A ledge of white stone, which somewhat resembles marble, and is susceptible of a high polish, exists in Paradise valley, Nevada. When quarried, it is said to be much lighter and softer than ordinary rock, but hardens upon exposure.

An enterprising Frenchman has in-vented a revolver which, though so small as to be conveniently carried in the vest pecket, can be fired ten times without reloading, and with greater ease and certainty than those of the old pattern. The whole length of the weapon is four inches, which can be reduced to two and five-eighths by unscrewing the barrel.

A new alimentary substance, the seeds of the Bolivian cotton tree, has attracted the attention of the Academie des Sciences. It is rich in nitrogenized substances, and contains twenty-three per cent, of fibrine and six of casein. M. Sace thought that flour from the seed would be very suitable for pastry and sweets. It is likely to be used in sugar making as a substitute for carbonic acid.

A variety of prehistoric objects in honr, such as amulets, cups, knives, daggers, rings, buttons, bracelets, etc., have been found in a stratum, existing at a depth of about five feet in the mud of Lake Neuenburg, Switzerland. The finder, Herr G. Kaiser, believes them to be older than the stone and bronze implements of the same locality, and he proposes to call the period to which they belong "the

The great sand dunes along the banks of many rivers, and particularly along the shores at the southern end of Lake Michigan, are due to the presence of the Ammophilia Arenaria, or sand-gathering grass, which possesses a remarkable power of drawing up moisture, Indeed, it may almost be called a miniature water pump, for it is able to keep the earth wet for several inches around it. This wet earth catches and holds the drifting sand. The process goes on, the grass growing and the sand collecting, until a great sand dune is the result.

A curiosity in the way of watches was shown by Mr. E. Sordet, director of the watch-makers' school at Geneva, before the Horological Section of the Society of Arts. This wonder is nothing less than a watch with one wheel, manufactured in Paris in the last century by a M. Gautrin. The watch was presented to the National Institute in 1790, being then in a deplorable state; but the teacher of the repairing section of the school, M. Emile James, has, after many hours of labor, succeeded in re-establishing harmony between the various organs, so that now it is in good order. The great wheel which gives the watch its name occupies the bottom of the case and the centre of the plate. In has sixty teeth, and is thirty-three mm. in diameter. Its axis carries two pinions, one of which receives the motive force from a barrel, and the other carries the minute The function of this great wheel work. is quadruple. First, it acts on a lift, destined to lower the axis of the watch, wheel at the moment when the action relents by the rise of the axis.

So far as the Masonic Token can tell, the really oldest Mason is John Tressider, of Falmouth, England, who was initiated in 1805, on the 6th day of August. The oldest in America still appears to be Captain Sylvanus Hatch, of Port Lavacca, Texas, initiated in 1809.

A Royal Game.

Tennis has been a royal game; so very royal that Edward III. (1365) decided that no one but kings and their associates should be allowed to play it at all, and his example was followed by Henry IV., Henry VIII., and other reigning sov-ereigns of England and France. It kept gaining in popularity, however, and some sort of outdoor tennis was played with inflated balls very early in the history of the game.

Every little while the royal commands would be forgotten, or some convenient war would break out, and, after it was over, tennis would "bob up serenely," as a very popular amusement. Henry VIII. had the tennis fever in a violent form, and the most tamous royal set ever played was that in which Henry VIII, of England and the Emperor Charles V. were matched against the Prince of Orange and the Marquis of Brandenburg, while the Earl of Devonshire "stopped" (that is, picked up balls and kept count) for one side and Lord Edmund Howard did a like service for the other side.

At last, the kings gave up the vain attempt to keep so capital a game to themselves, and graciously vouchsafed it to their loyal subjects, simply because they could no longer prevent their playing. Of course, there still remained the difficulties arising from the great costliness of regular courts, but these could not inthen on a lever operating on an another | terfere with out-of-door tennis. This was, however, a very unscientific sport, and lastly on a third lever, the latter and was, of course, despised by the genserving to return power to the great try who could afford to play the court game. In fact, it was not until a very few years ago that the play-loving Eng-lish public awoke to the fact that some one had reduced out-of-door tennis to a science; that something very like court tennis could be played on the lawn, under the blue sky; and that "pent-house roofs" and galleries, railings, tambours, chases, and the rest were relies of the dark ages. -St. Nicholas.

Rough Handling of Children.

