

Republican County Ticket.

For Associate Judge, Hon. JOHN A. PROPER. For District Attorney, P. M. CLARK, Esq.

THE increased heat is not due to the sun spots. Vest, of Missouri, has merely been talking about the Administration again—that's all.

THE sad fate of Thomas F. Bayard is a solemn warning that no man should enter the diplomatic service of his native land until he has thoroughly acquainted himself with the political exploits of his excellent grandfather.

MANY excellent Democrats are anxious for the resignation of First Assistant Postmaster-general Hay, and assure him that he will work himself to death if he remains in office much longer. Their solicitude for Mr. Hay's health is too touching for any use.

THE Baltimore papers say the fact that the law which punished wife-beaters by the lash has been and is to be enforced, has had a restraining influence upon the amusement of the gentlemen. It is to be regretted that Senator Adams did not succeed with his bill for this State.

SECRETARY BAYARD says, in reply to all inquiries concerning his prospective retirement from office, "It is Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet; you had better see him." Mr. Bayard evidently is disposed to make some concessions as to proprietary interests in the Administration.

OLD Sitting Bull visited the White House the other day, and, as he came down the steps after his interview with the President, he was heard to swear very energetically two or three times. The cause of the old savage's profanity is not clearly known, but it is intimated that he was expressing his views of the destitute condition of the President's sideboard.

THE students at the Naval Academy at Annapolis deny the charge that they kissed their hands to the ladies in a Sunday school excursion party which arrived at that place by boat on the 17th inst. In these days of general and promiscuous flirting, it is a cheering sign to see a charge of this character brought to investigation, to say nothing of the disciplining of those who pleaded guilty to ogling the pretty girls in the party—an offense which is in itself simply a tribute to their beauty and attractiveness.

THE free trade importers are laying their foundations for a raid on the tariff laws next winter by protesting to the President about the oppressive treasury regulations, and aided in this by the pretense that our custom houses are seats of dishonesty and fraud. Nobody believes that the latter is true. There is no more dishonesty in the management of the custom houses than in that of any other branch of government. But it serves the purposes of the free traders to make it appear as if such were the case.

THE Governor has signed the Marriage License bill, so that all weddings in this State after the 1st of October next will have to be supported by a license. The chief merit of the new law is the precaution it requires of ministers and the protection it affords them if they observe such precautions. The clandestine marriage of minors is made difficult, and the practice will, under this law, be pretty thoroughly broken up. Complaint is made because this law does not render invalid the informal marriages which are formed by mutual consent and confirmed by the parties living together as husband and wife. But why should a law invalidate such marriages? When men and women are living together as husband and wife it is not the policy of the law to separate them, but the reverse. It presumes a marriage from the relationship and holds the parties to all its obligations. This is simply making the best of a bad matter, and it would ill become the Legislature to interfere with this benign policy established by the courts.—Phila. Press.

THE mugwumpian reformers of New York are rather puzzled as to what size they measure up to, and feel a strong suspicion that they are larger in their own, than in the estimation of others. One of them, in order to know just how large they were considered, wrote for information to the World, and that lively authority upon political values, replies, "We think well of the mugwumps, and are willing that they should occupy room according to their strength." Now, mugwumps, you have your measure. Hump yourselves.

TODD RYNDER, standing candidate for all the State officers, standing chairman of the State committee and standing committee of the National Greenback Labor party, is not dead, if his party is; and he again comes up smiling and issues his call for himself to meet in State Convention at Erie on the 12th of August, to nominate himself for State Treasurer. He also says he is going "to protest against the great wrongs" that now exist in the State, and the "efforts being made to destroy our legal tender paper, our silver coinage and our silver industry." He sees that "the infernal policy of the Republicans in 1866 finds more devoted followers in the now dominant Democratic party," yet, "Erie is a delightful place to go," and Todd will doubtless console himself for the evils the country labors under by luxuriating for one day at least in the balmy breezes that cool the flushed cheeks of Erie people, and forget for a few hours the National troubles that ordinarily vex his soul. —Harrisburg Telegraph.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27, '85. The department of agriculture has come to a standstill for want of funds, but the farmers of the country are not likely to be very much excited, nor are the crops falling off to a notable extent, though the short wheat crop may be due in a measure to official paralysis. But in a few days the crisis will be over. The new fiscal year begins in ten days, when the funds will become available and the department can again scatter its packages of seeds far and wide, if, that is, anybody wants them.

Speaking of the farmer's pet department reminds me that Chief Clerk Nesbit told me some days ago that there are about twelve thousand pounds of the sugar beet seed still on hand, and he added: "The heap does not seem to get any smaller. Sometimes when I look at it I think it is actually growing larger. Several days ago a Georgia farmer wrote us that he was in great need of this seed. He had tried in various directions, but couldn't get any. In his extremity he wrote to the department for two bushels of the seed. He got it, and I expect he was surprised at our promptness. But there does not seem to be any more farmers wanting beet seed."

The Naval Advisory board was abolished by act of the last Congress as far as any future construction of vessels is concerned. Their duties terminate with the completion of the cruisers which are now in course of construction, and they will have nothing to do with building of the other vessels which was authorized. That a court of inquiry will be ordered to investigate the proceedings of the advisory board in connection with the construction of the Dolphin is regarded as very probable.

The President's existence seems to be placid and uneventful, so much is one day like another at the White House, but the executive office and its occupants were never before so crowded with business as they are at this time. Probably there have been as many people, both office seekers and casual callers, during the past week as at any previous week during this administration.

The guillotine is busy in the Attorney General's department. L.
