—Preaching in the M. E. Church next Sunday evening by F. M. Small.
—Presbyterian Sabbath School at 9:45 a. m.; M. E. Sabbath School at 10 a. m.

—Preaching in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning and evening, by Rev. Hickling.

—Yesterday was a very sloppy day for election.

—S. S. Canfield lost his best team horse on Monday morning.

—One first-class, large work ox for sale. Enquire at this office. 2t.

—Mr. Frank Dickinson has been appointed postmaster at Brookston, this county.

—Go to Wm. Smearbaugh & Co. for Flannels, Woolen Yarn, Hats and Caps, and Underwear. 2t.

—Husking bees are not as numerous in these parts as they were in days ago. It is a rare thing to hear of one now-a-days.

—Dr. Coburn has moved his office and store into the building recently occupied by Mr. A. Hayden, opposite the Lawrence House.

—Mr. W. W. Hulings of Louisville, Ky., shook hands with many of his old Tionesta friends while on a short visit here Saturday.

—Joe Landers expects to reopen his roller rink to the public next Saturday night. He has overhauled it some, and laid in a new supply of skates.

—Wonder where Keplers' influence was when J. B. Watson was appointed postmaster at Marienville? That last attack must have fixed Watson solid.

—Mr. A. Hayden has broken up housekeeping in this place and is now prospecting in the new Clarion county oil field. We wish Al. abundant success in his new pastures.

—The President has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, designating Thursday, Nov. 26 as the day. The document is the lengthiest one issued on that subject for many years.

—Mr. M. Carpenter having, on account of failing health, disposed of his photo gallery in this place, there is a good opening for some good artist. Who will be the lucky man to come?

—The dwelling house of Christopher Holdreid, near Tyersburg, Clarion county, was destroyed by fire on Sunday last. About half the household goods were consumed. We are without an estimate of the loss.

—Mrs. H. A. Adams and family depart with their household goods to day for Marion, Ohio, where they will join Mr. A., and make that their future abode. They leave with the best wishes of their Tionesta friends.

—Some unusually large pumpkins have been raised by our farmers this year. Mr. Henry Kiser has our thanks for a fine fifty-pounder from his farm, which we expect will "pie" the editors' table pretty much all winter.

—Hallow E'en last Saturday night was observed to some extent by the "kids" of the town, but no great damage was done. A few signs, wagons and buggies displaced constituted about all the mischief the boys felt warranted in doing.

—Alex Thompson of the north ward, has succeeded in trapping two very large otters on the islands in the river above this place. As the furs of these sleek animals command from $5.00 to $8.00 in market, Alex has done pretty well with his little work "between times."

—Last Friday, Oct. 30, gave us the first real snow storm of the season, but the flakes dissolved almost before striking the ground. Yesterday morning, however, the walks, house-tops and hills around us were comfortably clothed in a mantle of white, much of which remained a good part of the day.

—Will Hulings, formerly of this place, was married to Miss Martha Reff at St. George, W. Va., on the 23d ult., as will be seen by reference to the proper notice elsewhere. Will remembered the printers by a quantity of the choice wedding cake, gotten up for the occasion. That the future lives of "Beesom" and his fair bride may be as sweet as the cake that we devoured, is our best wish.

—We acknowledge with pleasure a friendly call from our genial friend Mr. Lewis J. Kirk and his excellent lady of Kirks' Mills, Lancaster county, on Friday of last week. Mr. K. is obliged to call this way occasionally to look after his land interests, and always meets with a warm welcome at the hands of his many friends.

—Esquire Brennan has had printed at this office a large supply of bounty blanks to fit the new law relative to bounties paid on wild cats, foxes, minke, weasels, hawks and owls, which he will furnish to justices of the peace at reasonable prices. He will also keep a good supply of other blanks most used by justices. When in need send to him.

—John DuBois, of DuBois, wants to dam the Allegheny with his patent movable dam, and says he can make the river navigable the year round for a total cost not exceeding the amount expended on Davis Island Dam. He will erect the dam and not charge the government a cent unless they prove a success. We say, give Mr. DuBois a chance.—Emlenton News.