The causes of joint diseases in childhood are frequently obscure, but this much is certain, that the rough handling which children receive at the hands of ignorant parents or careless nurses has much to do with the matter. Stand on any street corner and notice how children are handled. Here comes a lady with a three-year-old girl; she is walking twice as fast as she should, and the child is over-exerting itself to keep pace; every time the child lags the mother gives it a sudden and unexpected lurch, which is enough to throw its shoulder out, to say nothing of bruising the delicate structures of the joints; a gutter is reached; instead of giving the little toddler time to get over in its own way, or properly lifting it, the mother ruises it from the ground by one hand, its whele weight depending from one upper extremity, and with a swing which twists the child's body as far around as the joints will permit, it is landed, after a course of four or five feet through the air, on the other

Here is a girl 12 years old with a baby of a year in her arms. The babe sits on the girl's arm without support to its back. This would be a hard enough position to maintain were the girl standing still, but she is walking rapidly, and the little one has to gather the entire strength of its muscular system to adapt itself to its changing bases of support, to say pothing of adjusting its little body to sudden leaps and darts on the part of its wayward nurse. Sometimes during a sudden advance you will see a part of the babe a foot in advance of its head and trunk, which have to be brought up by a powerful and sudden action of the muscles of the trunk and neck.

Probably not a child in a hundred is properly handled, - Cincinnati Lancet.

FOUR ACTS PLAYED!

Sad Report About Ex-President Arthur Will the Firth and Final Act be a Tragedy. Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Arthur looked very unwell. He is suffering from Bright's disease. During the past year from Bright's disease. During the past year it has assumed a very aggravated form."

That telegram is act IV. of a drama written by ex President Arthur's physicians. In Act I, he was made to appear in "Malaria," of which all the country was told when he went to Florida.

In Act II, he represented a tirod man, worm down, walking the sand at Old Point Comfort and looking anathrand over the Atlantic to.

down, walking the sand at Old Point Comfort and looking eastward over the Atlantic toward Europe for a longer rest.

The curtain rolls up for Act III, upon the distinguished actor affected with metancholy from Bright's disease, while Act IV, discovers him with the disease "in an aggravated form, suffering intensely (which is unusual) and about to take a sea voyage."

Just such as this is the plot of many dramas by play-wrights of the medical profession. They write the first two or three acts with no conception of what their character will de-conception of what their character will de-velop in the final one.

They have not the discernment for tracing in the early, what the latter impersonations will be. Not one physician in a hundred has the adequate microscopic and chemical appli-ances for discovering Bright's disease in its early stages, and when many de fluxly com-prehend that their patients are dying with it, when death occurs they will, to cover up their ignorance of it, pronounce it to have been caused by ordinary ailments, whereas these ailments are really results of Bright's disease of which they are unconscious victims.

Beyond any doubt, 80 per cent. of all deaths except from epidemics and accidents, result from diseased kidneys or livers. If the dying be distinguished and his friends too intelligent be distinguished and his friends too intelligent to be easily deceived, his physicians perhaps pronounce the complaint to be pericarditis, pyemia, septicamia, bronchitis, pleuritis, valvular lesions of the heart, pneumonia, etc. If the deceased be less noted, "malaria" is now the fashionable assignment of the cause of death. of death.

But all the same, named right or named wrong, this fearful scourge gathers them in!
While it prevails among persons of sedentary habits—lawyers, clergymen, congressmen—it also plays great havoc among farmers, day laborers and the mechanics, though they do not suspect it, because their physicians keep it from them, if, indeed, they are able to detect it.

tect it. It sweeps thousands of women and children into untimely graves every year. The health gives way gradually, the strength is variable, the appetite fickle, the vigor gets less and less. This isn't malaria—it is the beginning of kidney disease and will end-who does not

No, nature has not been remiss. pendent research has given an infallible rem-edy for this common disorder; but of course the bigoted physicians will not use Warner's safe cure, because it is a private affair and cuts up their practice by restoring the health of these who have been invalids for years.

The new saying of "how common Bright's disease is becoming among prominent men!" is getting old," and as the Englishman would say, sounds "stupid"—especially "stupid" ince this disease is readily detected by the more learned men and specialists of this disease. But the "common run" of physicians, not detecting it give the potient Reservations. not detecting it, give the patient Epsom saits or other drugs prescribed by the old code of treatment under which their grandfathers and great-grandfathers prescribed. Anon, we bear that the patient is "comfort-able." But ere long, maybe, they "tap" him able." But ere long, maybe, they "tap" him and take some water from him and again the "comfortable" story is told. Torture him rather than allow him to use Warner's safe cure! With such variations the doctors play upon the unfortunate until his shroud is when we learn that he died from heart made, when we learn that he died from beat disease, pyaemia, septiciemia or some other deceptive, though "dignified cause."

