—The storm on Sunday night played sad havoc in many of the corn-fields of this section. The oats and rye fields also shared badly where the crop had not yet been harvested.

—Wm. Ikenburg has harvested a good crop of rattlesnakes on his farm near Ross Run this year, the number being 15, and the count is not all in yet. One of them carried 14 rattles.

—The first mess of roasting ears that have adorned the editor's table this season came from the garden of Mr. Canfield, who is no doubt ahead in that line of garden truck this year.

—Hark, Wentworth captured quite a likely little "pet" Monday in the shape of a rattlesnake measuring one foot in length. It is caged in a fruit jar and can be seen by calling on Dr. Coburn.

—A company has commenced operations for the putting down of a well on the Love & Rodgers tract, about three miles northeast of Tylersburg, and about two miles from the Forest county line.

—Hon. M. C. Beebe, one of Pleasantville's most prominent citizens, and well known to many of our readers, died at Asbury Park, N. J., on the 29th ult., whither he had gone to receive medical treatment.

—Argument court was held here Monday and Tuesday of this week. The principal case on the list is that of Freeman vs. Cornwell, two trials of which have heretofore been had, the jury failing to agree each time.

—Ben. Caldwell departed for his home in Raton, N. M., yesterday after a month's sojourn with friends here. He seemed to enjoy his visit and we know his old comrades here did, and will always be glad to welcome him back.

—Two tramps who had been badly scalded—one on the left and the other on the right arm—on a sawmill in Jefferson county, came through here yesterday and were taken care of by Mayor Holeman. They were evidently deserving.

—The steady and drenching rain of Sunday night brought the creek up to pretty fair rafting stage, and several rafts belonging to the Messrs. Lacy were run out to the mouth. Mr. T. P. Flynn has the contract of running the lumber and we believe got out about 18 pieces with comparatively little "stoving."

—Next Saturday will be a legal holiday. Postoffices and banks will be closed, and business generally suspended. Memorial services will be held in all parts of the United States, and the day will be generally devoted to doing honor to the memory of America's most illustrious citizen. We hope to see our town observe the day in an appropriate manner.

—The executive committee of the Forest county Sabbath School Association has decided to call the third annual convention of said association on Thursday and Friday Sept. 3d and 4th. We hope to present the program of exercises in our next issue.

—At the meeting of Stow Post this evening proper steps will be taken for the appropriate observance of Memorial Services in honor of General Grant's burial on Saturday next. It is hoped there will, in consequence, be a large attendance of the members.

—Dr. Morrow's apparatus for administering laughing gas has arrived and is in proper working order in his office. It is so ingeniously arranged as to make the administering of gas and the extracting of teeth comparatively a picnic for toothache patients.

—Last Sunday morning, Irven Kightlinger of Cooper Tract, brother of Mike of this place, was quite severely wounded by the accidental discharge of a Winchester rifle. The ball struck his left shin taking part of the bone, and then passed through the calf of his right leg.

—Mr. Geo. Osgood has been appointed agent for Chase Bros., Nurserymen, Rochester, N. Y., and is now making a tour of the county in that line. This is one of the largest and most reliable nurseries in the country and parties ordering through George may depend on first class goods.

—Miss Birdie Bromley teacher of Allendar Run school, makes the following report for the three months' term ending August 1st, 1885: No. of pupils enrolled, males 16, females 7; average attendance, males 6, females 3; per cent. of attendance, males 75, females 83. Those who were present every day during time belonged are Robbie Bromley and Arthur N. Zahniser.

—The Commonwealth of this place has thrown up the sponge, the material having been sold to Messrs. J. B. Mose and W. L. Klinefester, who propose publishing a Democratic paper. Both are active, energetic young men, full of vim, with a perfect knowledge of the printing business and are capable of giving the Democracy of the county a tip top, good paper, of which they need not be ashamed. Barring politics the young men have our best wishes for success.

—The Pennsylvania Reserve Association will hold its annual reunion 2 o'clock p. m., Tuesday, August 11th, 1885, at Devil's Den, Gettysburg. The place selected for the meeting is dear to the heart of every member of the old Division, and it is earnestly hoped there will be a full attendance. The date has been fixed so that the members can get the benefit of low rate of transportation made to the Grand Army of the Republic, who will encamp there from August 8th to 14th. Excursion rates on all railroads have been secured and orders for tickets at reduced rate can be procured from Post Commander nearest to place of residence.

—The following squib from the Franklin Evening News gets there with both feet: "Reporters are often blamed for saying too much, whereas what they actually do say is but a drop in the bucket of what they are told, but do not repeat. Everybody with an ax to grind, an enemy to disparage, or an animosity to gratify, pours his tale into the scribe's ear, with the hope that the same will be published at the risk of the paper. If every bit of information that leaks into a newspaper office should be printed, you would see lively times. Ability in editing the local department of a paper consists in knowing what to exclude."

—Last Monday evening while Mike Kightlinger of the Central House was driving Elmer Fleming to Balltown, the team—Brownell's ponies—became frightened and leaped over a ten-foot embankment near Balltown, upsetting the vehicle and spilling its occupants. Mike kept a death grip on the reins, but before the team was brought to a stand still the buggy was badly demolished. But the interesting part of the story has not come yet: Either during or before this accident Elmer lost a red morocco pocket book containing $110 in currency, and three notes of $240, $200 and $135 respectively. He offers a reward of $50 to the one leaving the same at this office or returning it to him.

