soldier's warrant, took up and settled upon the land on which Tionesta is now built, where he lived and died. He was energetic. In his life he played many parts, as Shakespeare has it. Along with his father he labored and endured the privations of a new country in his youth. He was in turn a miller, ferryman, lumberman, pilot, oil producer and last of all built an iron bridge across the Allegheny river at Tionesta, this was his ambition for years. It is his best monument of his perseverance, and all the people wished him God-speed in the project. He was a public benefactor in more senses than one. He was mild in disposition yet firm, a friend to the poor—charitable. He is a man who will be missed by many who remember his motives and good qualities of head and heart, and the verdict of his fellow citizens is he was a kind and useful man.

George S. Hunter was born June 9, 1825. He was married at Franklin, Pa., September 20, 1855, to Adeline Scott, who still survives. Seven children, four sons and three daughters, were born to them, all of whom are living except one daughter who died a number of years ago, and who, with five sisters and one brother of deceased, were at his bedside at the time of his death. One sister and three brothers were unable to be present.

In addition to the above we can truthfully say that Mr. Hunter was a public spirited man, and did much to build up and improve the town. As a shrewd business man he had few superiors. He was a born waterman, and took especial delight in ferrying people across the river when others would not dare take the risk, and he seemed to take pride in the fact that he never was obliged to sleep in the borough of Tionesta on account of the perils of crossing the river, and he never did. Few citizens of our community would be as much missed as will George S. Hunter.

The funeral services were held last Friday afternoon in the M. E. Church, Rev. Small delivering the sermon, and his remains were interred in Riverside Cemetery.

Stewarts Run Notes.

Every body says, "don't this beat all; when will we get our oats sowed." Prof. Field, the phrenologist, gave us quite a good lecture Wednesday and Thursday nights of last week. Zahniser & Co. are moving their saw mill to Bates Run, one mile and a half below Tionesta, where they expect to saw for Dingman & Derickson. Miss Miles, of Fagundus, is going to teach our school the coming term, and Miss Birdie Bromley the Allender school. Success to you. Our weather prophets prophesy a poor harvest this summer, and no corn. We hope they may prove false prophets. The roads at the present writing are frozen pretty solid, but last week there appeared to be no bottom to them, as we saw two wagons drop to the axles in what appeared to be solid road.

Mrs. Jennie Allender, of Hickory, has been the guest of her father, J. L. Range, the last few days. April 13, 1885. BUTTERFLY.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our thanks and appreciation of the kindness of the people of Stewarts Run, in presenting to us recently a quantity of groceries and provisions, and material for a very nice dress for Mrs. Rice; also a "cashed envelope," all of which is strictly a "donation."

W. & E. A. RICE. Plumer, Pa., April 6, 1885.

Respect to A. J. Landers.

Forest Lodge No. 184, A. O. U. W., passed the following resolutions at its regular meeting on Friday evening last: WHEREAS, It has pleased God in His all-wise Providence to remove from among us Bro. A. J. Landers, a faithful and highly esteemed member of our Fraternity, therefore,

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things for the best, we profoundly feel the loss which our Order has sustained in the death of so worthy a brother; not only as a brother in the Lodge, but also as a respected citizen and kind neighbor do we lament his demise.

Resolved, That we condole with the widow and children of the departed husband and father in their great bereavement, and tender them our warmest sympathy.

Resolved, That as a token of esteem to our deceased Brother, the Charter of this Lodge be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Lodge, that a copy be presented to family of the departed, and that the county papers be requested to publish same.

J. E. WENK, Wm. Y. SIGGINS, G. W. BOYARD, Committee.

List of Patents.

List of Patents granted to citizens of Pennsylvania, for the week ending, Tuesday, April 7th, 1885, compiled from the Official Records of the United States Patent Office, expressly for the FOREST REPUBLICAN, by Shipley Brashears, Patent Attorney, Solicitor and Expert, No. 637 F. Street, N. W., Washington, of whom copies, and information may be had:

E. Andrews, Williamsport, saw, (3 patents); J. M. Bruce, Pittsburgh, combined water cooler and filter; W. J. Carlo, Allegheny, friction drum; E. L. Cleveland, Pittsburgh, car axle lubricator; R. A. Coffin, Slatington, slate shaving machine; J. Henderson, Bellefonte, apparatus for the combustion of gaseous fuel; E. A. Johnson, Allegheny City, sash fastener; G. W. Darby, Allegheny City, operating car brakes; F. G. Ford, Roxborough, support for bed slats; C. D. Goddard, Milton, nipper bar for nail machines; G. Lander, Pittsburgh, bessemer process; M. N. Lovell, Erie, tempering wire springs, (2 patents); J. McCready, New Brighton, car coupling; A. McLenahan, Pittsburgh, gas regulating valve; S. C. Nash, Harrisburg, portable camera; A. Randol, Allegheny City, underground gas main; L. Shook, Pittsburgh, piston-rod packing; Susan L. Sinclair, Allegheny, filling the recesses in the tread of car wheels; S. Stutz, Pittsburgh, preventing gas explosions; Wm. Thomas, Pittston, device for feeding air to furnaces; B. Weaver, Pittsburgh, guide box; C. P. Weaver, Norristown, sorting spout for tuck machines; G. Westinghouse, jr., Pittsburgh, detecting leaks in gas mains; D. A. Williamson, Watsonson, heel trimming machine; W. D. Young, Pittsburgh, horseshoe machine.

Food and Exercise.

One of the great products of our great country is hash; and as the production is constant, boarding houses must be encouraged as the only practical means of disposing of it; there is, however, a difference in these institutions; some have hash once a day, some twice, some three times a day; but these latter, who overstrain the endeavor, do not dispose of as much in proportion, as those who serve it more seldom. The boarders becoming accustomed to having their victuals ready chewed gradually lose interest.

No well organized boarding house has hash more than twice a day, but instead serves a steak for breakfast occasionally; but in this a certain amount of judgement must be used, else the average boarder having served, as it were, a sort of apprenticeship on a piece of steak might find a vulnerable part; or else having his powers of mastication unduly developed by too constant practice, would be liable to dispose of a piece in only a few sittings, and perhaps eventually refuse the hash as effeminate. 'T were better if a steak has served a few trials, even if it shows unexpected durability, to send it to the hash mill, and replace it before acquaintance ripens into familiarity or contempt. The most severe exercise obtained by some persons is in the endeavor to chew the morning steak. A person of sedentary habits upon arising in the morning feels a dullness, from lack of exercise, for which the most available remedy is the boarding house steak; and he retires from the table with his cheeks aglow, the healthy perspiration streaming from every pore, and the blood throbbing through his veins like that of an athlete, and he goes to his daily toil, perhaps a little tired, but still with that improved vigor that is obtainable only by violent exercise on an empty stomach. With the laboring man it is of course different; he gets exercise enough at his daily toil; not so much, perhaps, as our sedentary friend, but still enough to induce healthful circulation. He therefore, declines the steak as requiring too much head-work.

By a little good management all is made to work harmoniously: the sedentary boarders get their required exercise, the laboring man his ease, the steak is chewed before it goes to the hash mill, and the hash is eaten, and the house prospers.

BOBTAINED VINEGAR. NOTICE.