Ex-President Arthur's case is not singular—it is typical of every such case. "He is suffering intensely." This is not usual. Generally there is almost no suffering. He may recover, if he will get independently of his recover, if he will act independently of his physicians. The agency named has cured thousands of persons even in the extreme stages—is to-day the mainstay of the health of hundreds of thousands. It is an unfortunate fact that physicians will not admit there is any visite outside their or and in the result of the stage of the stages. there is any virtue outside their own sphere, but as each school denies virtue to all others, the people act on their own judgment and accept things by the record of merit they

These facts are cause for alarm, but there is abundant hope in prompt and independent action.

Bee Meteorology.

Numerous observations have shown Emmerig, a German scientist, that bees, otherwise gentle and harmless, become exceedingly irritable and excitable on the approach of thunderstorms; and he thinks that their conduct may be taken as reliably indicating whether a storm is impending over a certain district or not. In a succession of instances, the barometer and hygrometer foretold a storm, the bees remaining quiet, and no storm oc-curred; or the instruments gave no inti-mation of a storm, but the bees for hours before were irritable, and the storm came. With regard to rain merely, the barometer and hygrometer are safer guides than bees; but in the case of a thunderstorm the indications of the bees appear to be more trustworthy.

Mrs. Williamson, a missionary's wife, describing a tour that she made through Northern China, says of the conveyance a kind of sedan chair carried by mules -in which she was transported from place to place: These shendzles are of the simplest construction, and are very light. Three small wooden pack saddles are laid on the ground about three feet These are fastened to two poles about eighteen feet long. After the poles are securely fastened to the upturned saddles, three narrow but strong strips of bamboo are arched over the poles. Reed matting is spread upon the bamboos and sewed firmly to them with twine. Betwixt the poles, about two feet from the other end, there is stretched a broad band of cowhide. The shendzle mules have wooden pack saddles, and in the center of each saddle is fixed an iron spike, standing upright. The cowhide band has a hole in it, and the spike runs through it. AWEALTHY FARMERS RELIABLE TESTIMONY.

Take special note of the following history of a very interesting case.

Near the thriving village of Dundee, a few miles west of that queen of the lakes of central New York, Beneca, lives Mr. Daniel Supplee, a gentleman o about 70 years. Mr. Supplee owns a very large and highly cultivated farm, which has for many years had the enviable reputation of being the best farm in all that section. Every crop he plants seems to theire, and his advice is much sought by younger and less experienced farmers. "About two years ago," Mr. Supplee writes, "I suffered from a very evere attack of Diabetes. It reduced me in fiesh so that I was only skin and bones, and my skin was shriveled and wrinkled badly, my Urine contained such a large percentage of sugar that when it was spilled the sugar would crystallize so as to make a coating plainly visible. My life was despaired of by my family and physicians. Commenced using HUNT'S [Kidney and Liver] REMEDT at this stage of my sickness, and I improved steadily and was cured, and am now able to again personally superintend the management of my extensive farming operaitions, Hunr's [Kiduey and Liver] Remeror is a grand medicine for Disbetos and all Kiduey Troubles."

A repulement hearing of these facts and wishing to know further of the matter for himself, wrote to Mr. C. P. Mellessi, a large Dry Goods Merchant and Grocer, of Dundes, and a man of great integrity and worth, saking for information in the matter. He received the following reply:

Duning, N. Y., Jan, 3, 1885.

Dear Sir: Yours of 2d inst. at hand this morning. I would say that I think the use of Hunr's [Ridney and Liver] Rampey in Mr. Dan'l Supplee's case certainly saved his life. He was going down very fast previous to its use, and began to show an improvement soon after he began to take the Bemedy. Mr. W. Wightman, Wholewale Groess. Providence, E. L., is also knowing to all the facts in Mr. Ruppine's case. Yours truly, G. P. McLEAN.

HUNT'S REMEDY CO.,

GENTLEMEN: Having been afflicted with a severe strack of Kidney trouble, which disabled me from my business, I was persuaded by a friend on the train to try Hunt's [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY, as a sure cure for Kidney Diseases and all troubles of the Urinary Organs. I began to improve rapidly soon after I commenced taking the Humedy and it has cured me, bosides as I believe saving me from a long sickness. I have frequently recommended Hunt's [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY to my afflicted riends and its use has always resulted in restoring them rapidly to health. I doem it a duty as well as a privilege to recommend as good and reliable a medicine as I have proved HUNY's [Kidney and Liver] REMEDY to be. Yours.