Clarington Notes.

The Directors of Barnett have made arrangements to have their school houses seated with patent furniture, including teacher's desks, against the schools open for the winter term. We note the above with pleasure.

Diphtheria still prevails in the vicinity of Redelyffe. Within about two or three weeks four children have died there from the disease. We are informed, too, that at Gilfoyle it has appeared in the family of Harrison Maze, one of his children being sick with it.

W. H. McClaine of Redelyffe has moved his family to Gusher City where he is pursuing the calling pedagogy.

Mrs. Kuhns has a new house almost completed on the site of the one destroyed by fire in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels of Barnett Twp., Jefferson Co., celebrated the 37th anniversary of their wedding not long since. A very enjoyable time was had.

A. J. Wallace has gone out of the mercantile business, the firm of Shields Bros. having purchased his stock of goods and rented his storehouse.

Clarington has two daily mails, one from Clarington to Vowinckel via Cooksburg and return, one from Brookville to Clarion and return, besides three mails each week from Marienville and from Ridgway, each on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The Tylersburg route has been discontinued. The stage carrying the mail on the Vowinckel route arrives at Vowinckel before the train from Kane arrives, and leaves after the train from Allegheny comes up.

Dr. Sinnings of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Sharpe and son, both physicians, all seemingly good men of their profession, are now at Clarington. Some one or two or three of them may locate here permanently.

Mrs. Lizzie Black has been very ill from the effects of a cancer in her face. She is growing better under the treatment of one of our doctors.

Clarington boasts a martial band. It supplied the music, and good music, too, for the Fourth of July picnic enjoyed by our good people here.

Your tramp makes the following notes of things in general as viewed from the dusty highway; corn, generally late, and difficult to prognosticate; oats promises a good crop; buckwheat, young, and too tender and innocent to be speculated with; hay, quite dry, and pretty well gathered; wheat, holds its head down because it's got something in it, you know, pretty fair yield; if potatoes are as good under ground as they look on top of it the crop will be large; cabbage is late and does not look well, &c., &c.

The M. E. brethren of Greenwood gave a festival on Saturday the 1st of August. They intended to have a good time and no doubt had.

TRAMP.

EDUCATIONAL.

It is undoubtedly true that most people are better pleased to hear other people speak of their excellencies than of their faults. Once in awhile a to-be-pitied individual of warped mind and unbalanced judgment may be found who prides himself upon, and makes a boast of possessing, and exercising, attributes that are not, when properly viewed, found to contain anything excellent. But such cases are almost as rare as they ought to be.

It has been suggested to the Supt. that it might be well to speak more of the excellencies found in the schoolroom and less of the faults met with there, in the articles prepared by him for publication in the local paper.

The suggestion deserved some consideration. But it must be considered with reference to the inquiry as to whether we can better remedy the defects found in our schools, and build them up, by calling attention to these defects and to the faults committed by the teachers, or by holding up the better sides of the schools, and the better qualities of the teachers as educational factors.

It may not once appear to the mind of every person interested, but it seems to be true, that no matter at which side of school work we look the other side is implied; that if we speak positively of the excellencies of some schools or some teachers the defects and faults of other schools or other teachers are considered negatively. We say, seems to be. For if some piece of school work done by some teacher be commended will not the teacher who does the same work in an entirely different manner feel himself condemned? While it is true that there are many ways of doing the same thing in the line of school work and all these ways equally good, does not one run the risk of being misconstrued into condemning other ways of doing school work if he commends one way of doing the same? or, may he not be construed into commending all the ways of doing the same work? Now, undoubtedly there are ways of doing school work that are very injurious. And it is a fact that teachers sometimes fall into such ways. Now, how shall we remedy such things? Suppose there are seven different ways of doing the same piece of school work, each of seven different teachers using one of these ways, and but six of these ways at all good, the seventh being really injurious. Then one teacher is doing work that is harmful. Other teachers are found doing the same. Communities are deluded into believing this method the correct one because employed by some teacher of prominence. Shall we remedy the matter by speaking of one of the six excellent methods, or by speaking of the wrong one? and, if necessary, coupling with our criticism a suggestion of improvement?

The general object to be accomplished by the publication of educational articles in the local papers is the improvement of the schools. Schools are improved by the employment of better, say the best, methods of teaching by the teachers employed, and by the arousing of a better public educational sentiment. Our schools are constantly turning out new teachers. The employment of poor methods by the teachers now presiding over our schools means the transmission of these same poor methods down to later dates, for teachers teach as they have been taught, at least for a time. The Supt. should speak out against these methods and ways of doing school work that are harmful, and that belong to past educational ages, their place now being supplied with better things than these. And the Supt. and the teacher should work hand in hand as fellow laborers in upbuilding and maintaining a sentiment favorable to better schools. It is not enough to say of a Supt. or teacher that he pleased the people unless that means that he led them to look for, to expect, and to realize better things within the sphere in which he and they were conjointly interested.

Your Supt. has thought that it might be productive of good results to present occasionally specimens of work as actually met with in the schools. And yet it seems like treading on hallowed ground to do so. The question is how, how, how, how shall we go about this matter in order to accomplish better things. But let it be understood that every drop of ink spilled by the Supt. in these articles is spilled in the cause of the children; your children, good people of the country of Forest.

MANHOOD HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED! The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