—The governors of the various states are about to engage in their annual thanksgiving proclamation prize contest, the gentleman producing the prettiest and sweetest document to receive one fat turkey and three six-inch mince pies. The conditions of the contest are that no original poetry shall be embodied in any proclamation, and any document which quotes directly or indirectly from the crop reports shall be ruled out of the contest.

—The Authors' Review is one of the neatest publications in the educational line that has ever been gotten out in Pittsburgh. Among other improvements it comes before its readers with a view title page, which is a correct index to the contents, being neat, tasteful and appropriate. The Review will be continued hereafter in twenty page-form, and if this number is to be taken as a criterion, will always be found full of interesting matter and literary merit.—Pittsburgh Times.

—Mr. T. D. Collins, of Nebraska, Pa., one of Forest county's extensive lumbermen has in contemplation the sale of his pine timber situated mostly on what is known as Little Coon creek. Parties from DuBois, Clearfield county are negotiating for the tract, and if the transfer should be successful, we learn it is their intention to build a tram railroad to this place, provided the use of the river bridge can be obtained for laying a track upon. They will build a saw mill at the mouth of the creek, it is understood. The consideration for the pine is to be $235,000.

—Hon. Kennedy L. Blood and his son James C. Blood passed through here the first of this week with the nucleus of what will be a fine herd of Holstein cattle for their dairy farm near Brookville. They had six two year old heifers, all milking and two six months old calves, a heifer and a bull—The two latter cost $250 each, and the cows an average of $200 each. Cyrus Hunt of Marienville bought two cows and a calf at the same time. These cattle were purchased from the Huidkoper herd at Meadville and were imported from Holland. They are registered in the Holstein herd book of that county and have their registered numbers cut on their horns. The Holsteins are fine, large cattle and are great milkers.—Clarion Democrat.

—That no child in this Commonwealth should have an excuse for remaining away from the public schools, the Legislature on the 5th of last June passed an act authorizing School Directors and Controllers to purchase text books for use in the public schools of their respective school districts, out of the school funds of said districts; and when necessary such books shall be supplied free of cost to each pupil in the district. The books must, of course, be returned to the Directors at the close of the annual school term, or whenever the board demands them.—Venango Citizen. We notice a few boys in this place who are not as regular in their attendance at school as they should be, but it is not on account of a lack of books or money to buy them, and it would be well for parents to satisfy themselves that their children are regular in their attendance. There is no excuse for a parent being in ignorance on this subject; all that is necessary is to consult the teacher who keeps an accurate roll. We think the most sensible law that our legislators could enact at the present day would be one to compel regular attendance at school. It will come to that some day.

Counterfeiters Sentenced.

The counterfeiters all received their sentences in the U. S. Court at Pittsburgh last Wednesday. Boston Buck was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary to hard labor; Edward Harmon was sentenced to four years; James B. Farr was sentenced to three years; Lewis P. Whitmore was sentenced to two years; Samuel Secrist was sentenced to two years and six months; Andrew Grover was sentenced to two years, and George Buck to one year's imprisonment. Willie Secrist, the boy, for whom mercy was asked, was allowed to go with sentence suspended for the present.

The prisoners were all perfectly cool and collected, and as Boston Buck seated himself he turned and chatted pleasantly with his counsel, Edward Duffy, Esq. The only exception among the prisoners who showed himself particularly interested was Ed. Harmon. He eyed the Judge with a steady scowl. Attorney Moore, when asked by the Court if he had anything to say in behalf of the prisoner, said that the fairness of the trial left no room for him to say a word. "The age of Boston Buck makes it almost a sentence till death," he continued, "and I have no doubt you have considered it. The mercy which has been recommended will no doubt be borne in mind." Attorney Duffy added that he was satisfied to leave the matter in the hands of the Court, as he had done and said all that he could.

Said old man Buck, after his sentence, to a reporter: "Let them go ahead, there will be a sentence hereafter that won't be interfered with by any earthly court; I'm an innocent man." George Buck wept as he passed down the stairway to the corridor below. "I don't care for myself," said he, "but I would be willing to serve my poor old father's time as well as my own if they would let him go. I go to the penitentiary as innocent as a wee lamb," and he walked away choked up and with tears in his eyes.

