

Republican State Ticket.

FOR STATE TREASURER, MATTHEW S. QUAY, of Beaver County.

Republican County Ticket.

For Associate Judge, Hon. JOHN A. PROPER. For District Attorney, F. M. CLARK, Esq.

THE Civil Service Commission is in a sadly debilitated condition. At last accounts it consisted solely of a set of revised rules and Judge Thoman.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL GARLAND has as yet resigned neither his telephone interests nor his seat in the Cabinet. Garland is running his Department of Injustice in great style.

Is the opinion of the Courier Journal, "the Democratic party in Congress, backed by a Democratic administration, will begin the work of revising the tariff as soon as the session opens."

THE Ohio election takes place next Tuesday. The campaign has been a hot one for some weeks back, and will be during the next few days. The prospects for Republican success are very good at present.

THE gang over at the Forest National office are terribly mashed on the word "pimp." The appellation would not fit that crowd quite so tightly as the word "suckers," old Jake not having much use for pimps now-a-days. They are a dandy pair.

THE ex-congressman who, the other day, called John S. Wise, of Virginia, a liar, will not do so again in a hurry—at least not until he gets his front teeth repaired. Wise hit him as he hits the Bourbons—straight from the shoulder and with no gloves on.

THE "Southern negroes do not take any interest in politics," our Democratic friends assure us. Well, maybe they don't; but, if so, it is for the same reason that Truthful James' friends succumbed, when "the subsekwent proceedings interested him no more."

COL. M. S. QUAY was mustered out of the U. S. service just before the battle of Fredericksburg, but still insisted upon taking part in the charge of the "forlorn hope attacking party," preferring as he said, "to die and be called a fool than to live and be called a coward."

"It's better, don't you understand, to be the power behind the throne than on the throne yourself," was the argument Jake Kepler used to convince a gentleman that he ought to vote for his (Kepler's) man for Associate Judge. But the gentleman has concluded to vote for the man whom Jake Kepler can't make a nose at running.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has been elected an honorary member of the Veteran Association of the 21st Regiment of New York. Hereafter any man who says Mr. Cleveland has no military record will be declared a fabricator. We violate no confidence in stating that the action of the Veteran Association was designed as a tribute of respect to the memory of Mr. Cleveland's substitute in the war for the Union.

CONRAD B. DAY, the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, was such a bitter copperhead during the war that he quarreled openly with many of his relatives in Philadelphia. In the light of the facts Chairman Hensel ought to pass the word among his Democratic organs to discontinue their falsehoods about the military record of Colonel Quay, who won a colonelcy in the Union army.—Delaware County American.

GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE's son loaned his father's saddle and bridle to Fitz Hugh Lee, Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia, and bade him proceed with his campaign, and it is said that the appearance of these relics of the war and the popular leader of the rebel army, "aroused the Confederate patriotism of every true Virginian." And yet Democrats North discriy the waving of the 'Bloody Shirt.'—Brookville Republican.

THE Harrisburg Independent takes occasion to observe that Mr. Day seems to be following Mr. Quay very closely in his peregrinations through Pennsylvania. Not very. Mr. Day caught up with Mr. Quay in the anthracite coal region, but since then Mr Quay has "done" Western Pennsylvania pretty thoroughly and come to Philadelphia, leaving Mr. Day to go over the same ground. The appearances are, however, that Mr. Day is about as near Mr. Quay as the Democratic candidate is destined to get in the present interesting political race.

THE Democratic papers in New York are disposed to make merry over the refusal of the Mugwumps to support Hill, but it is noticeable that they are profoundly silent over the repudiation of the Democratic state ticket by the New York Staats Zeitung, the leading German paper in that city. The bolt of a large number of German voters to Davenport, which is predicted by one of the editors of the Staats Zeitung in an interview published in the Albany Journal, is a serious blow to the Democrats, and, when added to their other embarrassments, makes the Democratic outlook gloomy indeed. Yes, the failure of the Democratic press to grow wirthful over the loss of their German contingent in New York is easily explained.

AN interview with Wm. R. Morrison, published this morning, may be accepted as assuring beyond doubt a tariff fight in the House this winter. There is some comfort in the fact that even Morrison has no confidence in the success of the movement, but as the agitation is always detrimental to business, we must continue to suffer the inevitable consequences of putting wrong-headed theorists in places they are not fitted to occupy. If the people who elected Morrison and the other cranks of his order, understood what their election meant, it is to be assumed they sought the consequences. Let us hope that Mr. Morrison's estimate of the relative strength of the protectionists and free traders is correct and that the cranks will fail again as they did in the last session.—Harrisburg Telegraph

THE New York Staats Zeitung has been diagnosing the condition of the Democratic party in that State since Hill's nomination, and says: "The ticket suffers from a malady in the head, and it cannot be cured by doctoring the body." Just so. And it is not in New York alone that this malady afflicts the Democratic party. The trouble had its beginning in the attempt of the party to pose as reformative, when it really purposed to travel for spoils. It would have been more comfortable had Heudricks been its candidate for President, for then it would not have had a head that wanted to travel one way, while it was bent on taking the other. The party will come to grief undoubtedly, but that will be its normal condition; while the only thing to cry over is the temporary check its accidental victory last year gives to national progress.