Howe and Jenks News.

One can not get at details in the news line unless he has time to tarry and investigate, or unless rare opportunities present themselves, which, as is self evident, must be rarely indeed. Yet no one can travel even hurriedly through a stretch of country without detecting signs that denote something, or can hear people talk without getting ideas that reflect the ideas of these same talkers, for people generally talk of what interests them, and of what they are most concerned in.

So our tramp, while pursuing the even tenor of his way, could not but be impressed not only by the length of a mile when tramped over on railroad ties, but as well of the busy bustling stations one finds here and there along the T. V. R. R. and the P. & W. R. R., and of the interest in education manifested at these places.

At Frosts we find steady improvement. T. C. McGregor is away on business at some point below Pittsburgh.

Near Frosts and Byroms, down on Wolfe Run, great expectations are centered. Some fellow, more facetious than prophetic no doubt, has remarked that these expectations are "well grounded."

A new store room is going up at Byroms. Business seems good here. The E. A. U. have bought out the skating rink and use it as a lodge room.

Miss Lizzie Frost is attending school at Carrier Seminary.

Mr. Haddin has built a fine residence at Sheffield, but will not leave here for some time yet; at least we hope not.

The new school house at Gaul's is a fine building.

Rufus Dodge's new house makes his farm look 50 per cent. better.

At Brookston business is brisk. The new buildings belonging to the tannery and the new residences built in the last year make Brookston look confident of a future more or less extended.

Last Thursday Mac. Dotson had his knee severely jammed while working on a logging job down below Marienville.

The trains on the P. & W. R. R.

now stop at the Junction for dinner instead of at Marienville as formerly.

Dr. Towler's drug-store presents a neat, clean, attractive appearance. The drugs on the shelves look fresh and good enough to take—over a prescription of course.

The excitement in the lower oil country has caused quite a demand for lumber from points along the P. & W. R. R. in our county.

Against the middle of the month all the schools in Howe will be open. All in Jenks are now open.

Rev. Samuel Beers supplies Watson's Gilfoyle, and one or two other places, names not known to us, with preaching. These appointments are new ones and represent places not so favored heretofore with regular services.

C. C. Smith of Brookston and his son Sandy have been for the past summer and fall supplying residents of Howe and Jenks with good vegetables, fruit, and meat.

We are tired.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The following proclamation was issued by the president of the United States of America on Monday:

A Proclamation: The American people have always abundant cause to be thankful to Almighty God, whose watchful care and guiding hand have been manifested in every stage of their national life, guarding and protecting them in time of peril and safely leading them in the hour of danger and darkness. It is fitting and proper that a nation thus favored should on one day in every year for that purpose especially appointed, publicly acknowledge the goodness of God and return thanks to Him for all His gracious gifts. Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 26th day of November, instant, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, and do invoke the observance of the same by all the people of the land. On that day let all secular business be suspended and let the people assemble in their usual place of worship and with prayer and songs of praise devoutly testify their gratitude to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for all that He has done for us in the year that has passed; for our preservation as a united nation and for our deliverance from the shock and danger of political convulsion; for the blessings of peace and for our safety and quiet while wars and rumors of wars have agitated and afflicted other nations of the earth; for our security against the scourge of pestilence, which in other lands has claimed its dead by thousands and filled the streets with mourners; for plenteous crops which reward the labor of the husbandman and increase our nation's wealth, and for the contentment throughout our borders which follows in the train of prosperity and abundance, and let there also be on the day thus set apart, a reunion of families sanctified and chastened by tender memories and associations, and let the social intercourse of friends with pleasant reminiscence renew the ties of affection and strengthen the bonds of kindly feelings, and let us by no means forget, while we give thanks and enjoy the comforts which have crowned our lives, that truly grateful hearts are inclined to deeds of charity, and that a kind and thoughtful remembrance of the poor will double the pleasures of our condition and render our praise and thanksgiving more acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

Done at the city of Washington this second day of November, one thousand, eight hundred and eighty-five, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and tenth.
